Galion Man Killed In Mishap Near City

DRIVER DIES ON BIRTHDAY AS CAR HITS TREE

Theodore H. Boyd, 36, Official At Iron Works, Killed on Way Home From Mansfield.

PINNED IN WRECKAGE

Patrolmen Work Two Hours To Remove Body From Auto Twisted Around Tree.

Richland county marked up its seventh traffic death of the year early today when Theodore H. Boyd, assistant southern sales manager of the Galion Iron works and member of a prominent Galion family, was killed instantly as his car crashed into a tree along route 30-S two miles east of Galion. He would have observed his 36th birthday today.

Boyd, who was riding alone in a heavy coach, suffered a skull fracture. The automobile hit the tree with such force that the frame was bent in a semicircle.

State highway patrolmen said the car went off the highway on the right side and into a ditch before it crashed into the tree. Although there was ice on the road at the accident scene, patrolmen said there were no skid marks.

The accident occurred about 5 a. m. and officers worked for nearly two hours to remove the body which was pinned in the wreckage. A Greyhound bus driver, whose identity was not established immediately, found the body a few minutes after the accident and notified Galion police who called the state highway patrol in Mansfield.

Patrolmen said Boyd had taken his wife and some friends home following a party and apparently had returned to Mansfield. He was enroute

STILL CRITICAL

Condition of Rickenbacker, 2 Others Called Serious.

ATLANTA, Ga. —(INS)— Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker and two others, injured in an Eastern Airlines luxury liner crash which killed seven Thursday, remained in serious or critical condition today. A blood transfusion was administered early today in an attempt to save Attorney C. M Tappen of Long Island, N. Y.

Rickenbacker, America's greatest World war flying ace and president of the airline, was in serious condition and suffered acutely during coughing spells because of broken ribs. Physicians at Piedmont hospital, however, said the flyer was resting "as well as can be expected."

Attending physicians denied a report that Capt. Rickenbacker might lose the sight of one eye as a result of facial lacerations suffered in the crash. They said that a cut extended part way across the left eye lid, but that the eyeball was not injured at all.

FIRST IN U. S.

Giant Blast Furnace Blown In Today At Lorain.

LORAIN —(AP)— The National Tube Co. is blowing in today a 1,120 net ton blast furnace which its builders said has the first completely electrically welded stack in the United States.

One of similar construction being built for another U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiary is expected to be blown in about April 1. The blast furnace cost $1,500,000.

BURNS FATAL

Nephew of Msgr. Goebel Dies of Accident Injuries.

Louis Goebel, 17, truck driver of Bryan, O., was dead today of burns received Thursday when his gasoline-saturated clothing caught fire as he attempted to get a motor started for a friend near Fitchville.

Young Goebel was a nephew of Msgr. F. C. Goebel of Mansfield.

Wreckage of Auto In Which Galion Man Met Instant Death

Wreckage of the heavy automobile in which Theodore H Boyd, 36, assistant sales manager of the Galion Iron works, died early today is shown in the above photo. Boyd, who was 36 years old today, died instantly of a skull fracture when the automobile left route 30S two miles east of Galion and crashed into a tree. The front end of the car struck a telephone pole after the left side of the automobile crashed into the tree. Authorities said Boyd apparently went to sleep. His body was still in the automobile when this photograph was taken.

FLAMES DAMAGE 'Y' AT BUCYRUS

$30,000 Loss Reported as Fire Sweeps Building For Third Time.

BUCYRUS — Fire, believed by Fire Chief William F. Mader to have been caused by a defective chimney, swept through the Y. M. C. A. building here last night, causing an estimated $30,000 damage. It was the third major fire here in five weeks.

The blaze, discovered about 10:30 p. m. yesterday, originated in the upper floor of the three-story brick building. The lower floors were gutted by the flames and an adjacent building was damaged by smoke and water.

It was the third time in 20 years that the building had been damaged by fire. The building, a remodeled residence, built in 1880 was severely damaged about six years ago and in 1920 the interior was gutted by flames.

The smoldering blaze was fought by firemen for more than three hours before they were able

BLAST INJURES SIX FIREMEN

Battalion Chief Among Those Hurt In Explosion.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Six firemen, including a battalion chief, today were recovering from injuries received in an explosion which followed a blaze in a four-story east side apartment building.

The explosion occurred while Chief William A. Finn, one of the injured, was directing the fight against the flames which started near gas meters in the basement. Damage was held to $1,000, according to firemen's estimates.

Hillman Seeks to End Chalmers Plant Strike

Federal Government Steps In With Efforts to Check Labor Strife At Milwaukee and Detroit.

(By Associated Press)

Encouraged by settlement of the Bethlehem strike at Lackawanna, N. Y., the Office of Production Management at Washington directed its attention today to a labor dispute which has tied up production of Allis-Chalmers' Milwaukee plant for more than six weeks.

Sidney Hillman, associate director of OPM, resumed conferences yesterday with officials of the CIO-United Automobile Workers whose demands at the Allis-Chalmers factory center on union security. The plant normally employs about 9,000 workers and has $45,000,000 in defense orders of various types.

In an effort to avert threatened walkouts which would tie up an even greater amount of armament production, a federal conciliator was dispatched to Detroit where the CIO-UAW has served notice of intention to strike at three plants of the Ford Motor company, the Rouge, Highland Park, and Lincoln units.

The three factories employing 95,000 persons are working on $148,500,000 worth of defense equipment.

The Ford company has denied the union's charges of discrimination against union members. Under Michigan law, the governor could order a 30-day cooling off period before any walkout could become effective.

Meanwhile William S. Knudsen, OPM director, sent a memorandum to Chairman Sumners

BATTLE BLAZE

Firemen Fight Flames In Huge New Orleans Laboratory.

NEW ORLEANS —(INS)— Fire fighting companies from all sections of New Orleans were called out today to battle a fire that broke out in the upper stories of the administrative unit of the new $2,000,000 southern regional research laboratory of the United States department of agriculture.

The laboratory is not yet finally completed and the administrative building, which is one of four main units, was not yet occupied.

The laboratory is located in the lake region of New Orleans and fire fighters battled a strong wind blowing in from Lake Ponchartrain.

Mansfield Boys Play Hookey, Train Gives Them Chilly Ride

Two Mansfield school boys, 12 and 13 years old, were back home today after a chilly ride to Tiffin on a Pennsylvania freight train.

Returned to Mansfield yesterday by Ralph Carroll, county juvenile officer, the boys told their story to Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer who lectured them and sent them home, deciding they had had enough punishment.

The boys said they "played hookey" from school Thursday to "make an inspection trip through the Westinghouse plant."

At the Orange street crossing they found their way blocked by a long westbound freight train. They told Judge Cramer that they waited a little while and when the train didn't move they started to climb through between the cars. The train started to move before they could get off, however, and they were afraid to jump. They couldn't get off until the train reached Tiffin, they related.

"We might have lost a leg or arm if we fell under the cars," one of the frightened boys said. Judge Cramer agreed with them.

Tiffin police notified authorities here that the two youths had been located. One boy attends Bowman school and the other is a pupil in Bushnell school.

MILL DESTROYED

Building Owned by Hanley Company Burns.

An abandoned West LaFayette flour mill, owned by the Hanley Milling company of Mansfield, was destroyed by fire this morning in a blaze which destroyed another grist mill and two residences, creating damage estimated at $20,000.

The value of the mill was estimated at about $4,000 by J. O. Hanley, vice president of the company. The mill was not insured, Hanley stated.

The Hanley Milling company moved to Mansfield in 1927, abandoning at that time the West LaFayette mill.

FORMER CHIEF FINED

LOS ANGELES —(UP)— Phillip Kennedy, 43, former Tiffin, O., chief of police, pleaded guilty late yesterday to a charge of driving while intoxicated. Judge R. Morgan Galbreth fined him $50.

BLAST SCARES MANSFIELDERS

Hundreds Contact Police to Find Out About Explosion At Slag Pile.

Hundreds of Mansfielders were aroused from their sleep at about 6 a. m. today by an explosion of such terrific force that homes and buildings were shaken.

Fears of a major catastrophe were quickly dispelled by police, however, when alarmed residents phoned headquarters to find that a pile of slag had exploded at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company.

Officers said the blast occurred about 6 a. m. when workmen hauled some hot slag to a dump adjacent to the plant.

No one was injured, company officials said, explaining that the six-ton lump of slag exploded when it rolled into a pool of water.

Italian King Proclaims 3-Day Observance For Alfonso.

ROME — (AP) — King Vittorio Emanuele ordered three days' mourning in the Italian court for Alfonso XIII of Spain today, while Queen Elena knelt in prayers beside the late monarch's body at the Grand hotel.

She talked consolingly with former Queen Victoria of Spain in a half hour visit to the room where Alfonso lay in state.

The former queen kept vigil last night beside the white-robed body while a dozen priests said masses at half-hourly periods until dawn.

HITLER WOULD GET BRITISH FLEET, CHARGE

Senator Declares British Navy Would Go to Germans Despite Pledge.

AID DEBATE CONTINUES

Senate Hears Warning Japan Will Carve Orient If Britain Loses.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The British fleet will fall to Hitler if he conquers England, despite the good faith pledge of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, and the United States will then be dangerously menaced, Sen. Lucas (D.,Ill.) declared today in an appeal for swift action on the lease-lend bill.

"If England comes to an end, Churchill will die in some last desperate stroke, going down and taking with him as many enemies as he can," said Lucas, in a speech prepared for senate debate.

"And then will come the quisling of England, and the fleet will be in Hitler's hands, and he, with the shipyards of Europe and Asia at his command, can outbuild us six to one in merchant ships and almost that in naval vessels."

Despite Lucas' appeal for speed, however, the senate faced another week's debate before a final vote will be reached, with the possibility that the battle may extend even longer.

As March 1—the scheduled date for senate passage of the bill came—Sen. Barkley, Kentucky, Democratic leader, forecast a vote by next Saturday.

But, Sen. Wheeler, (D., Mont.) opposition leader, said "unless they accept some amendments without a fight, I don't see how they can expect a final vote next week.

Sen. Nye, (R., N.D.) revealed that he is receiving 100 to 200 telegrams a day urging that the opposition filibuster the bill to death.

"These telegrams reveal a growing intensity of public feeling against this bill and it might be reflected in the senate in a few days," said Nye. "The bill will

LOSS HIGH

Damage In Dayton Fire Set at $100,000; Two Injured.

DAYTON — (INS) — A three-alarm fire today gutted a five-story brick building in the downtown Dayton business district. Loss was estimated by Fire Chief Joseph Kirby at $100,000.

Firemen brought the blaze under control after several hours with the walls of the building still standing. The building was occupied by the Hadeler Hardware company and the Mayne Produce company.

Kirby said the fire spread from the first floor of the structure through an air shaft. Its cause was not immediately determined. Two firemen, injured slightly while fighting the blaze, were treated at a hospital and sent home.

FOUND IN ICE

TOLEDO —(AP)— The body of Troyce A. Helvie, 35, a seaman, was found on the ice of Maumee river, beneath the New York Central raidroad bridge today. It is believed he either was struck by a train or fell while stepping to the outside of the bridge to let a train pass.

48 Richland County Men In Quota for Eighth Draft Call

Richland county was asked today to provide 48 more men for military training on or after March 21 in the eighth draft call issued by state selective service headquarters.

County selective service Board 1 was called on to send 18 men, Board 2, 14, and Board 3, 16. Clerks pointed out that the quotas were only tentative and may be changed before the call date.

The call will make a total of 146 selectees due to leave Mansfield and Richland county this month. Thirty-five will go to camp next week, 63 the following week, and then 48 about the final week of the month.

The state-wide call issued today was for 4,612 men, including 4,152 white selectees and 460 colored men. The Ohioans probably will be sent to all parts of the nation to fill up ranks of existing forces in other corps areas. A number will go to Washington and Oregon.

Clerks of the three Richland county boards said today that 23 of 40 men who were examined yesterday at the Mansfield Armory measured up to physical requirements. They will be given a second physical check-up at the Ft. Hayes induction center in Columbus after leaving Mansfield.

Action Brings 'Front' Near Dardanelles

Imminent Outbreak of Balkan Fight Seen; Britain Expected to Break Relations With Bulgaria; Jugoslavia Watched.

(By United Press)

Adolf Hitler planted the Axis war banner within 100 miles of the strategic Dardanelles today by bringing Bulgaria into the tri-power alliance of Germany, Italy and Japan.

The ink of Bulgaria's signature was hardly dry when Nazi warplanes appeared over Sofia and droned back and forth over the Bulgarian capital.

Great Britain was expected to sever relations with Bulgaria at any moment and opening of a major Balkan war front at Salonika and possibly Thrace became an imminent possibility.

Bulgaria's adherence to the Axis was proclaimed at Vienna in a typical Axis ceremony at old Belvedere palace in the presence of Adolf Hitler, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, and Gen. Hiroshi Oshima, Japanese ambassador to Berlin.

Signing for Bulgaria was Premier Bogdan Filoff who said that Bulgaria hoped to keep the peace and particularly desired to continue and extend her traditional friendship with Russia.

Ribbentrop jubilantly asserted that Bulgaria would not be the last country to join the Axis and that "more and more" nations would sign up as partners in the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo triangle.

This spotlighted the position of Jugoslavia, sole Balkan nation remaining outside the war lineup.

Jugoslavia seemed to be playing for time. Amid all the excitement her foreign minister, Alexander Cincar-Markovitch, peacefully spent the day sight-seeing in Budapest where he had gone to renew friendship ties between Jugoslavia and Hungary.

There seemed to be a chance that Britain has not yet lost hope of steering Jugoslavia out of the Axis orbit.

Although it generally was blanketed by the Axis drum-beating over Bulgaria, the British were quietly pleased and confident as a result of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's discussions with Turkey.

It was believed in London that Britain had created in Ankara a firm line of resistance which may halt the Axis drive in Thrace, the strategic province of Turkey-in-Europe which protects the Dardanelles. Turkey is not expected to move out of her strong fortifications but may co-operate if the British

SEES TURKS ON BRITAIN'S SIDE

Ankara Spokesman Envisages Nation In War If Nazis Threaten Security.

(By International News Service)

ANKARA —(INS)— Turkey may be forced to fight "side by side" with Britain if German action in Bulgaria brings war to the Balkans and threatens Turkish security, an authoritative Turkish spokesman declared today.

This statement followed departure of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Gen. Sir John Dill, imperial chief of staff, for Cairo after mapping joint political, diplomatic and military plans with Turkish leaders at Ankara.

A communique, issued after Eden conferred with Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Moscow who rushed to Ankara to see his chief, said British and Turkish officials reached "complete agreement on all matters of mutual interest." It added the Balkan crisis was the subject of "special attention" of the Anglo-Turkish conferees.

The Ankara spokesman said Britain and Turkey must "envisage the possibility of being compelled to fight side by side" should a Nazi invasion of Bulgaria menace Turkey's security zone. He warned that any aggression against this zone "cannot be tolerated."

GIRL, 5, KILLED

Trainman Saves, Mother, Two Other Children at Shreve.

SHREVE — Five-year-old Irene Roberts who fell under the wheels of a Pennsylvania train yesterday despite the rescue efforts of a trainman, died last night in a Wooster hospital after one leg and a foot were amputated.

The little girl was injured while she was crossing the tracks beside her mother, Mrs. Elmer Roberts, who was pushing two other children in a baby buggy.

Seeing their danger, a trainman pulled the mother and two smaller children to safety, but Irene eluded his grasp and fell back under the locomotive. The mother said she did not see the approaching train as she started across the tracks.

The girl's leg, badly crushed, was amputated at the hip. The other foot was taken off at the ankle.

EMPIRE SHOWS 21 PER CENT INCREASE IN STEEL SALES

With plant operations for 1940 averaging near capacity, the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company last year booked sales amounting to $6,025,698, a 21 per cent increase over the preceding year, according to the annual report released today.

The report showed earnings for 1940 amounting to $420,199 with a net profit of $41,951 as compared to $39,141 in 1939.

A letter to shareholders, signed by James M. Hill, president of the company, stated that interest charges and depreciation as well as selling and administrative expense, in face of increased sales, remained comparable to 1939.

His letter said taxes increased last year to a total of $102,949 as compared to $94,733 in 1939, representing an increase from $1.20 per share in 1939 to $1.31 per share.

Plant equipment and modernization resulted in the expenditure of $301,759 during the year. Expansion is to continue this year, officials said today, with $153,800 already contracted for installation of new electrical mechanized sheet producing units.

Aside from the reserve for depreciation of $195,510, there was a total expenditure of $346,562 for repairs, maintenance and furnace reconstruction and maintenance of plant properties during the year.

After deducting a $689,731 deficit from the surplus of $1,881,279, the company at the close of business last year had a net surplus of $1,291,548.

BULGARIA JOINS AXIS POWERS IN FULL CEREMONY

Action Brings Balkan 'Front' Near Dardanelles; RAF Bombs Nazi Port.

send a major expeditionary force to adjacent Salonika.

But Britain's achievements at Ankara were guarded with as much secrecy as Germany's ceremony at Vienna was flooded with publicity.

The key to what went on both in Vienna and Ankara was believed by many to lie in Moscow. What Russia's attitude is toward these events which affect many of her vital interests is not known but was believed to have been outlined at Ankara by Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Moscow. The indication was that Russia is not displeased at the Anglo-Turkish measures to halt the Axis march short of the Dardanelles.

Reports circulated both in Sofia and Belgrade that German troops now have moved openly into Bulgaria. Both capitals said that unverified reports had been received of the arrival of substantial numbers of troops at Varna, Bulgaria's important Black sea port just south of Rumania.

Bulgaria also was said to have ordered general mobilization measures and the strictest sort of police control was in effect at Sofia with a number of British sympathizers and employes of British enterprises arrested.

The Bulgarian precautionary measures were said to have been adopted in fear that the British will carry out their threat to bomb military objectives in Bulgaria when German troops come in.

It was presumed that such action by the Royal Air Force would not be taken before British Minister George Rendel leaves Sofia.

Rendel's departure probably would be followed by British bombing of the Rumanian oilfields, a military objective of prime importance.

Ostentatious German troop movements were reported from Rumania and it was thought that the open movement of large numbers of Nazi forces into Bulgaria was only a matter of hours.

Rome believed that Bulgaria would break off relations with Greece, probably as a preliminary to pressing her revisionist demand for an outlet on the Aegean sea.

Far eastern tension was lessened slightly by French action in sending a conciliatory reply to Tokyo on Japan's imperative demand for acceptance of a settlement of Thailand-Indo Chinese quarrels which would give the Siamese a healthy slice of the French colony.

French officials in Saigon insisted that the Vichy government had rejected the Japanese settlement proposal but word from Vichy and Tokyo indicated the French were yielding.

The British smashed again at Wilhelmshaven, big German naval base, starting heavy fires with their 44th attack on that objective. They also bombed Boulogne and admitted loss of a destroyer bringing the war total to 36. On the Albanian front the shooting down of 30 Italian warplanes without loss of any British planes was reported.

The German high command claimed new heavy successes against British shipping, reporting the February total of sinkings at 740,000 tons. Of this total the navy was said to account for 550,000 tons and the air force for 190,000 tons.

The Rome communique claimed that Italian sailors, supported by planes, had "recaptured" the Dodecanese Island of Castelrosso, off Turkey. The British landed there Tuesday and withdrew yesterday, presumably after destroying a Fascist seaplane base.

British Leave Area Of New Axis Member

SOFIA — (INS) — Virtually every British resident of Bulgaria except members of the legation staff left the country today as Premier Bogdan Filoff signed the growing Axis alliance in a ceremony at Vienna.

Mobilization of Bulgarian military classes continued, but officials emphasized this measure was a "form of defensive action."

Announcement that Bulgaria had entered the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo military alliance was received calmly in Sofia.

A government spokesman declared that Bulgaria's signing of the treaty will not change her friendly relations with any of her neighbors.

Authoritative Bulgarian circles said they anticipated that Yugoslavia also would sign the pact at an early date.

Bardera Falls to British Forces

CAIRO —(U.P.)— Bardera, most important point on the Juba river, Italian Somaliland, has been occupied by British forces, a middle east command communique said today.

Bardera is 175 airline miles north of the Indian ocean port of Margherita and 100 miles north of the Somaliland border with Ethiopia. It is an important ferry crossing and was the most important Italian military post in interior Jubaland.

RAF Kindles Fires In German Seaport

LONDON—(INS)—British bombers carried out fire-kindling attacks on the German port of Wilhelmshaven and other targets in northwestern Germany during the night and hammered the French coast "invasion port" of Boulogne, the air ministry announced today.

An official communique described the new RAF raids as heavy and said that the British airmen saw several fires spreading when they flew away from Wilhelmshaven after dropping their bombs.

Despite a high wind and bad visibility "some very large bombs" were dumped on Wilhelmshaven, the air ministry's statement said.

Still more planes attacked Emden and several airdromes in northwestern Germany and Holland.

South of the great German submarine base at Lorient on the coast of Brittany, the RAF attacked Quiberon. Several direct hits were scored.

One British plane is missing, it was said.

Another air ministry announcement said German night attacks on Britain were "slight" and ended before midnight. Bombs were dropped on points in the home counties and in East Anglia, killing a few persons, injuring others and damaging houses, it was stated.

London experienced two air raid alarms during the night. During the first, bombs fell on one London district, damaging a number of apartments and causing some casualties.

Another raider bombed a southeastern coastal area but caused no casualties or damage.

Bulgaria's Fourth To Join Axis

(By United Press)

Bulgaria today became the fourth European nation to join the Axis powers in 100 days of German "blitz diplomacy."

The schedule was:

Nov. 20, 1940 at Vienna: Hungary signed a protocol to the German-Italian-Japanese alliance to help "assure world peace under the new order."

Nov. 23 in Berlin: Rumania signed an identical protocol.

Nov. 24 in Berlin: Slovakia did the same.

Nazi quarters freely predicted at the time of those signatures that Bulgaria, and probably Jugoslavia, would sign. Secret, tense and hurried negotiations followed. Russian representatives in Germany and throughout the Balkans went into action. King Boris of Bulgaria went to see Adolf Hitler. Then, Germany announced that Bulgaria was not joining the Axis. It generally was understood that Russian pressure had prevented it.

Bulgaria's signature today indicated that Russian pressure had been overcome or was being defied.

The southeastern nations are only minor partners to the main Axis alliance, first signed at Berlin May 22, 1939, as a military alliance between Germany and Italy, pledging mutual support with land, air and sea forces, and later revised to include Japan in a three-power pact signed at Berlin Sept. 27, 1940.

Report Nazi Troops Entering Bulgaria

LONDON — (INS) — German troops crossed the Danube river from Rumania into Bulgaria at several points today, according to a Reuters (British) dispatch from Vichy.

The report quoted a Havas (French) news agency dispatch from Sofia.

The dispatch indicated the German forces began crossing the border into Bulgaria at about the time Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Filoff signed the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance at Vienna.

According to Reuters, German bombers flew ceaselessly over Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, while the Vienna conference was in progress.

Assert French Turn Down Jap Demands

SAIGON, French Indo-China — (U.P.) — French authorities told American consular officials today that France had rejected the latest demands by Japan for territorial concessions to Thailand.

FLAMES DAMAGE 'Y' AT BUCYRUS

$30,000 Loss Reported as Fire Sweeps Building For Third Time.

to bring it under control. The flames were confined to the upper floor until about midnight when they spread to the lower floors. For a time it was believed that the entire building would be destroyed.

Extinguished once, the fire broke out again about 9 a. m. today but it was quickly put out again by firemen.

The building is located adjacent to the fire department and hose lines were run to the roof of the fire station and played on the blaze from there as well as from the ground.

The blaze was the third major fire in Bucyrus in the past five weeks. Late in January the Kelley Vault company was swept by a $50,000 fire and two weeks ago the Graetz and Foulk drug store was razed at a $30,000 loss.

ORDERS TOTAL 25 MILLION

Contracts to Ohio Firms Hit Big Figure In 15 Days.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Ohio firms received a total of $25,188,199 in army and navy department contracts during the first 15 days of February, the office of government reports disclosed today.

The figure brought to $300,318,593 the total since last July 1.

An additional $84,000 was spent in Ohio on WPA defense projects during the Feb. 1-15 period, the report showed.

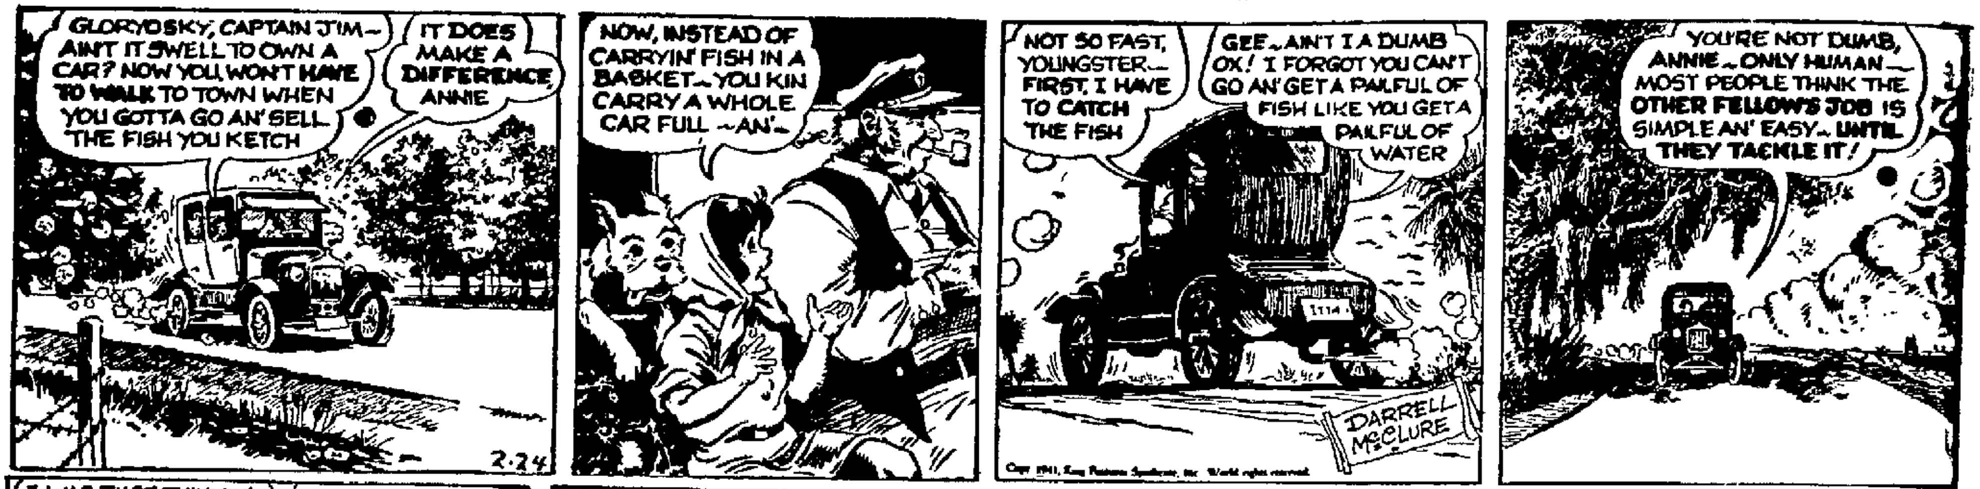
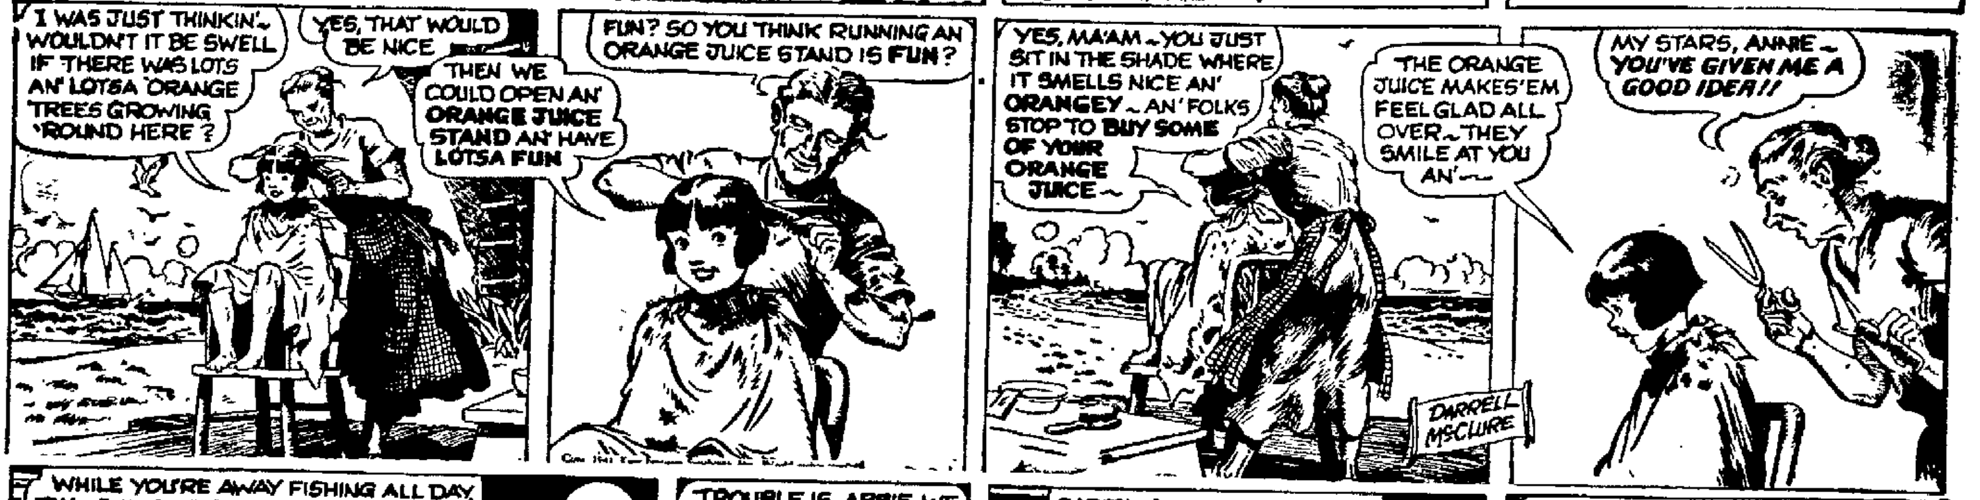
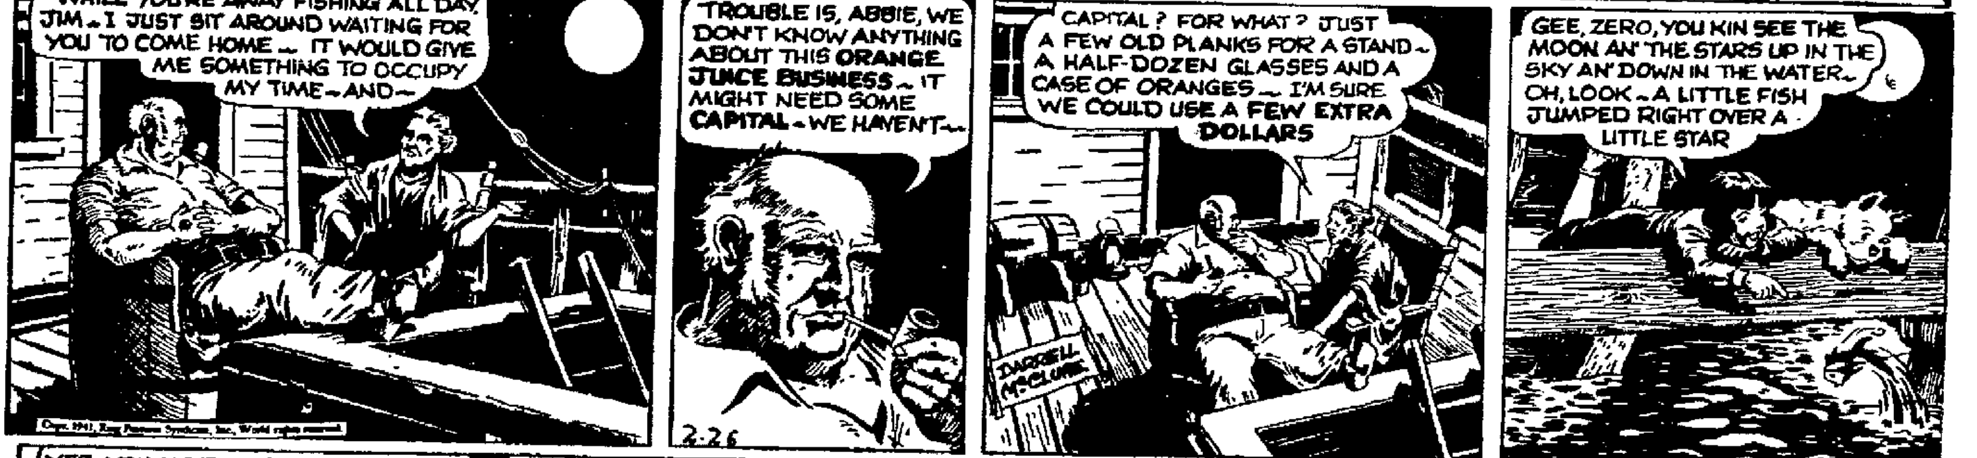
LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY



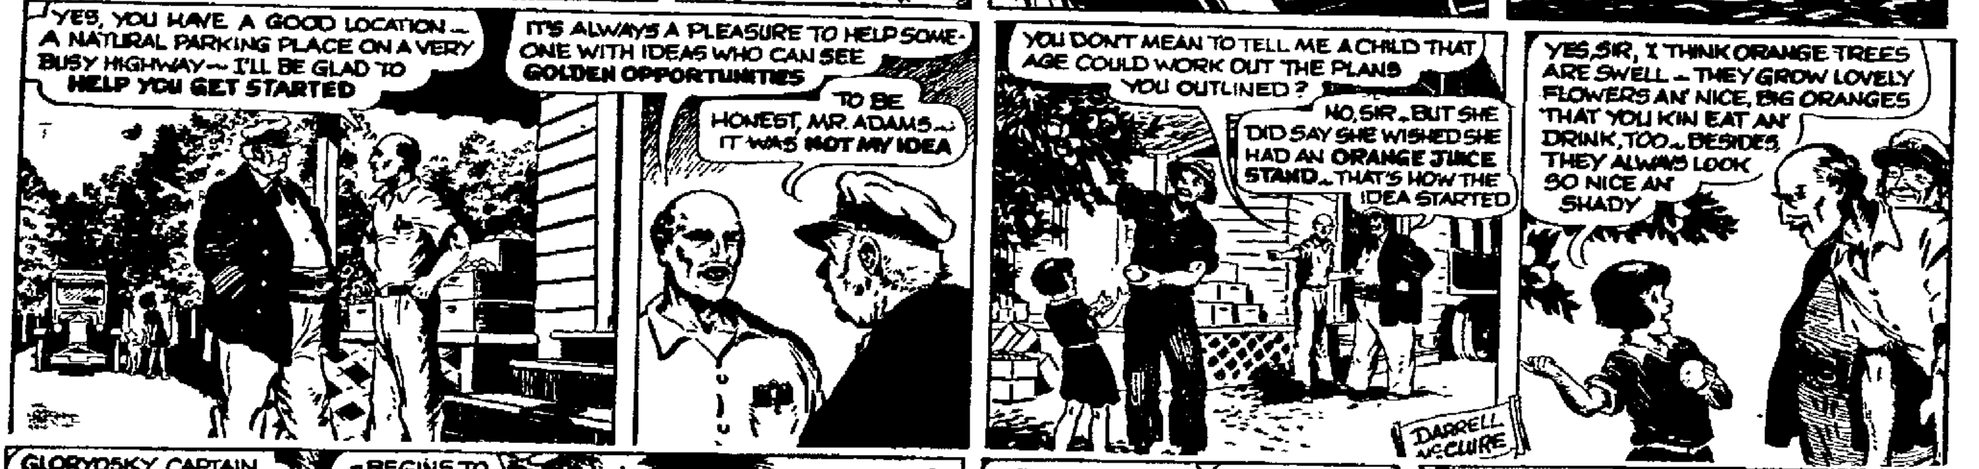
GLORYOSKY, CAPTAIN JIM – AIN'T IT SWELL TO OWN A CAR? NOW YOU WON'T HAVE TO WALK TO TOWN WHEN YOU GOTTA GO AN' SELL THE FISH YOU KETCH
IT DOES MAKE A DIFFERENCE ANNIE
2-24
NOW, INSTEAD OF CARRYIN' FISH IN A BASKET – YOU KIN CARRY A WHOLE CAR FULL – AN' –
NOT SO FAST, YOUNGSTER – FIRST, I HAVE TO CATCH THE FISH
GEE – AIN'T I A DUMB OX! I FORGOT YOU CAN'T GO AN' GET A PAILFUL OF FISH LIKE YOU GET A PAILFUL OF WATER
DARRELL McCLURE
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc. World rights reserved.
YOU'RE NOT DUMB, ANNIE – ONLY HUMAN – MOST PEOPLE THINK THE OTHER FELLOW'S JOB IS SIMPLE AN' EASY – UNTIL THEY TACKLE IT!



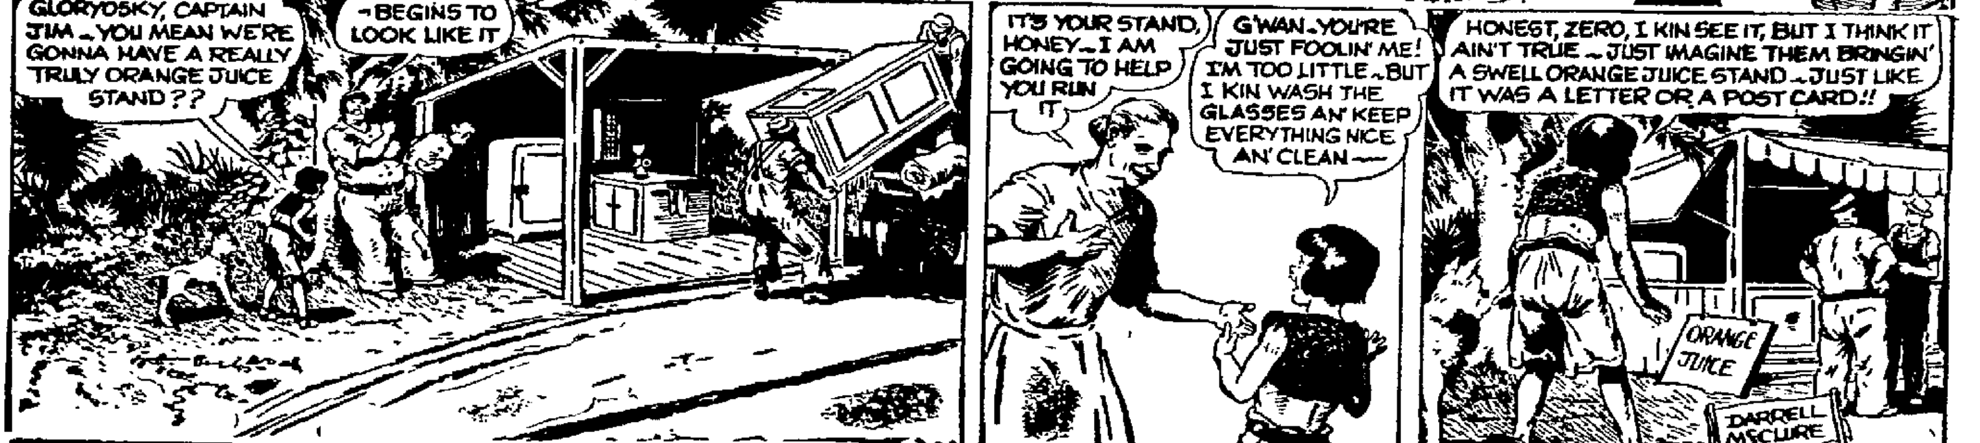
I WAS JUST THINKIN' – WOULDN'T IT BE SWELL IF THERE WAS LOTS AN' LOTSA ORANGE TREES GROWING 'ROUND HERE?
YES, THAT WOULD BE NICE
THEN WE COULD OPEN AN' ORANGE JUICE STAND AN' HAVE LOTSA FUN
FUN? SO YOU THINK RUNNING AN ORANGE JUICE STAND IS FUN?
YES, MA'AM – YOU JUST SIT IN THE SHADE WHERE IT SMELLS NICE AN' ORANGEY – AN' FOLKS STOP TO BUY SOME OF YOUR ORANGE JUICE –
THE ORANGE JUICE MAKES 'EM FEEL GLAD ALL OVER – THEY SMILE AT YOU AN' –
DARRELL McCLURE
MY STARS, ANNIE – YOU'VE GIVEN ME A GOOD IDEA!!



WHILE YOU'RE AWAY FISHING ALL DAY, JIM – I JUST SIT AROUND WAITING FOR YOU TO COME HOME – IT WOULD GIVE ME SOMETHING TO OCCUPY MY TIME – AND –
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
TROUBLE IS, ABBIE, WE DON'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT THIS ORANGE JUICE BUSINESS – IT MIGHT NEED SOME CAPITAL – WE HAVEN'T –
2-26
CAPITAL? FOR WHAT? JUST A FEW OLD PLANKS FOR A STAND – A HALF-DOZEN GLASSES AND A CASE OF ORANGES – I'M SURE WE COULD USE A FEW EXTRA DOLLARS
DARRELL McCLURE
GEE, ZERO, YOU KIN SEE THE MOON AN' THE STARS UP IN THE SKY AN' DOWN IN THE WATER – OH, LOOK – A LITTLE FISH JUMPED RIGHT OVER A LITTLE STAR



YES, YOU HAVE A GOOD LOCATION – A NATURAL PARKING PLACE ON A VERY BUSY HIGHWAY – I'LL BE GLAD TO HELP YOU GET STARTED
IT'S ALWAYS A PLEASURE TO HELP SOMEONE WITH IDEAS WHO CAN SEE GOLDEN OPPORTUNITIES
TO BE HONEST, MR. ADAMS – IT WAS NOT MY IDEA
YOU DON'T MEAN TO TELL ME A CHILD THAT AGE COULD WORK OUT THE PLANS YOU OUTLINED?
NO, SIR – BUT SHE DID SAY SHE WISHED SHE HAD AN ORANGE JUICE STAND – THAT'S HOW THE IDEA STARTED
DARRELL McCLURE
YES, SIR, I THINK ORANGE TREES ARE SWELL – THEY GROW LOVELY FLOWERS AN' NICE, BIG ORANGES THAT YOU KIN EAT AN' DRINK, TOO – BESIDES, THEY ALWAYS LOOK SO NICE AN' SHADY



GLORYOSKY, CAPTAIN JIM – YOU MEAN WE'RE GONNA HAVE A REALLY TRULY ORANGE JUICE STAND??
– BEGINS TO LOOK LIKE IT
IT'S YOUR STAND, HONEY – I AM GOING TO HELP YOU RUN IT
G'WAN – YOU'RE JUST FOOLIN' ME! I'M TOO LITTLE – BUT I KIN WASH THE GLASSES AN' KEEP EVERYTHING NICE AN' CLEAN – HONEST, ZERO, I KIN SEE IT, BUT I THINK IT AIN'T TRUE – JUST IMAGINE THEM BRINGIN' A SWELL ORANGE JUICE STAND – JUST LIKE IT WAS A LETTER OR A POST CARD!!
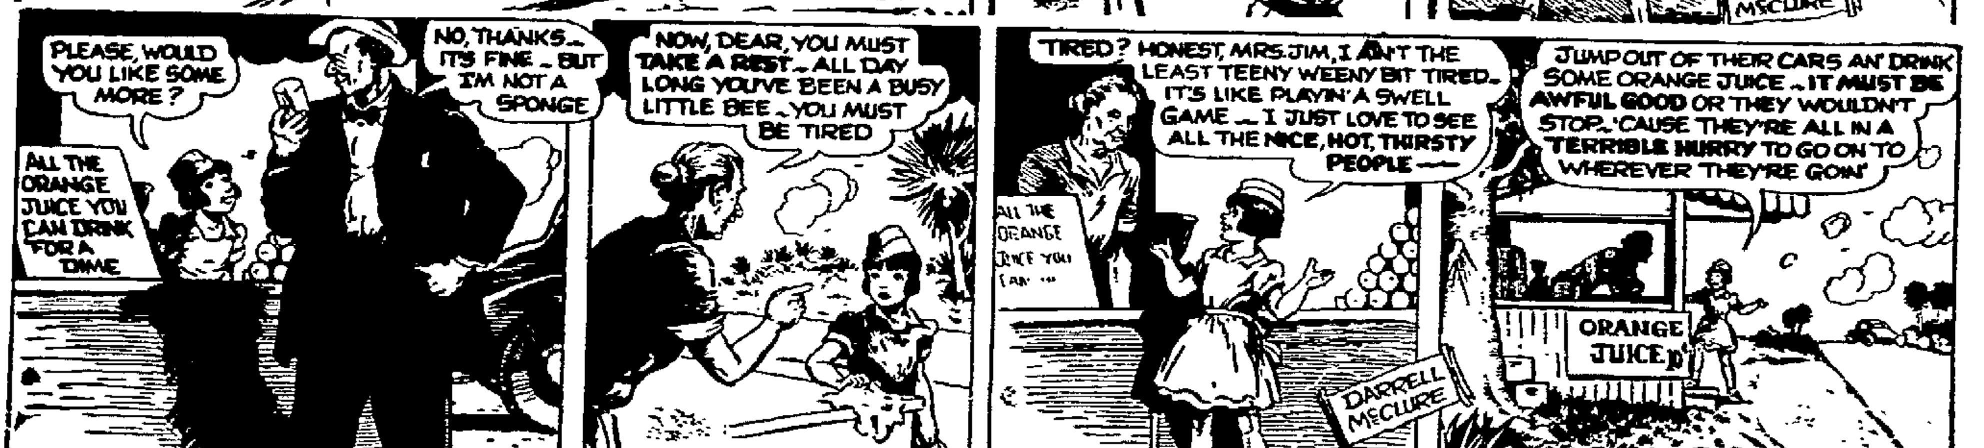
ORANGE JUICE
DARRELL McCLURE



PLEASE, WOULD YOU LIKE SOME MORE?
ALL THE ORANGE JUICE YOU CAN DRINK FOR A DIME
NO, THANKS – IT'S FINE – BUT I'M NOT A SPONGE
NOW, DEAR, YOU MUST TAKE A REST – ALL DAY LONG YOU'VE BEEN A BUSY LITTLE BEE – YOU MUST BE TIRED
TIRED? HONEST, MRS. JIM, I AIN'T THE LEAST TEENY WEENY BIT TIRED – IT'S LIKE PLAYIN' A SWELL GAME – I JUST LOVE TO SEE ALL THE NICE, HOT, THIRSTY PEOPLE –
ALL THE ORANGE JUICE YOU CAN –
DARRELL McCLURE
JUMP OUT OF THEIR CARS AN' DRINK SOME ORANGE JUICE – IT MUST BE AWFUL GOOD OR THEY WOULDN'T STOP – 'CAUSE THEY'RE ALL IN A TERRIBLE HURRY TO GO ON TO WHEREVER THEY'RE GOIN'
ORANGE JUICE

WHAT'S THE IDEA OF THE BLINDFOLD ?
"THE ROCK" WANTS TO WEAR IT TILL HE GETS HOME! SO HE ASKED ME TO GUIDE HIM!!
I DON'T GET IT!!
WELL, YOU KNOW "THE ROCK" HATES TO WRITE COMPOSITIONS!! HIS TEACHER ASKED HIM TO WRITE ONE TONIGHT FOR HOMEWORK...
WHAT HAS THE BLINDFOLD GOT TO DO WITH HIS COMPOSITION ?
IT'LL HELP HIM OUT PLENTY. HE'LL ONLY HAVE TO WRITE ONE WORD, "NOTHING" CAUSE THE SUBJECT IS, "WHAT I SAW ON MY WAY HOME FROM SCHOOL"
HEH'

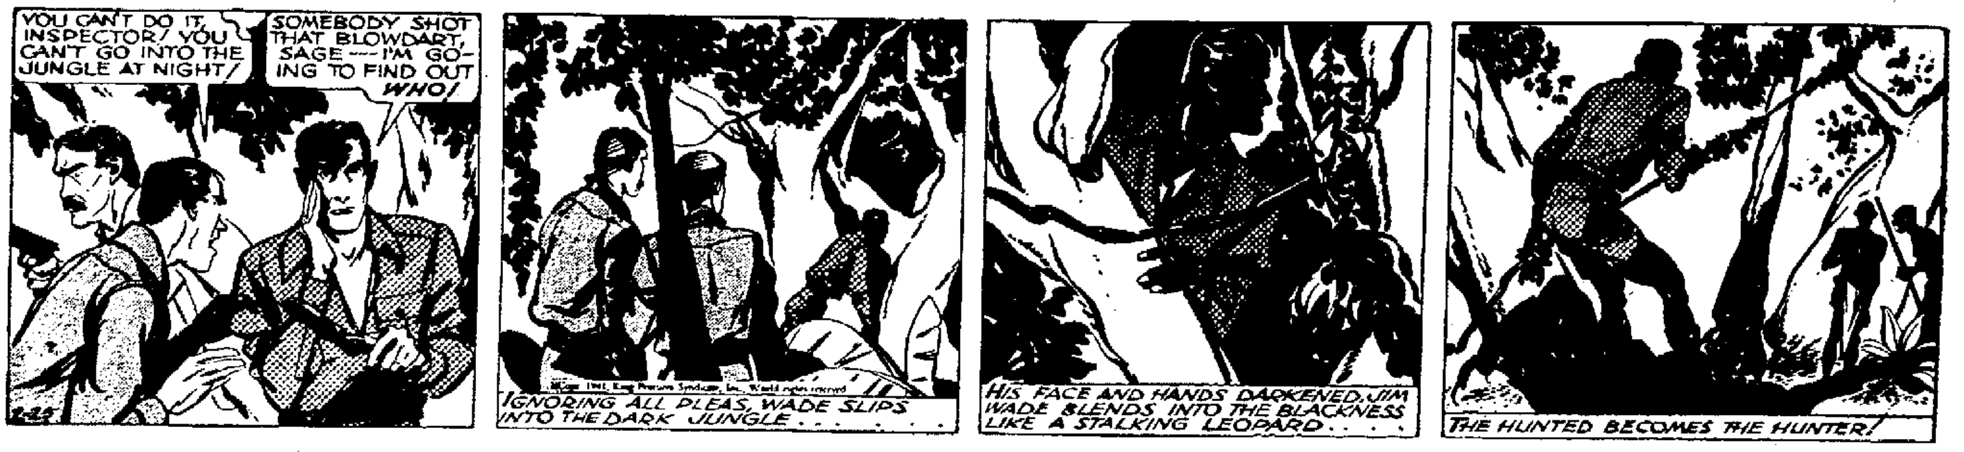
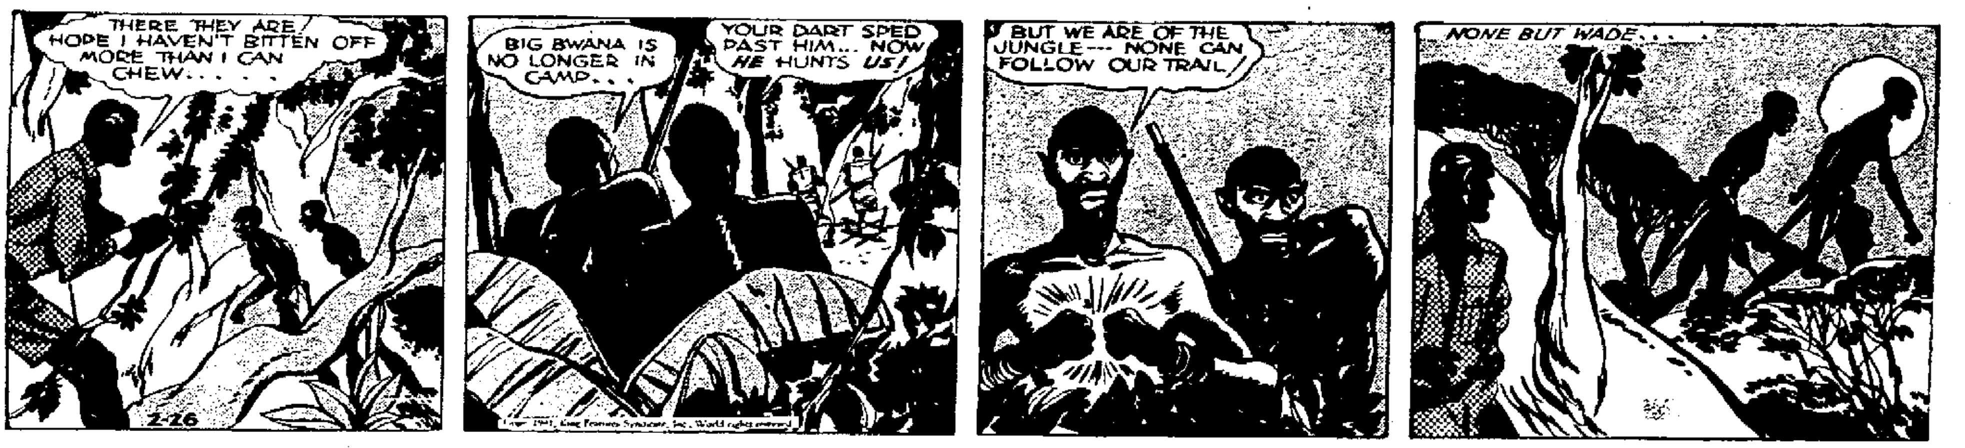
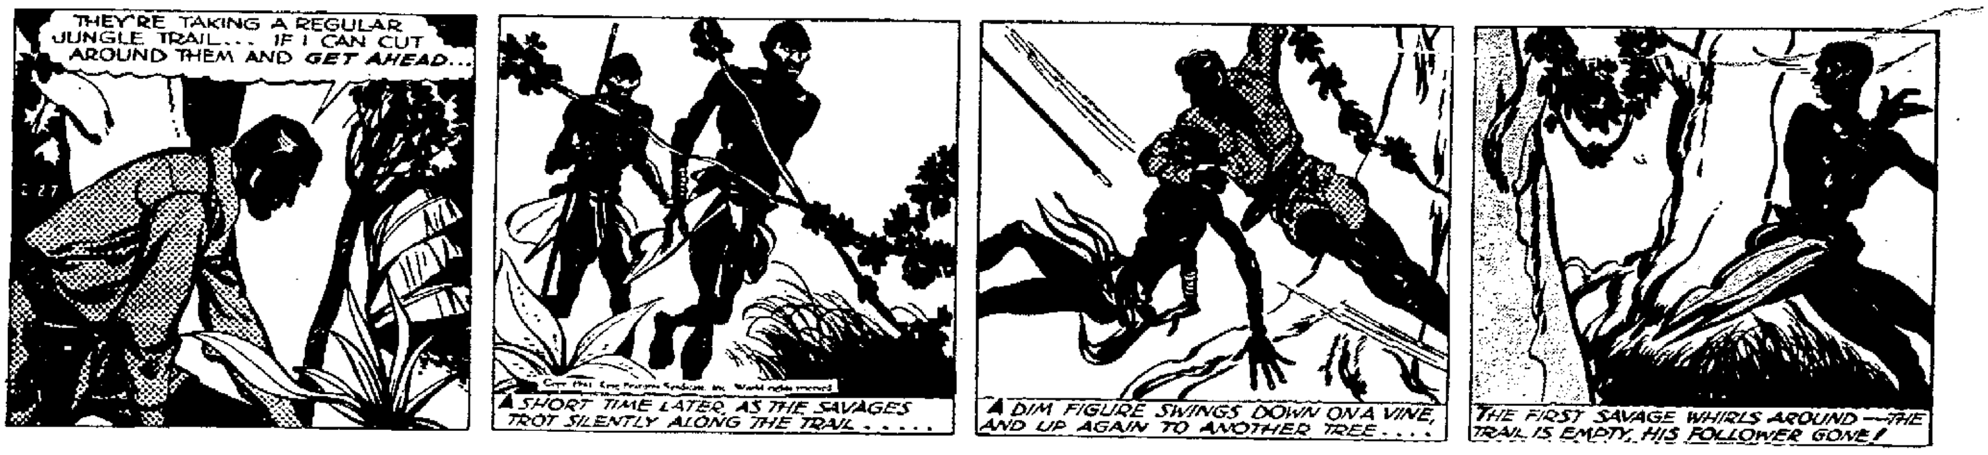
INSPECTOR WADE'S PARTY MAKES A NIGHT CAMP IN THE JUNGLE . . . . . .
AND OUTSIDE THE CLEARING . . . .
THE ONE WITH THE BROAD BACK, THAT IS THE BWANA CALLED WADE . . . PUT THE POISONED DART IN HIM!
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
WARNED BY A SIXTH SENSE, WADE DROPS TO THE GROUND . . . .
JIM, IT JUST MISSED YOU!
A POISONED DART FROM A BLOWGUN! IT'S STARTING!
THEN I'M GOING TO STOP IT --- I'M GOING INTO THE JUNGLE!



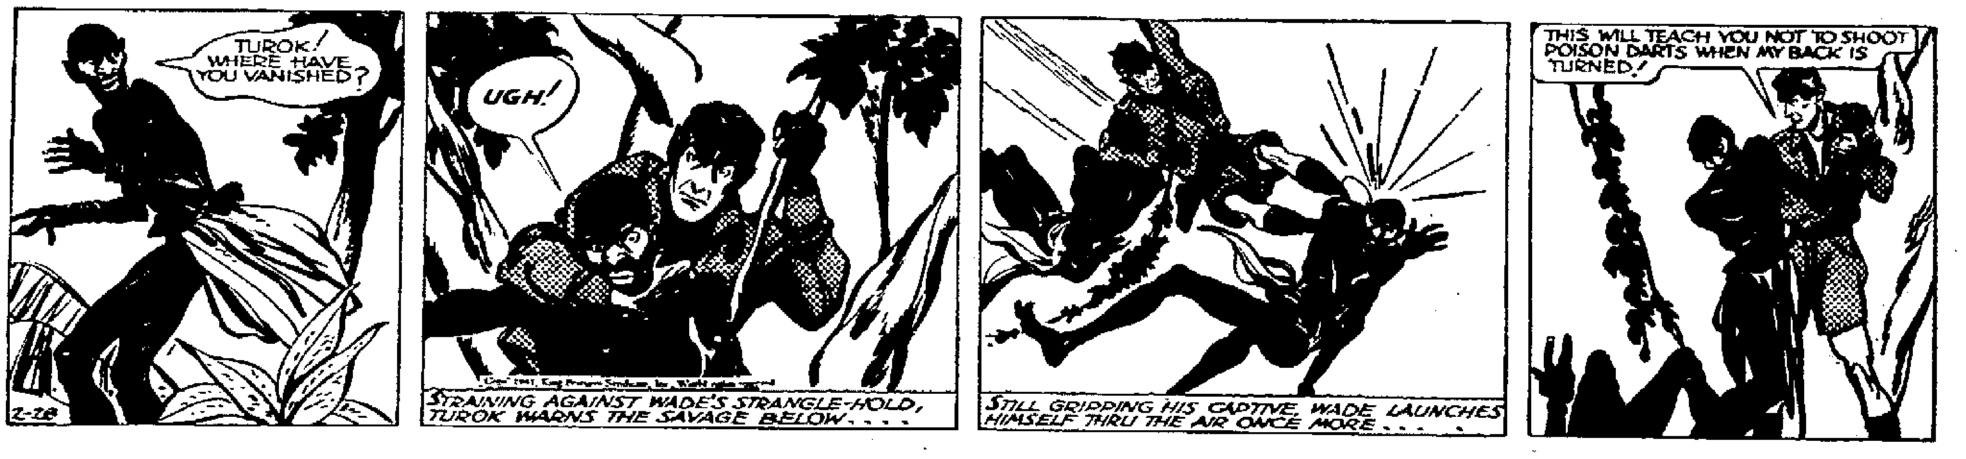
YOU CAN'T DO IT, INSPECTOR! YOU CAN'T GO INTO THE JUNGLE AT NIGHT!
SOMEBODY SHOT THAT BLOWDART, SAGE ---I'M GOING TO FIND OUT WHO!
2-25
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
IGNORING ALL PLEAS, WADE SLIPS INTO THE DARK JUNGLE . . . . . .
HIS FACE AND HANDS DARKENED, JIM WADE BLENDS INTO THE BLACKNESS LIKE A STALKING LEOPARD . . . .
THE HUNTED BECOMES THE HUNTER!



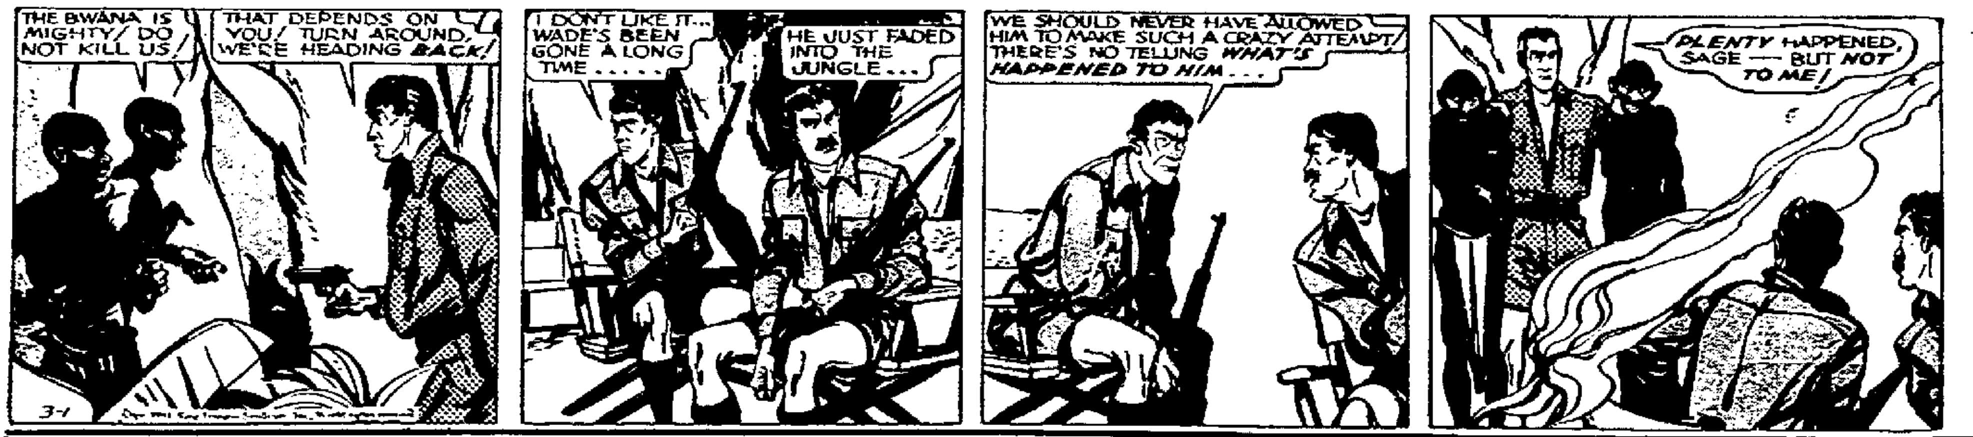
THERE THEY ARE! HOPE I HAVEN'T BITTEN OFF MORE THAN I CAN CHEW . . . .
2-26
BIG BWANA IS NO LONGER IN CAMP . . .
YOUR DART SPED PAST HIM . . . NOW HE HUNTS US!
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
BUT WE ARE OF THE JUNGLE--- NONE CAN FOLLOW OUR TRAIL!
NONE BUT WADE . . .



THEY'RE TAKING A REGULAR JUNGLE TRAIL . . . IF I CAN CUT AROUND THEM AND GET AHEAD . . .
2-27
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
A SHORT TIME LATER, AS THE SAVAGES TROT SILENTLY ALONG THE TRAIL . . . . .
A DIM FIGURE SWINGS DOWN ON A VINE, AND UP AGAIN TO ANOTHER TREE . . . .
THE FIRST SAVAGE WHIRLS AROUND ---THE TRAIL IS EMPTY, HIS FOLLOWER GONE!



TUROK! WHERE HAVE YOU VANISHED?
2-28
UGH!
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
STRAINING AGAINST WADE'S STRANGLE-HOLD, TUROK WARNS THE SAVAGE BELOW . . . .
STILL GRIPPING HIS CAPTIVE, WADE LAUNCHES HIMSELF THRU THE AIR ONCE MORE . . . .
THIS WILL TEACH YOU NOT TO SHOOT POISON DARTS WHEN MY BACK IS TURNED!



THE BWANA IS MIGHTY! DO NOT KILL US!
THAT DEPENDS ON YOU! TURN AROUND, WE'RE HEADING BACK!

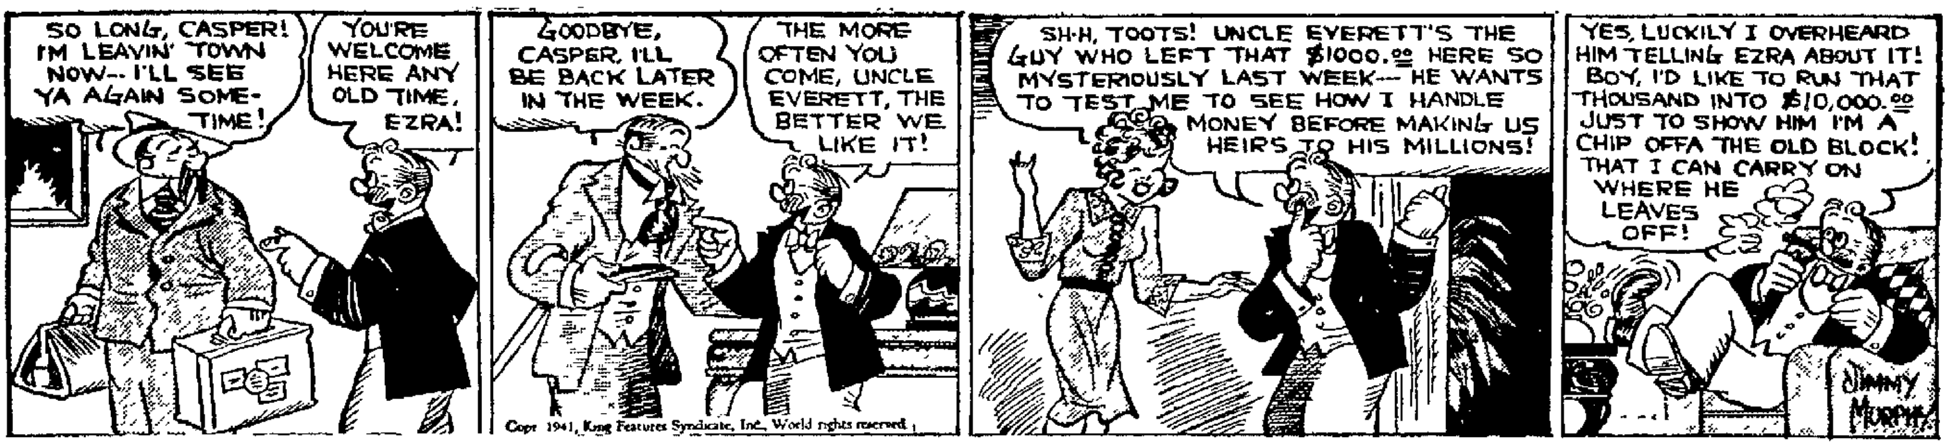
TOOTS AND CASPER



SO LONG, CASPER! I'M LEAVIN' TOWN NOW-- I'LL SEE YA AGAIN SOME-TIME!
YOU'RE WELCOME HERE ANY OLD TIME, EZRA!
GOODBYE, CASPER, I'LL BE BACK LATER IN THE WEEK.
THE MORE OFTEN YOU COME, UNCLE EVERETT, THE BETTER WE LIKE IT!
SH-H, TOOTS! UNCLE EVERETT'S THE GUY WHO LEFT THAT $1000.00 HERE SO MYSTERIOUSLY LAST WEEK--- HE WANTS TO TEST ME TO SEE HOW I HANDLE MONEY BEFORE MAKING US HEIRS TO HIS MILLIONS!
YES, LUCKILY I OVERHEARD HIM TELLING EZRA ABOUT IT! BOY, I'D LIKE TO RUN THAT THOUSAND INTO $10,000.00 JUST TO SHOW HIM I'M A CHIP OFFA THE OLD BLOCK! THAT I CAN CARRY ON WHERE HE LEAVES OFF!
JIMMY MURPHY

SAY, I'VE A HUNCH THAT "SNIPPY SNOOZER" WILL WIN THE SIXTH RACE TODAY!
I'VE A NOTION TO BET THE WHOLE $1000.00 UNCLE EVERETT LEFT ME ON THE NAG AND IF HE WINS -- BOY! IT WOULD MAKE EVERETT THINK I'M PRETTY GOOD!
YOU CAN'T TAKE A LONG CHANCE LIKE THAT, CASPER! UNCLE EVERETT WOULD DISINHERIT YOU IF YOU LOST THAT $1000.00 ON A HORSE RACE!
I GUESS YOU'RE RIGHT, TOOTS!
HELLO. WHO WON THE SIXTH RACE?
WHAT ?
"SNIPPY SNOOZER" WON PAYING 6 TO 1 ?????
I MISSED THE PROSPERITY TRAIN.
JIMMY MURPHY

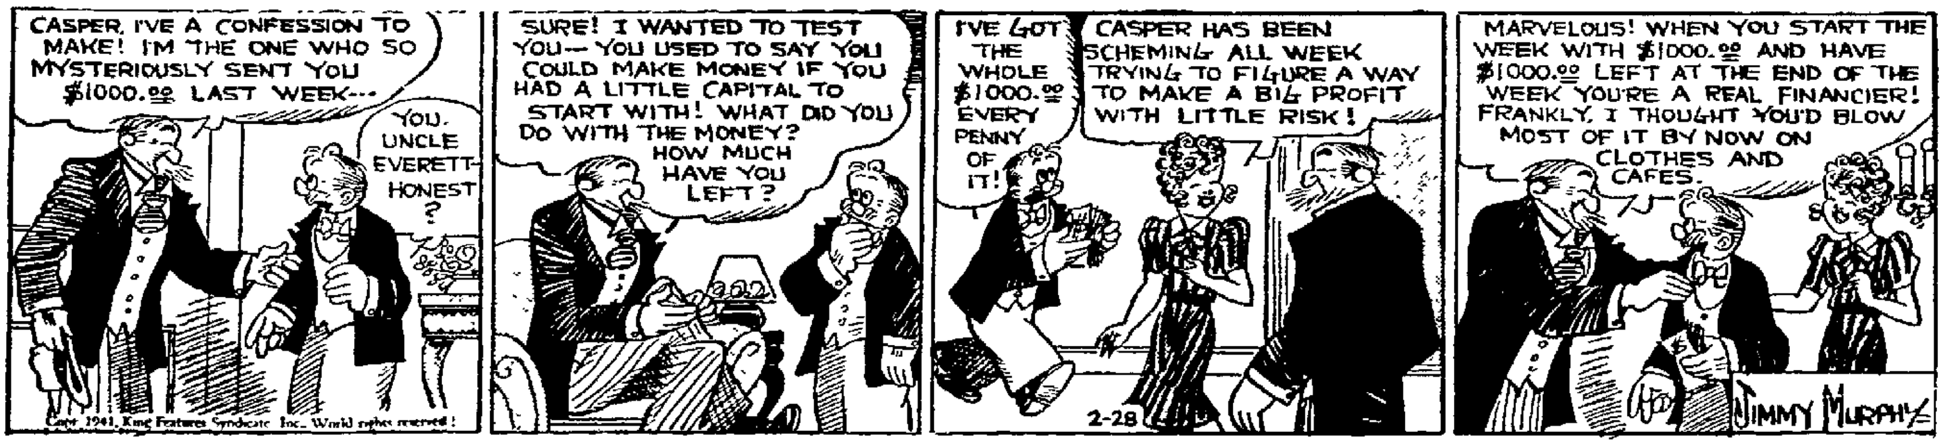
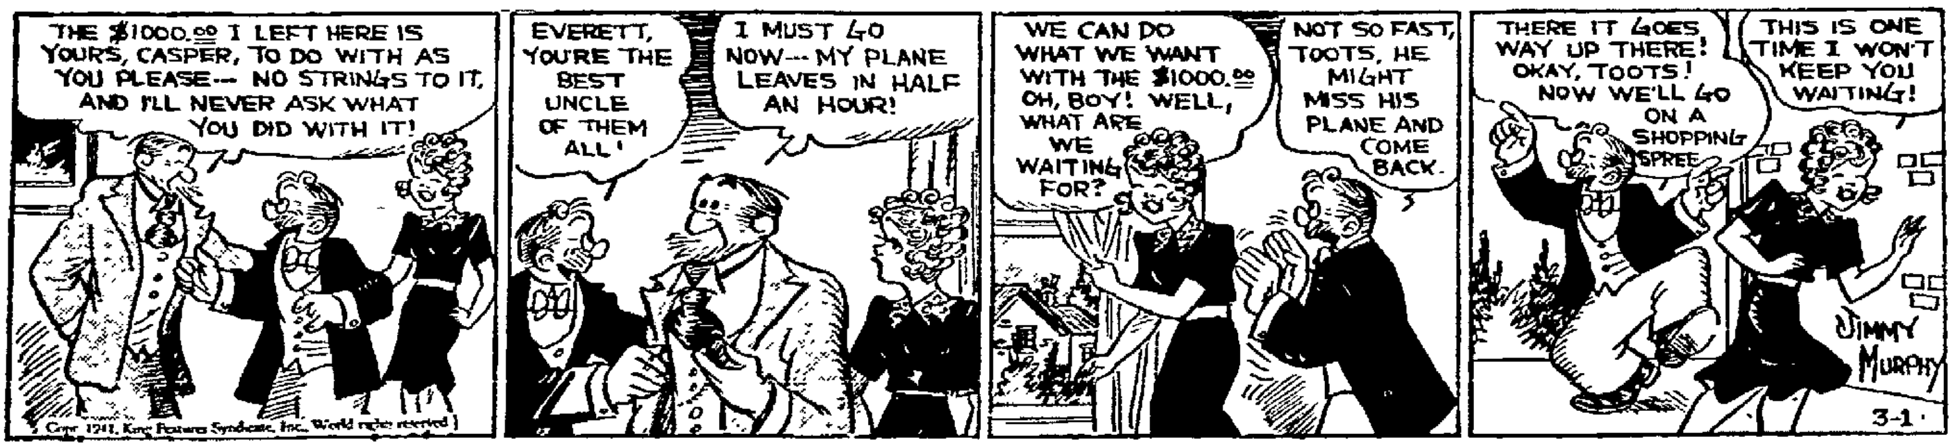
I'VE GOTTA DO SUMP'N' QUICK! UNCLE EVERETT LEFT ME $1000.00 TO TEST ME -- TO SEE WHAT I CAN DO WITH IT!
UNLESS I DOUBLE OR TRIPLE THE THOUSAND DOLLARS HE'LL THINK I'M NOT CAPABLE OF HANDLING BIG DOUGH, AND HE'LL CUT ME OUT OF HIS WILL!
I'M ON A SPOT! I'VE GOTTA SHOW A PROFIT OR I'M SUNK!!
I'M SO AFRAID OF LOSING I'VE GOT COLD FEET ABOUT PUTTING $1000.00 IN ANYTHING, TOOTS; BUT I'VE GOTTA DO SUMP'N QUICK!
IT'S TOO LATE NOW, CASPER! HERE COMES UNCLE EVERETT!
JIMMY MURPHY
Copr 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved



CASPER, I'VE A CONFESSION TO MAKE! I'M THE ONE WHO SO MYSTERIOUSLY SENT YOU $1000.00 LAST WEEK---
YOU, UNCLE EVERETT-HONEST ?
SURE! I WANTED TO TEST YOU-- YOU USED TO SAY YOU COULD MAKE MONEY IF YOU HAD A LITTLE CAPITAL TO START WITH! WHAT DID YOU DO WITH THE MONEY? HOW MUCH HAVE YOU LEFT?
I'VE GOT THE WHOLE $1000.00 EVERY PENNY OF IT!
CASPER HAS BEEN SCHEMING ALL WEEK TRYING TO FIGURE A WAY TO MAKE A BIG PROFIT WITH LITTLE RISK!
2-28
MARVELOUS! WHEN YOU START THE WEEK WITH $1000.00 AND HAVE $1000.00 LEFT AT THE END OF THE WEEK YOU'RE A REAL FINANCIER! FRANKLY, I THOUGHT YOU'D BLOW MOST OF IT BY NOW ON CLOTHES AND CAFES.
JIMMY MURPHY
Copr 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved!



THE $1000.00 I LEFT HERE IS YOURS, CASPER, TO DO WITH AS YOU PLEASE--- NO STRINGS TO IT, AND I'LL NEVER ASK WHAT YOU DID WITH IT!
EVERETT, YOU'RE THE BEST UNCLE OF THEM ALL!
I MUST GO NOW--- MY PLANE LEAVES IN HALF AN HOUR!
WE CAN DO WHAT WE WANT WITH THE $1000.00 OH, BOY! WELL, WHAT ARE WE WAITING FOR?
NOT SO FAST, TOOTS, HE MIGHT MISS HIS PLANE AND COME BACK.
THERE IT GOES, WAY UP THERE! OKAY, TOOTS! NOW WE'LL GO ON A SHOPPING SPREE
THIS IS ONE TIME I WON'T KEEP YOU WAITING!

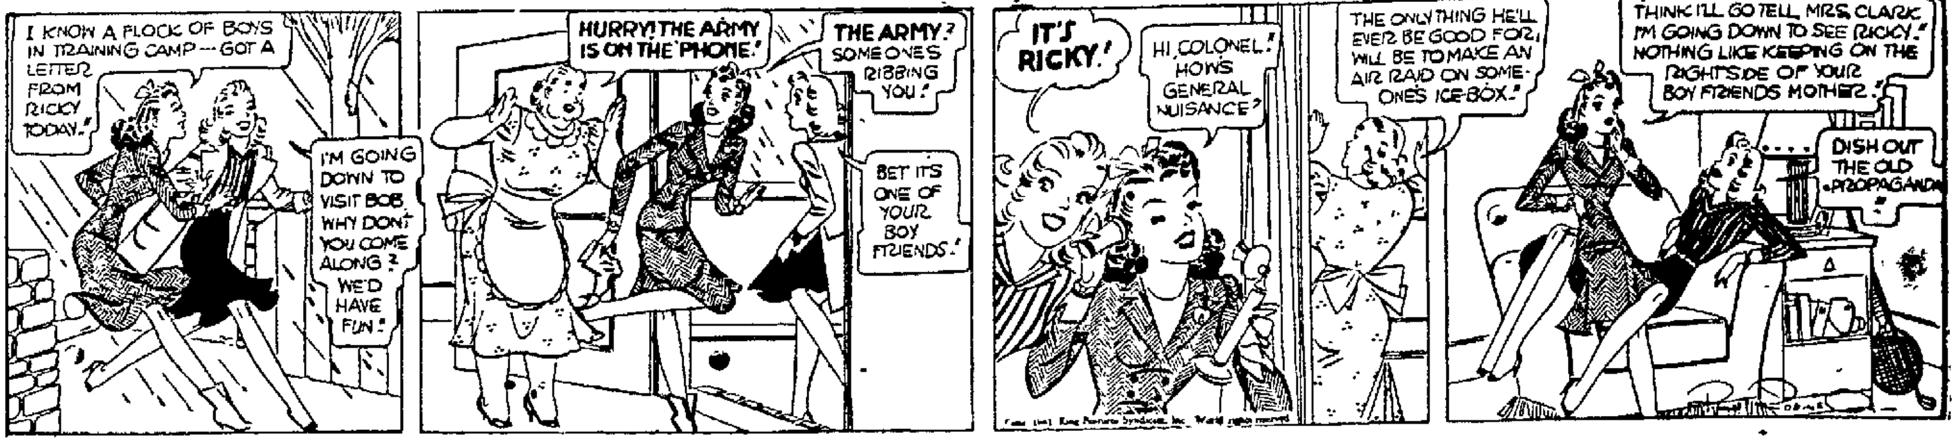
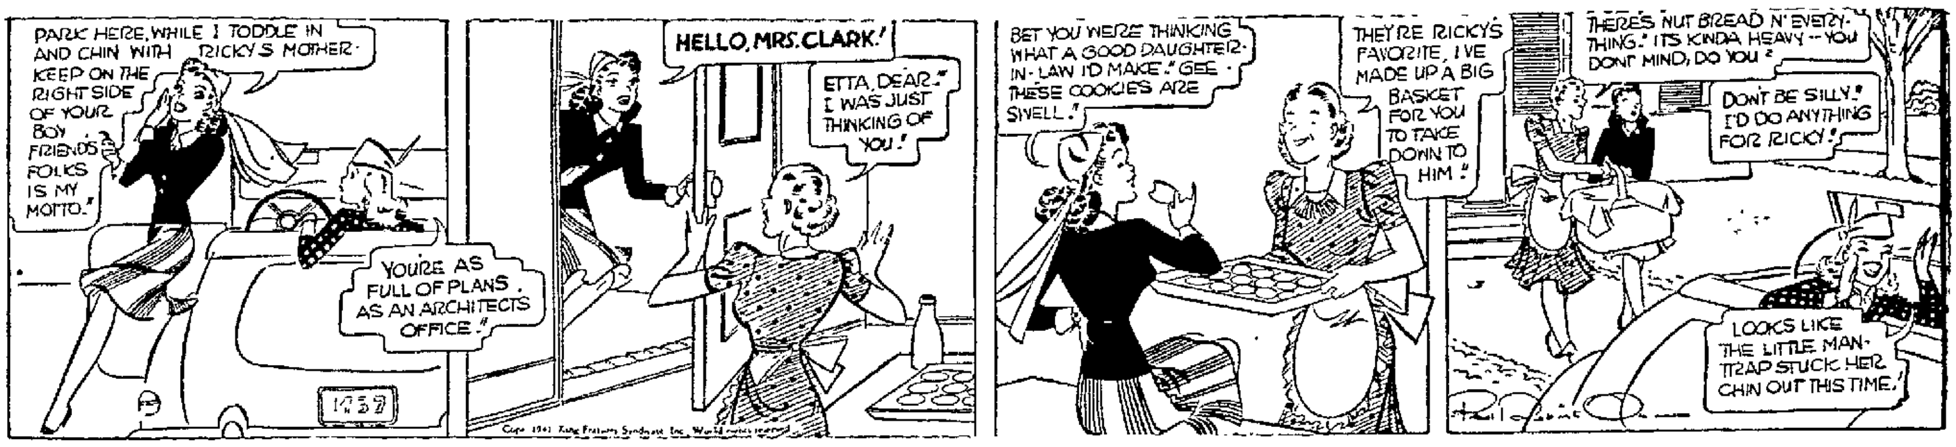
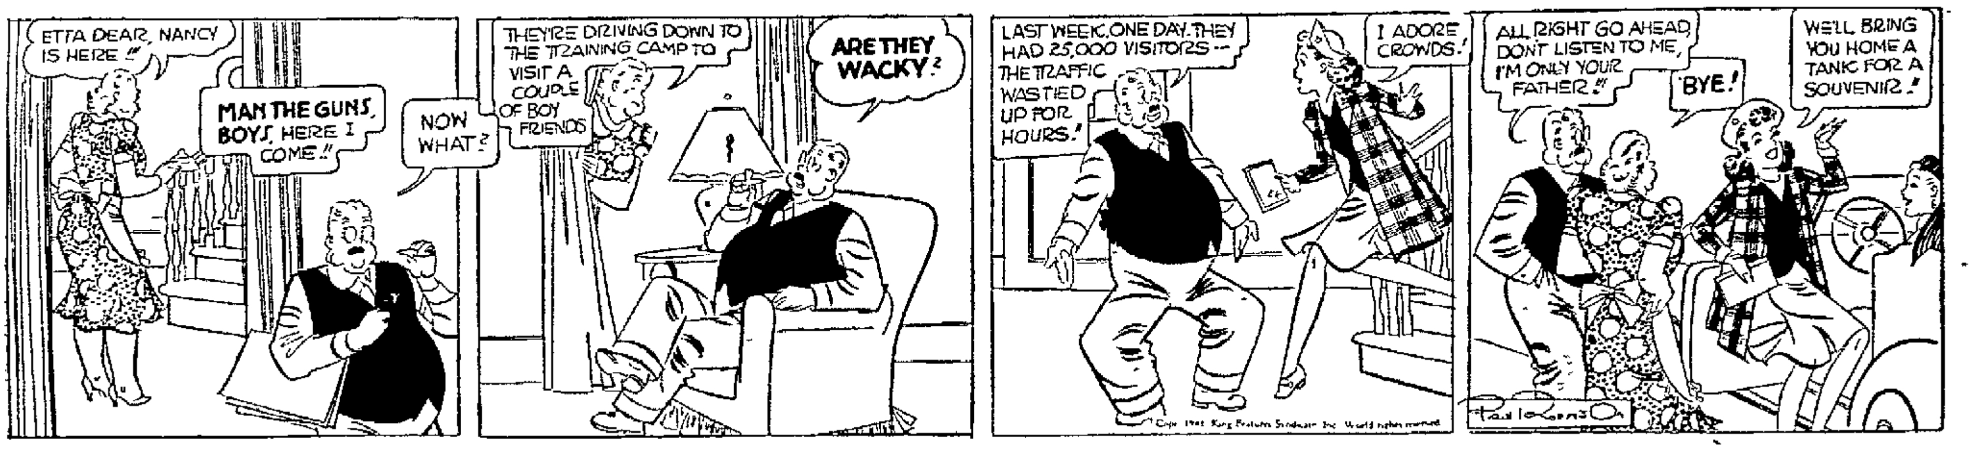
ETTA KETT



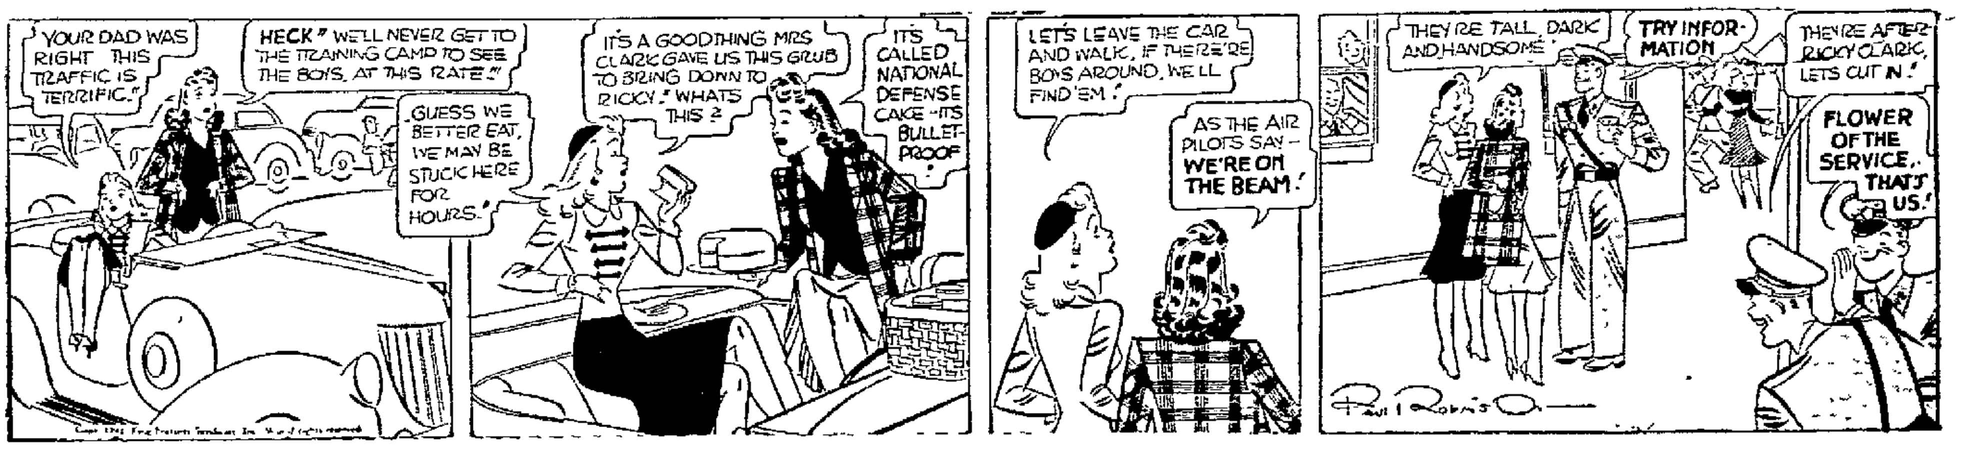
I KNOW A FLOCK OF BOYS IN TRAINING CAMP --- GOT A LETTER FROM RICKY TODAY.!
I'M GOING DOWN TO VISIT BOB. WHY DON'T YOU COME ALONG? WE'D HAVE FUN!
HURRY! THE ARMY IS ON THE PHONE!
THE ARMY? SOMEONE'S RIBBING YOU!
BET IT'S ONE OF YOUR BOY FRIENDS!
IT'S RICKY!
HI, COLONEL! HOW'S GENERAL NUISANCE?
THE ONLY THING HE'LL EVER BE GOOD FOR, WILL BE TO MAKE AN AIR RAID ON SOMEONE'S ICE-BOX!
THINK I'LL GO TELL MRS. CLARK I'M GOING DOWN TO SEE RICKY! NOTHING LIKE KEEPING ON THE RIGHT SIDE OF YOUR BOY FRIEND'S MOTHER!
DISH OUT THE OLD PROPAGANDA!
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved



PARK HERE, WHILE I TODDLE IN AND CHIN WITH RICKY'S MOTHER. KEEP ON THE RIGHT SIDE OF YOUR BOY FRIEND'S FOLKS IS MY MOTTO!
YOU'RE AS FULL OF PLANS AS AN ARCHITECT'S OFFICE!
1437
HELLO, MRS. CLARK!
ETTA, DEAR! I WAS JUST THINKING OF YOU!
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
BET YOU WERE THINKING WHAT A GOOD DAUGHTER-IN-LAW I'D MAKE! GEE - THESE COOKIES ARE SWELL!
THEY'RE RICKY'S FAVORITE, I'VE MADE UP A BIG BASKET FOR YOU TO TAKE DOWN TO HIM!
THERE'S NUT BREAD N' EVERYTHING! IT'S KINDA HEAVY -- YOU DON'T MIND, DO YOU?
DON'T BE SILLY! I'D DO ANYTHING FOR RICKY!
LOOKS LIKE THE LITTLE MAN-TRAP STUCK HER CHIN OUT THIS TIME!



ETTA DEAR, NANCY IS HERE!
MAN THE GUNS, BOYS, HERE I COME!
NOW WHAT?
THEY'RE DRIVING DOWN TO THE TRAINING CAMP TO VISIT A COUPLE OF BOY FRIENDS
ARE THEY WACKY?
LAST WEEK, ONE DAY, THEY HAD 25,000 VISITORS -- THE TRAFFIC WAS TIED UP FOR HOURS!
I ADORE CROWDS!
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
ALL RIGHT GO AHEAD DON'T LISTEN TO ME, I'M ONLY YOUR FATHER!
BYE!
WE'LL BRING YOU HOME A TANK FOR A SOUVENIR!



YOUR DAD WAS RIGHT. THIS TRAFFIC IS TERRIFIC!
HECK! WE'LL NEVER GET TO THE TRAINING CAMP TO SEE THE BOYS, AT THIS RATE!
GUESS WE BETTER EAT, WE MAY BE STUCK HERE FOR HOURS!
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
IT'S A GOOD THING MRS. CLARK GAVE US THIS GRUB TO BRING DOWN TO RICKY! WHAT'S THIS?
IT'S CALLED NATIONAL DEFENSE CAKE - IT'S BULLET-PROOF!
LET'S LEAVE THE CAR AND WALK, IF THERE'RE BOYS AROUND, WE'LL FIND 'EM!
AS THE AIR PILOTS SAY - WE'RE ON THE BEAM!
THEY'RE TALL, DARK AND HANDSOME

STOCKS FAIL IN TRY FOR RALLY ON MART TODAY

Retail Spending Survey Gives Some Comfort as Banks Record Loan Drop.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks tried for a modest rally in today's market but most failed to pick up much of a come-back stride.

Among resistant issues were Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet and General Motors, General Electric, Du Pont, N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania and Texas Corp.

Inclined to lag were U. S. Steel, Montgomery Ward and International Harvester.

A grain of comfort was found in the Dun & Bradstreet survey disclosing retail spending throughout the nation this week continued to climb. The agency estimated volume ranged from 9 to 12 per cent above the corresponding period a year ago.

Not so pleasing was the statement of New York City reserve member banks revealing a drop of $13,000,000 in commercial, industrial and agricultural loans during the week concluded Wednesday.

Galion Man Killed In Mishap Near City

DRIVER DIES ON BIRTHDAY AS CAR HITS TREE

Theodore H. Boyd, 36, Official At Iron Works, Killed on Way Home From Mansfield.

PINNED IN WRECKAGE

Patrolmen Work Two Hours To Remove Body From Auto Twisted Around Tree.

Richland county marked up its seventh traffic death of the year early today when Theodore H. Boyd, assistant southern sales manager of the Galion Iron works and member of a prominent Galion family, was killed instantly as his car crashed into a tree along route 30-S two miles east of Galion. He would have observed his 36th birthday today.

Boyd, who was riding alone in a heavy coach, suffered a skull fracture. The automobile hit the tree with such force that the frame was bent in a semicircle.

State highway patrolmen said the car went off the highway on the right side and into a ditch before it crashed into the tree. Although there was ice on the road at the accident scene, patrolmen said there were no skid marks.

The accident occurred about 5 a. m. and officers worked for nearly two hours to remove the body which was pinned in the wreckage. A Greyhound bus driver, whose identity was not established immediately, found the body a few minutes after the accident and notified Galion police who called the state highway patrol in Mansfield.

Patrolmen said Boyd had taken his wife and some friends home following a party and apparently had returned to Mansfield. He was enroute

STILL CRITICAL

Condition of Rickenbacker, 2 Others Called Serious.

ATLANTA, Ga. —(INS)— Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker and two others, injured in an Eastern Airlines luxury liner crash which killed seven Thursday, remained in serious or critical condition today. A blood transfusion was administered early today in an attempt to save Attorney C. M. Tappen of Long Island, N. Y.

Rickenbacker, America's greatest World war flying ace and president of the airline, was in serious condition and suffered acutely during coughing spells because of broken ribs. Physicians at Piedmont hospital, however, said the flyer was resting "as well as can be expected."

Attending physicians denied a report that Capt. Rickenbacker might lose the sight of one eye as a result of facial lacerations suffered in the crash. They said that a cut extended part way across the left eye lid, but that the eyeball was not injured at all.

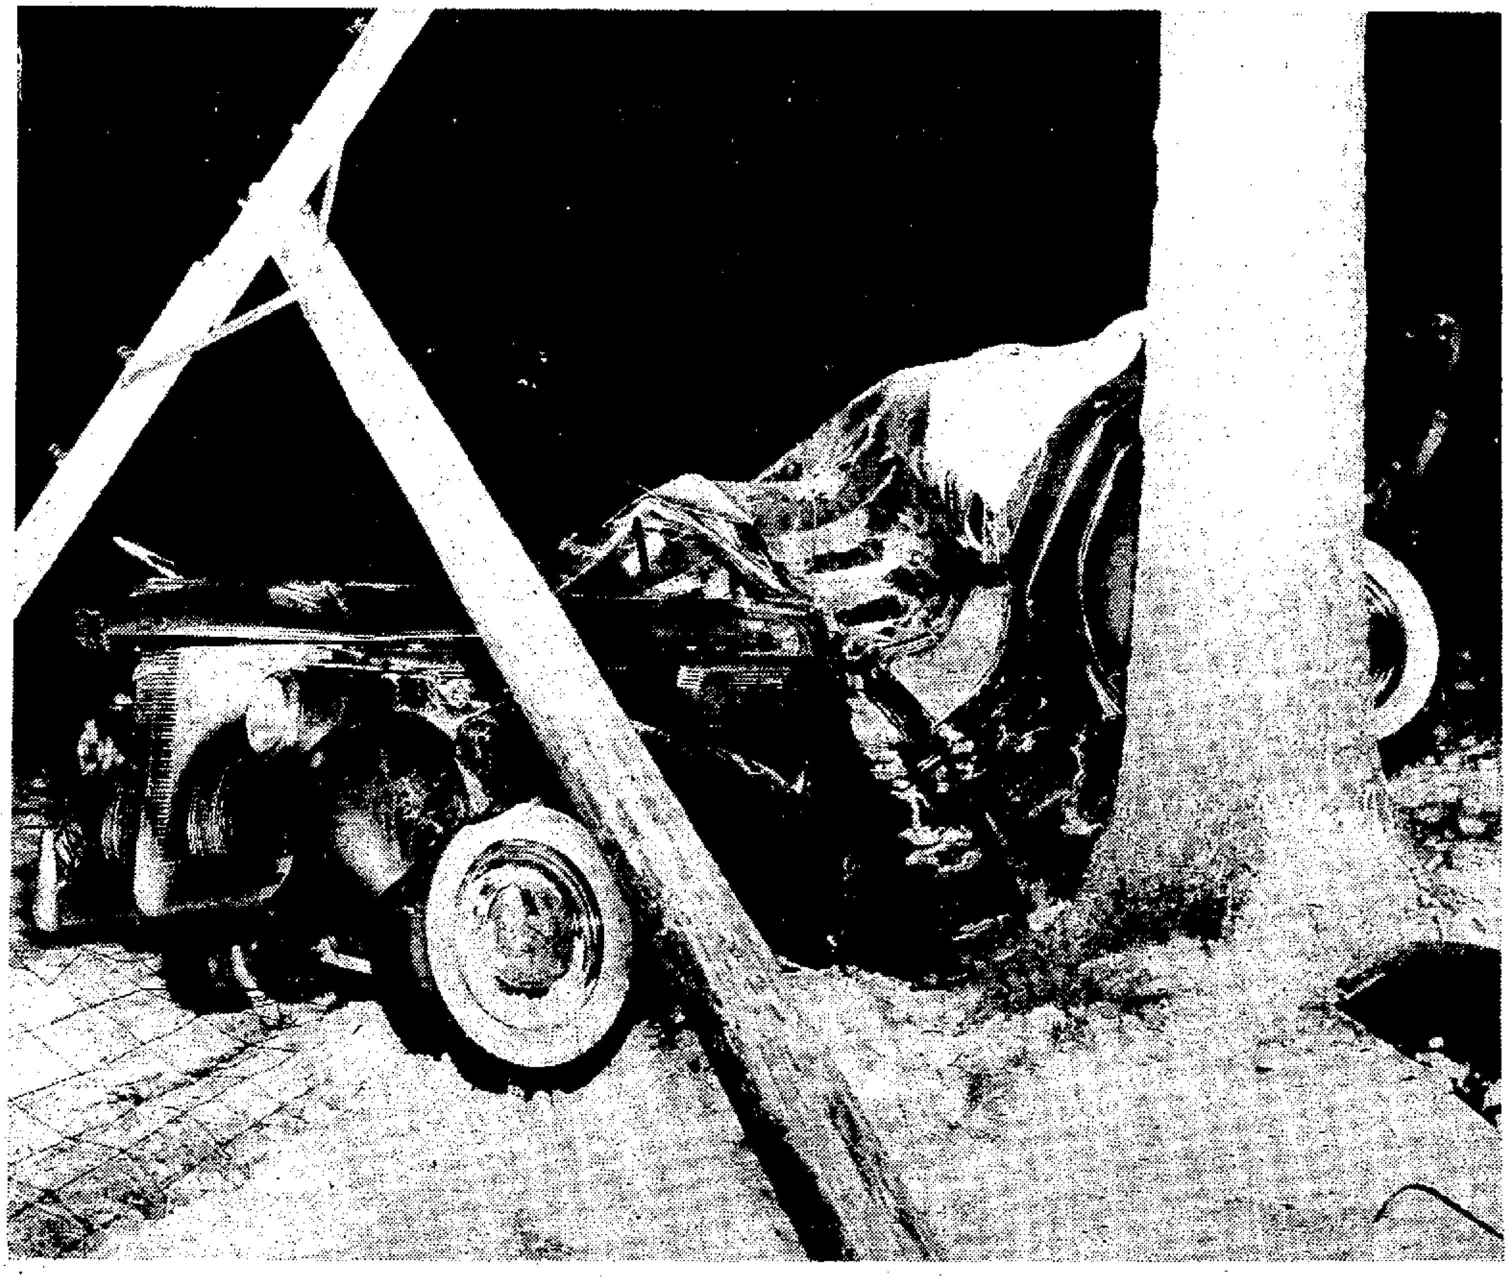
Nephew of Msgr. Goebel Dies of Accident Injuries.

Louis Goebel, 17, truck driver of Bryan, O., was dead today of burns received Thursday when his gasoline-saturated clothing caught fire as he attempted to get a motor started for a friend near Fitchville.

Young Goebel was a nephew of Msgr. R. C. Goebel of Mansfield.

Wreckage of Auto In Which Galion Man Met Instant Death



Wreckage of the heavy automobile in which Theodore H. Boyd, 36, assistant sales manager of the Galion Iron works, died early today is shown in the above photo. Boyd, who was 36 years old today, died instantly of a skull fracture when the automobile left route 30S two miles east of Galion and crashed into a tree. The front end of the car struck a telephone pole after the left side of the automobile crashed into the tree. Authorities said Boyd apparently went to sleep. His body was still in the automobile when this photograph was taken.

FLAMES DAMAGE 'Y' AT BUCYRUS

$30,000 Loss Reported as Fire Sweeps Building For Third Time.

BUCYRUS—Fire, believed by Fire Chief William F. Mader to have been caused by a defective chimney, swept through the Y. M. C. A. building here last night, causing an estimated $30,000 damage. It was the third major fire here in five weeks.

The blaze, discovered about 10:30 p. m. yesterday, originated in the upper floor of the three-story brick building. The lower floors were gutted by the flames and an adjacent building was damaged by smoke and water.

It was the third time in 20 years that the building had been damaged by fire. The building, a remodeled residence, built in 1880 was severely damaged about six years ago and in 1920 the interior was gutted by flames.

The smoldering blaze was fought by firemen for more than three hours before they were able

BLAST INJURES SIX FIREMEN

Battalion Chief Among Those Hurt In Explosion.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Six firemen, including a battalion chief, today were recovering from injuries received in an explosion which followed a blaze in a four-story east side apartment building.

The explosion occurred while Chief William A. Finn, one of the injured, was directing the fight against the flames which started near gas meters in the basement. Damage was held to $1,000, according to firemen's estimates.

Hillman Seeks to End Chalmers Plant Strike

Federal Government Steps In With Efforts to Check Labor Strife At Milwaukee and Detroit.

(By Associated Press)

Encouraged by settlement of the Bethlehem strike at Lackawanna, N. Y., the Office of Production Management at Washington directed its attention today to a labor dispute which has tied up production of Allis-Chalmers' Milwaukee plant for more than six weeks.

Sidney Hillman, associate director of OPM, resumed conferences yesterday with officials of the CIO-United Automobile Workers whose demands at the Allis-Chalmers factory center on union security. The plant normally employs about 9,000 workers and has $45,000,000 in defense orders of various types.

In an effort to avert threatened walkouts which would tie up an even greater amount of armament production, a federal conciliator was dispatched to Detroit where the CIO-UAW has served notice of intention to strike at three plants of the Ford Motor company, the Rouge, Highland Park, and Lincoln units.

The three factories employing 95,000 persons are working on $148,500,000 worth of defense equipment.

The Ford company has denied the union's charges of discrimination against union members. Under Michigan law, the governor could order a 30-day cooling off period before any walkout could become effective.

Meanwhile William S. Knudsen, OPM director, sent a memorandum to Chairman Sumners

BATTLE BLAZE

Firemen Fight Flames In Huge New Orleans Laboratory.

NEW ORLEANS —(INS)— Fire fighting companies from all sections of New Orleans were called out today to battle a fire that broke out in the upper stories of the administrative unit of the new $2,000,000 southern regional research laboratory of the United States department of agriculture.

The laboratory is not yet finally completed and the administrative building, which is one of four main units, was not yet occupied.

The laboratory is located in the lake region of New Orleans and fire fighters battled a strong wind blowing in from Lake Ponchartrain.

MILL DESTROYED

Building Owned by Hanley Company Burns.

An abandoned West LaFayette flour mill, owned by the Hanley Milling company of Mansfield, was destroyed by fire this morning in a blaze which destroyed another grist mill and two residences, creating damage estimated at $20,000.

The value of the mill was estimated at about $4,000 by J. O. Hanley, vice president of the company. The mill was not insured, Hanley stated.

The Hanley Milling company moved to Mansfield in 1927, abandoning at that time the West LaFayette mill.

FORMER CHIEF FINED

LOS ANGELES —(UP)— Phillip Kennedy, 43, former Tiffin, O., chief of police, pleaded guilty late yesterday to a charge of driving while intoxicated. Judge R. Morgan Galbreth fined him $50.

Mansfield Boys Play Hookey, Train Gives Them Chilly Ride

Two Mansfield school boys, 12 and 13 years old, were back home today after a chilly ride to Tiffin on a Pennsylvania freight train.

Returned to Mansfield yesterday by Ralph Carroll, county juvenile officer, the boys told their story to Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer who lectured them and sent them home, deciding they had had enough punishment.

The boys said they "played hookey" from school Thursday to "make an inspection trip through the Westinghouse plant."

At the Orange street crossing they found their way blocked by a long westbound freight train. They told Judge Cramer that they waited a little while and when the train didn't move they started to climb through between the cars. The train started to move before they could get off, however, and they were afraid to jump. They couldn't get off until the train reached Tiffin, they related.

"We might have lost a leg or arm if we fell under the cars," one of the frightened boys said. Judge Cramer agreed with them.

Tiffin police notified authorities here that the two youths had been located. One boy attends Bowman school and the other is a pupil in Bushnell school.

BLAST SCARES MANSFIELDERS

Hundreds Contact Police to Find Out About Explosion At Slag Pile.

Hundreds of Mansfielders were aroused from their sleep at about 6 a. m. today by an explosion of such terrific force that homes and buildings were shaken.

Fears of a major catastrophe were quickly dispelled by police, however, when alarmed residents phoned headquarters to find that a pile of slag had exploded at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company.

Officers said the blast occurred about 6 a. m. when workmen hauled some hot slag to a dump adjacent to the plant.

No one was injured, company officials said, explaining that the six-ton lump of slag exploded when it roiled into a pool of water.

HITLER WOULD GET BRITISH FLEET, CHARGE

Senator Declares British Navy Would Go to Germans Despite Pledge.

AID DEBATE CONTINUES

Senate Hears Warning Japan Will Carve Orient If Britain Loses.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The British fleet will fall to Hitler if he conquers England, despite the good faith pledge of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, and the United States will then be dangerously menaced, Sen. Lucas (D.,Ill.) declared today in an appeal for swift action on the lease-lend bill.

"If England comes to an end, Churchill will die in some last desperate stroke, going down and taking with him as many enemies as he can," said Lucas, in a speech prepared for senate debate.

"And then will come the quisling of England, and the fleet will be in Hitler's hands, and he, with the shipyards of Europe and Asia at his command, can outbuild us six to one in merchant ships and almost that in naval vessels."

Despite Lucas' appeal for speed, however, the senate faced another week's debate before a final vote will be reached, with the possibility that the battle may extend even longer.

As March 1—the scheduled date for senate passage of the bill came—Sen. Barkley, Kentucky, Democratic leader, forecast a vote by next Saturday.

But, Sen. Wheeler, (D., Mont.) opposition leader, said "unless they accept some amendments without a fight, I don't see how they can expect a final vote next week.

Sen. Nye, (R., N.D.) revealed that he is receiving 100 to 200 telegrams a day urging that the opposition filibuster the bill to death.

"These telegrams reveal a growing intensity of public feeling against this bill and it might be reflected in the senate in a few days," said Nye. "The bill will

LOSS HIGH

Damage In Dayton Fire Set at $100,000; Two Injured.

DAYTON — (INS) — A three-alarm fire today gutted a five-story brick building in the downtown Dayton business district. Loss was estimated by Fire Chief Joseph Kirby at $100,000.

Firemen brought the blaze under control after several hours with the walls of the building still standing. The building was occupied by the Hadeler Hardware company and the Mayne Produce company.

Kirby said the fire spread from the first floor of the structure through an air shaft. Its cause was not immediately determined. Two firemen, injured slightly while fighting the blaze, were treated at a hospital and sent home.

FOUND IN ICE

TOLEDO —(AP)— The body of Troyce A. Helvie, 35, a seaman, was found on the ice of Maumee river, beneath the New York Central raidroad bridge today. It is believed he either was struck by a train or fell while stepping to the outside of the bridge to let a train pass.

48 Richland County Men In Quota for Eighth Draft Call

Richland county was asked today to provide 48 more men for military training on or after March 21 in the eighth draft call issued by state selective service headquarters.

County selective service Board 1 was called on to send 18 men; Board 2, 14, and Board 3, 16. Clerks pointed out that the quotas were only tentative and may be changed before the call date.

The call will make a total of 146 selectees due to leave Mansfield and Richland county this month. Thirty-five will go to camp next week, 63 the following week, and then 48 about the final week of the month.

The state-wide call issued today was for 4,612 men, including 4,152 white selectees and 460 colored men. The Ohioans probably will be sent to all parts of the nation to fill up ranks of existing forces in other corps areas. A number will go to Washington and Oregon.

Clerks of the three Richland county boards said today that 23 of 40 men who were examined yesterday at the Mansfield Armory measured up to physical requirements. They will be given a second physical check-up at the Ft. Hayes induction center in Columbus after leaving Mansfield.

Action Brings 'Front' Near Dardanelles

Imminent Outbreak of Balkan Fight Seen; Britain Expected to Break Relations With Bulgaria; Jugoslavia Watched.

(By United Press)

Adolf Hitler planted the Axis war banner within 100 miles of the strategic Dardanelles today by bringing Bulgaria into the tri-power alliance of Germany, Italy and Japan.

The ink of Bulgaria's signature was hardly dry when Nazi warplanes appeared over Sofia and droned back and forth over the Bulgarian capital.

Great Britain was expected to sever relations with Bulgaria at any moment and opening of a major Balkan war front at Salonika and possibly Thrace became an imminent possibility.

Bulgaria's adherence to the Axis was proclaimed at Vienna in a typical Axis ceremony at old Belvedere palace in the presence of Adolf Hitler, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, and Gen. Hiroshi Oshima, Japanese ambassador to Berlin.

Signing for Bulgaria was Premier Bogdan Filoff who said that Bulgaria hoped to keep the peace and particularly desired to continue and extend her traditional friendship with Russia.

Ribbentrop jubilantly asserted that Bulgaria would not be the last country to join the Axis and that "more and more" nations would sign up as partners in the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo triangle.

This spotlighted the position of Jugoslavia, sole Balkan nation remaining outside the war lineup.

Jugoslavia seemed to be playing for time. Amid all the excitement her foreign minister, Alexander Cincar-Markovitch, peacefully spent the day sight-seeing in Budapest where he had gone to renew friendship ties between Jugoslavia and Hungary.

There seemed to be a chance that Britain has not yet lost hope of steering Jugoslavia out of the Axis orbit.

Although it generally was blanketed by the Axis drum-beating over Bulgaria, the British were quietly pleased and confident as a result of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's discussions with Turkey.

It was believed in London that Britain had created in Ankara a firm line of resistance which may halt the Axis drive in Thrace, the strategic province of Turkey-in-Europe which protects the Dardanelles. Turkey is not expected to move out of her strong fortifications but may co-operate if the British

SEES TURKS ON BRITAIN'S SIDE

Ankara Spokesman Envisages Nation In War If Nazis Threaten Security.

(By International News Service)

ANKARA —(INS)— Turkey may be forced to fight "side by side" with Britain if German action in Bulgaria brings war to the Balkans and threatens Turkish security, an authoritative Turkish spokesman declared today.

This statement followed departure of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Gen. Sir John Dill, imperial chief of staff, for Cairo after mapping joint political, diplomatic and military plans with Turkish leaders at Ankara.

A communique, issued after Eden conferred with Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Moscow who rushed to Ankara to see his chief, said British and Turkish officials reached "complete agreement on all matters of mutual interest." It added the Balkan crisis was the subject of "special attention" of the Anglo-Turkish conferees.

The Ankara spokesman said Britain and Turkey must "envisage the possibility of being compelled to fight side by side" should a Nazi invasion of Bulgaria menace Turkey's security zone. He warned that any aggression against this zone "cannot be tolerated."

GIRL, 5, KILLED

Trainman Saves, Mother, Two Other Children at Shreve.

SHREVE — Five-year-old Irene Roberts who fell under the wheels of a Pennsylvania train yesterday despite the rescue efforts of a trainman, died last night in a Wooster hospital after one leg and a foot were amputated.

The little girl was injured while she was crossing the tracks beside her mother, Mrs. Elmer Roberts, who was pushing two other children in a baby buggy.

Seeing their danger, a trainman pulled the mother and two smaller children to safety, but Irene eluded his grasp and fell back under the locomotive. The mother said she did not see the approaching train as she started across the tracks.

The girl's leg, badly crushed, was amputated at the hip. The other foot was taken off at the ankle.

Aside from the reception Garbo had as a comedienne in "Ninotchka," the war apparently has scotched chances that she will resume soon in the femme fatale roles she used to play. When there was a large foreign market, Garbo's roles were selected mainly for that market, and what domestic audiences thought did not carry the weight it does today.

American audiences never went heavily for Garbo tragedies which Europeans devoured hungrily.

U. S. NEED FOR MACHINE TOOLS CALLED URGENT

Defense Officials Urging Sale Of Idle Equipment as 'Patriotic Service.'

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—An "extremely urgent" need for machine tools in defense industries was reported by the Office of Production Management today in appealing for idle equipment to be sold to armament makers as "a patriotic service."

The appeal was issued by Mason Britton, chief of the machine tool section of the OPM, who said that a large number of factories have machine tools that are either unused or partially used. He named specifically the automotive, railroad, canning, mining, textile, paper and printing equipment industries.

"Despite the remarkable record of the machine tool industry in expanding output of new equipment from a value of $200,000,000 in 1939 to an estimated $750,000,000 in 1941," Britton declared, "the need for more machine tools is extremely urgent.

"In view of the necessity of immediately expanding the production of armaments, this appeal is being made to the patriotism of every owner of a single idle machine tool."

He reported that the greatest demand is for boring mills, planers, radial drills, lathes and milling machines and "especially machine tools of the heavier type."

It is essential to the armament program, he declared, that such pieces as are idle be placed at the immediate disposal of defense production. Wherever duplicate machines are being used part time, Britton said, one could be used full time and the other sold for defense uses.

Sales can be made either direct to defense contractors, he said, or through second hand machine tool dealers who are in position to recondition them and re-sell them to defense manufacturers.

Industrialists were reminded by Britton that the defense commission had established maximum prices for second hand tooling equipment but he said that in view of the existing demand reasonable prices certainly could be obtained.

Machine tools are those used to make the machines which in turn are employed in the manufacture of finished products.

DIES AT AGE 91

Mrs. Ellen Simms Warne Lived In City All Her Life.

Mrs. Ellen Simms Warne, 91, lifelong resident of Mansfield, died early Friday afternoon at her home, 315 East Third street, following a brief illness.

She was born March 10, 1849 in New York and was a member of the First Christian church. Her husband, Frederick, preceded her in death in 1888.

She is survived by four sons, Albert, Fred and Harry of Mansfield, and Clarence of Dayton, and 10 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger will officiate at the funeral services to be held Monday at 2:30 p. m. at the Jones Memorial. Interment will be in Mansfield cemetery.

LAND PURCHASES ADDS TO CAMP

CAMP SHELBY, Miss.—(INS)—All privately owned land in the vast DeSoto National Forest reserve has been purchased by government agents and will be added to Camp Shelby, increasing its area by 10,500 acres.

The land sales affected 105 families. They were given 30 days to move and the government suggested other permanent locations for them within a 25-mile radius.

The increase in acreage will make the camp, expected by local army officials eventually to become the nation's largest, nearly 90,000 acres in area. As 90,000 troops are ultimately expected to be quartered there, this will provide nearly an acre per soldier.

WASH BABIES

MANCHESTER, Eng.—(U.P.)—Young men and women students of Manchester University have formed a "bath squad" as part of their contribution to the help being given to hard-pressed mothers of large families who have been bombed out of house and home.

The procedure is to gather up babies soon after breakfast, carry them to the men's and women's Unions, wash them in the basement a dozen at a time in bathtubs and wash basins, and then return them home to their mothers.

AUTO TAG SALE STARTS WITH RUSH AT RICHLAND AUTO CLUB

Mansfielders began an early morning rush for passenger automobile license plates as the first day of sale began at 8:30 a. m. at the Richland county Auto club, 56 North Mulberry street. The club will be open until 5 p. m. today, according to Frank Beverstock, secretary.

Approximately 11 tons of license plates will be on sale through the month of March, including more than 12,000 pairs of passenger plates and 5,000 truck tags, Beverstock said. Deadline for tags is April 1.

Passenger plates through the series, VX, VY, and VZ will be on sale the first week. Series numbers will then progress to the WA.-WB series.

The club expects to sell about 1,898 pairs of plates a week.

Total of 43 deputy registrars began sales today in Richland, Ashland, and part of Crawford Wayne, Holmes, Huron, Knox and Morrow counties.

GREETS PASTOR

Congregation Gives Dinner at Bucyrus Church.

BUCYRUS — The congregation of First Presbyterian church officially welcomed its new pastor, Rev. C. D. Loehr and his family at a congregational dinner meeting at the church, last night when the family was formally presented to the congregation by E. J. Ellis, Sunday school superintendent and Bucyrus school teacher.

Rev. Loehr came here three weeks ago to replace Rev. R. F. Mitchell, who exchanged pastorates with Rev. Loehr at Greenville, Ill.

One hundred and 50 attended the dinner. Other speakers included James R. Hopley, veteran member of the congregation.

Negro Gets Relief, Conducts Business on Side.

CINCINNATI — (U.P.) — One Negro resident of Cincinnati was found today to have been extremely resourceful in supplementing his $25.80 bi-weekly relief check from the city.

An investigator reported that, in addition to receiving the relief check, the Negro: Had worked for a contractor at $6 per day. Owns his coal business and a soft drink stand, hiring others to run them. Owns a pleasure automobile and a truck.

At present he is vacationing in the western part of the United States.

CALLS FIREMEN TO RESCUE MATE

OLEAN, N. Y. —(U.P.)—An alarm brought firemen on the rush to a building in the city's business section.

Followed by his men, Capt. Walter J. Reilley hurried to the second floor of the building. He was met by a distraught woman.

"He's in there! Hurry and get him out, please," she urged.

"Who's in where, what goes on?" queried the puzzled fireman.

"My husband," the woman explained. "The door of his room is locked and he can't get out. I didn't know what else to do, so I called the fire department."

Up and Down the Street

Eight little boys and one little girl, mutes who are attending Carpenter school, read the funnies last Sunday and looked through the paper. A picture of two girls modeling mittens which British War Relief society members were sending to New York for shipment, caught their eyes. Monday morning their teacher was assailed with pleas of "Why can't we knit some of those mittens without fingers?" "Please get us some wool and let us make them." So to the British War Relief office teacher went and returned with bundles of wool. The nine to eleven-year olds are busy now, doing their knitting for the British across the sea.

The Friendly House will deliver the pianos if there are any offers from housewives who might find a spare piano in the attic at house-cleaning time.

KNEW COLONELS

Governor Who Gave Titles Dies In Kentucky Town.

MADISONVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Ruby Laffoon, who created thousands of "Kentucky colonels" while he was governor of Kentucky from 1931 to 1935, died early today after a long illness. He suffered a paralytic stroke last week.

Laffoon's term as chief executive was marked by a bitter intra-party fight over a state sales tax and the method of choosing the party's gubernatorial candidate. A. B. (Happy) Chandler led the opposition.

After leaving office, Laffoon returned here to practice law.

LEGEND CITES SEA TREACHERY

NAG'S HEAD, N. C.—(U.P.)—The legend of how Nag's Head, situated on the Outer Banks of North Carolina's coast, got its name is older than anybody's memory.

Dangerous shoals made it impossible for ships to pass near the present site of Nag's Head, the legend goes, without running aground. The isolated inhabitants hit upon an idea which was distressingly successful.

The man tied a lantern around a mule's neck and led the animal up and down the beach, giving the impression to passing ships that it was a buoy. When the ships approached the swaying lights they ran aground and the primitive people of the banks scurried over the shoals, boarded the vessel, and confiscated what they wanted of the cargo.

METHOD HIT; BUREAU POINTS OUT SURPLUS

Says State May Lose Part of U. S. Treasury Fund by Not Streamlining.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—An equivocal method of determining "average weekly wages" is the top need in the Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation's streamlining program, the BUC's state advisory council asserted today.

Reporting to Gov. John W. Bricker, the council also said that:

1. Ohio probably will have more than $200,000,000 to its credit in the United States treasury's unemployment compensation trust fund at the end of 1941, and that there is no assurance that large surplus funds will remain to the credit of those states which now have them because of "a growing amount of discussion of the possibility of federalization of a part or all of the reserve funds in one form or another."

2. "At the present rate of benefit payments the funds would last for about seven years if contributions were to cease entirely. x x x Ohio is paying in unemployment compensation taxes about $35,000,000 more per year than is needed to meet present benefit payments, thereby resulting in the withdrawal of this large sum from the purchasing power of the state."

3. "During the past four years practically every state has made important revisions of many of the provisions of its law. Ohio is one of the very few states which has not made a major revision of its law."

4. "Although an amendment 'freezing' or establishing benefit rights of persons inducted into military or naval service is not necessary for conformity with federal legislation, nevertheless the council believes that such persons not be placed at a disadvantage by virtue of induction into such service."

5. "It would be highly desirable if Ohio exemptions conformed more closely with those under the federal unemployment tax act, except for the size-of-firm difference."

6. "The name of the agency (the BUC) should be changed to the department of employment security x x x."

7. "Ohio should adopt the system of benefits for partial employment which is generally prevalent in other states. Under this system a worker is partially employed, in any week of less than full-time work, in which his earnings drop below his weekly benefit amount. His benefit for such a week of partial employment would be the difference between his actual earnings and his weekly benefit amount, plus $2 added as an incentive to encourage partial employment in preference to total unemployment."

Believe Discovery Will Double Life Of Defense Items

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Development of a new cleansing agent which is expected to double the life of certain strategic defense metals was reported today by a Wyandotte, Mich. research chemist.

Aluminum and light metal alloys used in airplane and anti-aircraft shell manufacture are given greater protection against corrosion by bathing them in the cleansing solution, Dr. Thomas R. Vaughn declared.

The chemist described the unpatented chemical formula as a refinement of detergents previously used for cleaing metals, plus some new chemicals.

The detergent bath precedes the finishing process, removing lubricants used in metal fabrication and foreign matter which might cause rust.

W. M. Cole, manager of the metal cleansing division of J. B. Ford company, Wyandotte firm which developed the detergent in its laboratories, said "by doing a better job of cleaning, it gives these metals greater wearing qualities and reduces rejections defects."

DEATH MOURNED

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—Mrs. Ethel New Roberts, 78-year-old cousin of Mark Twain who came across the plains to a homestead in Oregon in 1856 recently died at her homestead-home near Sandy, Ore.

She recalled her arrival in Oregon and their 160-acre "farm" covered thickly with virgin fir trees 300 feet tall and so thick a wagon had trouble getting through. Also remembered were her casual mentions of walking regularly to the town of Sandy, four miles distant, with a baby in one arm and carrying a basket of wild blackberries on the other.

certainly be adequately debated, and this without any necessity for, or reference to a filibuster.

Sen. Lodge (R., Mass.) said that if a filibuster develops he hopes to gain acceptance of his bill providing $2,000,000,000 credits to Britain, Canada and Greece.

Lucas, Sens. Tunnell (D., Del.) and Smathers, (D., N.J.) were scheduled to carry the brunt of the administration fight in debate today, with Sen. Wheeler completing a long, prepared speech denouncing the bill is inviting dictatorship and war.

Describing H. R. 1776 as a peace measure, Lucas flayed those who seek to create war hysteria.

"The people of the United States know that the president loves peace," he said. "They know that the man who conceived and executed the great program of social justice that he gave them is not, and cannot be, war-minded.

"The people know that a love for humanity, such as the president has demonstrated, cannot exist in the same heart and mind as a love for war."

No war-monger, he said, ever carried forward such a program of social justice as has President Roosevelt.

The people know, he said, that Mr. Roosevelt "will avoid war so long as it is within his power to avoid it."

Lucas also assailed those who say that Mr. Roosevelt seeks to become a dictator under the bill.

America, he said, is schooled in self-rule and independence.

"To say that the United States senate, by passing this lease-lend bill, is starting the American people into the abyss of home-Hitlerism is to misjudge everything in the warp and woof of American character," said Lucas.

He declared that if the bill is passed, the British fleet will still stand between the dictators and a free America.

"If Great Britain falls," he warned, "Japan will carve up the Orient while Hitler enslaves Europe and Africa. Then the victors will partition South America and build war bases to the very edge of the Panama canal. To deny this prospect is to live in a fool's paradise." Lucas said he would support amendments to the bill, but did not specify which ones.

Despite talk of a filibuster, senate leaders and foes of the bill reached an agreement to begin sessions of the senate at 11 a. m. —one hour earlier than usual—on Monday.

The hope voiced a few days ago of ending the debate today, however, was crushed. Sen. Walsh, (D., Mass.) may speak Monday. Sens. Wheeler, Nye and Reynolds, (D., N.C.) plan speeches next week, while Sen. George (D., Ga.) chairman of the foreign relations committee, also plans to speak.

HILLMAN SEEKS TO END STRIKE

Federal Officials Step In On Labor Troubles At Two Cities.

(D-Tex) of the house judiciary committee outlining a method he suggested should be made mandatory when efforts to settle a labor dispute by conciliation break down.

His proposal included these points: No strike to be called without authorization of at least 60 per cent of the employes in the affected plant; an investigation, if a strike were voted, by an OPM committee which would report within 10 days; 30-day period then to elapse before work could be stopped.

One strike was settled, another one started yesterday.

A 10-day walkout by members of the International Association of Machinists (AFL) at the National Supply company, Philadelphia, ended when the company granted wage increases and met other union demands. About 225 workmen were affected.

A strike was called at the McCormick works of International Harvester company at Chicago. Officials of the CIO-Farm Equipment Workers Organizing Committee said the management declined to negotiate on union demands, which included wage increases and union recognition. Half a dozen men were injured in a melee which started soon after the strike was called. The plant employs 6,000.

Strikes already were in progress at three other International Harvester plants—the Chicago tractor works and units at Rock Falls, Ill., and Richmond, Ind.

Company officials said the McCormick works had no direct defense orders, but served other plants with collateral parts used in filling such contracts.

DISCUSS BILLS

Mansfield Business Men Meet With Legislators.

Legislation pending in the Ohio's general assembly was discussed last night when Richland county's three representative sin the legislature met with a group of business men at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Attending the meeting were State Senators Joseph Jameson, and J. H. Rogers and County Representative John L. Catlett.

Tax reductions and economy in government were emphasized during the discussion in which about 20 business men took part. Each of the legislators spoke briefly.

The meeting was arranged by the Chamber of Commerce committee on state legislation. E. H. Brown, chairman of the committee, presided.

LION PURRS

March Starts With Roar But Soon Tames Down.

The March lion rushed into Mansfield this morning in proverbial style, looked around a bit, began to purr, and by noon it had decided to snooze a bit and let the spring lamb take over.

The low mercury reading last night was eight above zero. At noon, the temperature had climbed to 20 and was still going up.

The weather forecast predicted colder weather tonight and warmer tomorrow.

On the east and west coast March came in like two lions. Near hurricane winds swept the California coast causing high damage. New Jersey on the east coast bore the brunt of a storm that covered New York and parts of New England bringing out crews of men to fight mounting snows.

STUDENT TO GIVE TALK AT CHURCH

Ivor Willis, a young theological student from Akron, will preach Sunday at the Clay Memorial, Oakland, and Mt. Hope Lutheran churches pending the placing of a new pastor on the charge.

The three churches have had no regular pastor since Rev. F. W. Shirey resigned last month to accept the pastorate of a charge near Springfield.

Willis, who will graduate from the Lutheran Theological seminary in Philadelphia in May, will be eligible for placement then.

RELIGIOUS FILM SERIES STARTS AT ST. PAUL'S

Vesper Services to Be Held Weekly; Pastor Plans First Of Sermon Series.

A series of Sunday evening vesper services will begin Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at the St. Paul Lutheran church, according to Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor. The first in a series of four programs of talking motion pictures featuring "The Life of the Apostle Paul" will be given Sunday under the subjects, "On the Road to Damascus," and "The Way of Salvation." These services will be sponsored by Thursday Nighters, senior young people's group in the church.

Using as a background the words spoken from the cross, Rev. Gilbert will present a series of seven sermons during the worship periods at 10:30 a. m., beginning Sunday with the subject, "Father, Forgive." Other subjects will be "Today Be With Me," "Woman, Behold Thy Son," "My God, Why?" "I Thirst," "It is Finished," and "But God Didn't Forget." During the morning service Sunday the two advanced groups of the children of the church will convene, and the nursery program will be supervised by Mrs. C. L. Moore and Betty Rowe.

The dads and sons of the church will hold the annual father-son dinner Monday at 6:30 p. m. Floyd Dent, Boy Scout executive, will be the speaker and will show motion pictures. Committee members are O. L. Seybold, Floyd O'Brien, Russell Moore, P. M. Pasheilich, Howard Stauffer, and Rev. Gilbert.

A week of prayer services will be sponsored by the Missionary society in five homes this week. Monday the groups will meet with Mrs. Martin W. Wappner at the Ohio State reformatory; Tuesday, Mrs. H. CHURCHES HERE OBSERVE WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

Pastors Join to Assist In Services Friday at Grace Episcopal Church.

Friday was observed as the World Day of Prayer for home and foreign missions and Mansfield women of all denominations met in various groups to celebrate the first Friday in Lent. A general meeting was held at 2 p. m. at the Grace Episcopal church yesterday with women of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faith assembled together for devotions.

Pastors from the local churches assisted with the service. The observance is held annually throughout the world. It was first observed in 1927 and by 1935 Christians of more than 50 countries were celebrating the event.

As far back as 1887 Presbyterian women in the United States came together at the suggestion of Mrs. Darwin James, president of the Woman's Board of Home Missions, to pray. Interest in the day steadily increased and in the early 90's through the activities of Christian women a day was chosen for united prayer. In 1920, both in Canada and the United States, church women of all denominations united for this purpose.

Full Schedule at First Lutheran

A full schedule has been arranged for members of the congregation of the First Lutheran church for the coming week. At the morning worship period at 9:45 a. m. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor, will preach on "God and His Love." Miss Althea Lorentz will sing the offertory solo, "The House of Calvary" by O'Hara. The anthem selection is "No Shadows Yonder."

At 7:30 p. m. Rev. Swoyer will speak on "God on the Cross." The offertory number will be "I Heard the Voice of Christ" and the anthem is "Jehovah's Praise Prolong."

Members of the fifth district will meet at 1 p. m. Wednesday at the Parish house for knotting of comforts. There will be a council meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. and Women's Missionary society will convene Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

"How to Keep Lent" will be the topic discussed by Denny Landon at the intermediate Luther league session Sunday at 6:30 p. m. At the senior meeting the topic will be "How Can I Be Sure of God?" led by Ruth Baer. Doris Simmons will lead the topic, "How Can We Be Sure of God?" at the Young People's meeting.

Adult catechetical class will begin at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the assembly room.

Midweek Lenten service will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. Dr. Swoyer will preach on the second word in the series of "Seven Words From the Cross." The church quartet will sing "Jesus, Pitying the Sighs" at this service.

The Wittenberg rally of Mansfield area will be held Tuesday in the church auditorium at 7:30 p. m. for church councils. Sunday school teachers and officers and leaders of all organizations of the Lutheran churches.

Week of prayer is being observed by all Lutheran churches. The first Lutheran will be on Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. in the assembly room and on Wednesday evening, combined with the Missionary meeting at 7:30 p. m. in the Parish house. On Friday evening the meeting will be with the Florence Welty Missionary society at 7:30 p. m. in the Parish house. All women of the church and friends are invited to attend these sessions.

First Methodist Church Services

"The Yearning of Humanity" is the sermon topic to be given by Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor of the First Methodist church at the morning service Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Musical numbers will include "Abide With Me," a solo to be sung by Dr. Ralph Wadsworth, and "Praise the Lord," an anthem, by the choir.

During the worship period junior church will be held in charge of Mrs. Edward Gibson and Mrs. Ray Osbun. Nursery school will also be held at that time when small children will be cared for by Mrs. Denny Skelton and her assistants.

Miss Winifred Bauer will conduct the Epworth League meeting at 6:30 p. m. when the topic will be "The Value of Work."

Other meetings scheduled for the week include adult prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.; W. S. C. S. unit luncheon at 11:30, followed by a business meeting Thursday to be attended by all circles; official board meeting at the home of W. C. Mansfield, 47½ Sturges avenue, Thursday at 7:30 p. m.; church board of education meeting Tuesday at which time a covered dish dinner will be held at 6:30 p. m. Mrs. Charles Ray and a group of young people will be in charge of the devotions and a planning conference will follow.

Conduct Revival Services Here

Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Wishart, Canadian evangelists, will hold a series of revival meetings at the Grace Gospel church, 95 East Third street, beginning Sunday and continuing through March 16. Sunday services will be held at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Services will be held every evening at 7:30, except Saturday.

Morning services will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 10 a. m. and a service will be held on Friday for women only at 2:30 p. m.

Says 'Numbers' Sold In State House

ACCORDING to Albert A. Shilling, Stark county representative in the state legislature, the "numbers" racket has invaded the state house in Columbus.

It appears that Representative Shilling has become all hot and bothered by this discovery and it is reported that his colleagues were "startled" when he charged, on the floor of the house, that numbers are purchased by state employes during working hours and that "these gambling practices have continued for such a time as to indicate an indulgence or tolerance" on the part of department heads.

So disturbed was Representative Shilling that he offered a resolution asking Governor Bricker to issue an executive order to suppress all forms of gambling on state property. "Continuance of these practices in the very seat of government constitutes an inexcusably poor example for the people of the state of Ohio," Mr. Shilling expostulated.

Whether Representative Shilling is naïve, or merely kidding, has not yet been made clear—but one or the other seems obvious. If he has been around during the past few years he must have realized, long before now, that the "numbers" racket has developed into one of the most widespread and lucrative illegal activities in the state.

Just why the state house should be specifically designated for law enforcement against "numbers" selling is not understandable as state employes seem no more entitled to protection against this vicious racket than other citizens—especially the extremely poor people who buy "numbers" with pennies and nickels badly needed for other purposes.

Representative Shilling is right, however, in asking that all forms of gambling on state property be suppressed—he might even have gone further and proposed an executive order to ban the "numbers" racket from the entire state.

More People Discovering America

ACCORDING to figures of the department of commerce, money spent in Europe by travelers from the United States in 1940 was, for the first time in many years, less than that spent by European visitors to this country.

This is, of course, due to the war. Americans can't get into the war-torn or occupied countries just for the pleasure of travel. Those with real business—such as newspaper correspondents, special observers, and so on—are still going over, but with ever-increasing limitations on their activities.

In the meanwhile new travel areas are opening up for them. There is the north-and-south movement between the two American continents. There is also the increase in travel within the United States, stimulated by the fairs held on the two coasts last year and the year before, and also by opening of new national park areas.

When the war is over there will no doubt be a revival of travel to the Old World. But it is hardly likely that travel within America will drop off much. Too many citizens here have been delighted with their discovery of the scenic and historic offerings of their own land and the endless opportunity for enjoyment the year around.

New License Plates Ready

STARTING today, Mansfield motorists can get their new license plates at the Richland County Automobile club's headquarters. Elks' building—and by doing this within the next week or two they will save time and avoid annoyance.

Use of the new license plates is not required until April 1, which gives a full month in which to take care of this small matter, which takes only a few minutes—except for those who wait until the final rush.

And there'll undoubtedly be a last-minute rush, just as there has been in previous years, for procrastination is a favorite trait of a number of people and when all the procrastinators form in line waiting to get their license plates it makes quite an impressive assemblage.

But that needn't worry YOU—for of course you'll look after getting your new license plates within the next few days—or by the middle of March at the latest.

Demonstration of Dictatorship

ONE DAY'S experience under a "dictatorship" was enough, pupils of the Sag Harbor, N. Y., schools decided, after a brief experiment in totalitarianism.

For one day, under direction of the school principal, the methods of a dictator were adopted in the conduct of school sessions. Freedom of speech or action was banned, with "secret police," concentration camps, and everything that goes with the iron rule of dictatorial power.

The demonstration was intended to familiarize children in the schools with the difference in living conditions in this country and those in countries where all personal liberties are denied.

While general use of such a program may not be practicable it would appear that education should at least extend to giving all American children full information on this subject.

Wine Markets Closed By War

A VINTNER undertakes to spread cheer by telling California grape-growers that the war blight on European vineyards has made a potential market for 17,000,000 gallons of American wine. This hopeful statement seems to suggest that Americans can soon go ahead and sell their native wine to the world.

And so they might, perhaps, if somebody could solve the problem of getting their wine to the foreign markets after they have produced it. The same war conditions that are preventing wine-growers of Europe from producing and distributing their product as usual are also preventing us from getting ours to them. We can't send it across, and they couldn't pay for it if we did get it there.

There can be, of course, a more intensive cultivation of our American wine market, which got a considerable start in the last war.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It will be a pity if the Aquarium, which is one of New York's most colorful and best-beloved landmarks, has to be sacrificed to "progress."

Yet this may soon take place. Mr. Robert Moses, the commissioner of parks, says the old building at the tip of the Battery should be torn down and moved to another section of the city, probably the Bronx.

If they go through with this they will be destroying an old fort, built originally in 1807 and devised for the defense of New York harbor.

After it had outlived its usefulness as a fort it was turned into something of a pleasure resort and became celebrated, under the name of Castle Garden, as the place where Jenny Lind first sang before an American audience. It was there, too, that Morse demonstrated his findings with electrical currents. At least two presidents — Jackson and Tyler — were entertained there, and so was the Marquis de Lafayette.

* * *

IN LATER years, when it became a wonder of marine life, it was visited by tens of millions of visitors. Writers from all over the world have paused in admiration before its tanks and have gone away to record their impressions. Of all writers who have been enthralled by it I think Paul Morand best understood its strange drama and caught its color.

"One of the beauties of New York," he wrote, "is the silent to-and-fro passage of the long black sturgeons, the monstrous darting of the great turbots. In each tank, like the model of a mythological submarine ballet with its setting of rocks and grass, the bubbles shoot up to the surface like fireworks. Colored fish from the tropics, trout from the icy great lakes, streaked catfish, seals and sharks. Most monstrous of all is the June-fish, which I first knew four years ago when it was called the Jew-fish; fat, bald, oriental, open-mouthed, waving its fins like stumpy arms, it watched Wall street with its small, haggard, keen, marble-hard eye — so ugly a creature that New York Jews demanded that his name should be altered. . . ."

* * *

AS WAS to be expected, a squall has burst around Mr. Moses' head because of this decision. Indignation meetings are being held, and the mailbags of New York's editors are filled with letters of protest. But I think it would take something approximating a "march on Rome" to sway the commissioner, who is a man of determination and who does not mind a good fight.

Moses has done a good job beautifying parks and highways in the metropolitan area, and he usually has his way. But he may run into considerable opposition before the wrecking crews actually descend on the old Aquarium, which sits at the tip of Manhattan island like a squat round cheese.

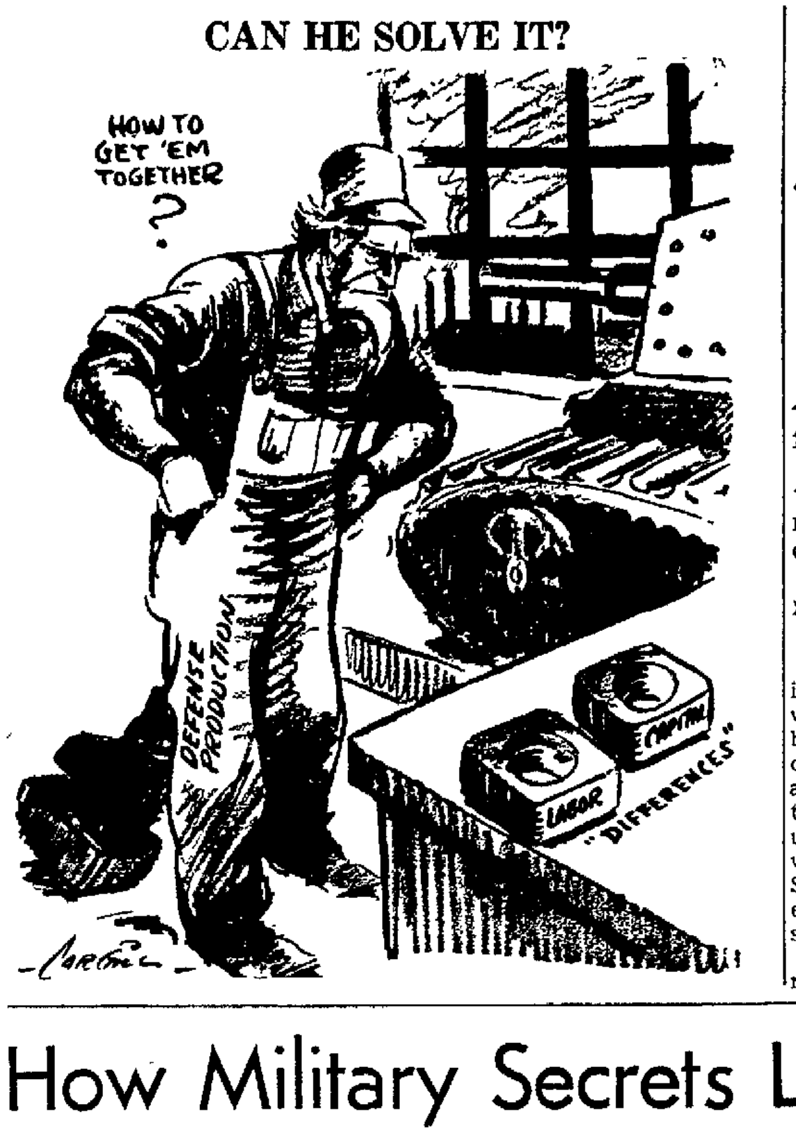
CAN HE SOLVE IT?



How Military Secrets Leak Out

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Suggestions are pouring in on the White House as to how to solve this business of preventing the newspapers from publishing information of military value to this country's enemies—or, since we are not at war, it might be more accurate technically to say information knowledge of which by certain foreign nations would be adverse to this country's interests.

None of them, so far as this writer has been able to learn, go to the heart of the problem. Neither President Roosevelt's dissertation to newspaper correspondents, his blame seemingly aimed at the publishers, but believed by the publishers and newspaper men to be really aimed at the congressmen who revealed the facts to news writers, nor any other comments on the situation, would plug the really dangerous leak!

* * *

ALL THE criticism so far has assumed that the spies or secret agents of foreign governments, or their embassies or legations for that matter, get their information from the newspapers. Now this assumption, flattering as it may be to newspaper writers and publishers as individuals, is too childish for words.

Let's look at what actually happened in this much talked about incident. Chief of Staff Marshall talked to a senate committee in executive session. Somebody who heard him "leaked" to news writers, whereupon some of the things he said were printed next morning. The ticklish part of this was that the United States was rushing fighting planes to its Pacific fleet, as though there were a probability that this fleet might fight the Japanese.

Now assume for a moment that there had been no leak to the newspapers. Assume nothing had been printed about this. In the first place, the physical movement of the planes to the Pacific Fleet was probably known in Tokio before General Marshall talked to the committee. If it was not, the Japanese espionage system is not what it is cracked up to be.

But suppose it was not. Suppose it was a dark secret until General Marshall took the senate committee into his confidence. Here you would have a group of senators—fifteen or eighteen in number—hearing a startling piece of information. One or more of them could not resist talking to newspaper men about it. Suppose the newspaper men either had not talked to the senators itching with a desire to tell a story certain to shock the listener—one of the most human urges—or that, hearing it, they were bound by some sort of censorship, voluntary or forced, which prevented their writing it.

Does anyone have the slightest doubt that this story would have been told at a dozen dinner parties that night? Does anyone doubt that the Japanese embassy would have heard it before midnight? Less important stories get around much faster than that in Washington.

* * *

AND this is on the assumption that the Japanese would not be looking for the story. Does anyone doubt, with General Marshall appearing before an executive session of the senate military affairs committee, in the midst of a world situation in which the Japanese naturally think their activities are the most important, that the Jap's would have been straining every nerve to find out whether Marshall had said anything which might interest them? One should not assume that the Japanese were any less interested or resourceful than the newspaper men who found committee members willing to talk.

What this government should do to protect its secrets is a problem, but certainly the answer is not so simple as to stop the newspapers from printing them.

Listen World!

From the Roots

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WE'RE cutting down the old acacia from the back of the garden today. The garden of the city house lies on the slope of Twin Peaks . . . heaves up into the forest . . . a tangle of moss-grown paths and ferny pools edged with ferns. And, for years, the old acacia—they call it mimosa in Italy—has spread over the garden from the bank above . . . spreading its golden balls of fragrant fluff in the spring . . . webbing its cool, green darkness against the summer sun.

For long, long years it has sheltered the little shrines... the moss-grown trails. But this year, in the big rains, its old roots slipped . . . its heavy trunk came slipping down. It perilled all of us who lived below. And so, today, we're cutting it down, limb by limb. And watching, something in my heart aches wrenchingly. For it has so long been my friend, that fine, old tree. I walked beneath it with the boy who's gone. I dreamed beneath it in the days which saw great changes come. And wept beneath it when a greater, dearer chance was gone.

One comes to love a tree like that. In time, it comes to be the symbol of all love and strength just as some lives do, lives on whose strength we lean. The lives that give you comfort, beauty and security. And then . . . one day the strong one goes. As this has gone. And you are sure that love has left your life. That there will, never more, be shelter, fragrant bloom or peace.

But do not be too sure!

We're cutting down the old, top-heavy tree . . . but we will leave its trunk. And, from that trunk, in time, will spring new shoots. New shoots as sturdy and as fragrant with new bloom as those I knew when this old tree, and I, were young.

And so it is, I think, with love. The roots that really strike the deep depths of the soul, live on forever.

The storms may come and break the spreading boughs. Accidents . . . hurts . . . that scar the lusty trunk. Even a seeming death that breaks both bloom and bough. But deep within the soil, the life goes on.

Deep in the soil . . . the soul . . . the roots of love go on.

The tree we know may never come again. Its certain shape may no more loom against the sky. The dear, loved limbs may be a memory—

But that from which it sprang, can never die.

FOR LOVE PERSISTS.

If once you've really loved, its fragrance will abide for life. Always, in what you do or dream or dare, its beauty will go on.

And from its hidden roots, new shoots will spring. They may not bear the shape of that dear shelter which you've lost. But they, too, will give shelter, to more grieving hearts . . . comfort and haven, if you'll have it so. And, in that comfort, you may find the healing for your own deep hurt.

Do not think love is lost because its first fruits die. Beneath the leaves, the branches, and the sturdy trunk, there lies deep hidden roots which grip the heart. And from those roots, if you are willing, greater love will spring.

The Three Comrades.

The resignation of Comrade Earl Browder has brought another veteran to the helm of the Communist party in the United States. Robert Minor, the new general secretary, was one of three men credited collectively with founding the party back in 1919. His associates were Browder and William Z. Foster, the party's national chairman.

It is remarkable how Messrs. Foster, Browder and Minor have been able to retain command of the American Communists through all these years. In Russia the 1919 leadership of the Communist party has virtually disappeared. But here every one of the original comrades is still with us. Two explanations suggest themselves. First, the party has remained numerically so insignificant, that no new leaders of any ability have come up through the ranks, to challenge the triumvirate, and second, murder still happens to be contrary to American law.

Communism may be bush league politics in the United States but at least it is relatively safe for the players.—Kansas City Star.

THE Ohio anti-slavery society was organized at Putnam in Muskingum county in 1835 and held its first convention the next year in Granville.

Citizens of the village generally were not in harmony with the movement, fearing the peace and quiet of the town would be disrupted.

The Newark Gazette of March 31, 1836, carried a notice signed by all Granville officials and 69 other citizens forbidding the use of any room in the village for the convention.

The delegates arrived nevertheless on April 27, 1836. A meeting place had been provided in the Ashley A. Bancroft barn, a half mile north of town which was promptly named "The Hall of Freedom."

After the meeting delegates were pelted with missiles of all kinds as they passed through the village on parade. The session next day was held without incident, however.

Senate Hears Filibuster Threat As Lease-Lend Bill Moves Along

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

AN ELECTRIFYING word that chills or thrills lawmakers, according to their views, spread through the senate: filibuster.

The filibuster is usually a dramatic, last-ditch maneuver to talk a bill to death. A counting of heads showed that more than 50 senators—or a comfortable majority—were certain to vote for the British aid bill.

It was after this count that an unidentified senator told newsmen flatly:

"There will be a filibuster."

He added that several had indicated they would be willing to take their turns on the floor with lengthy orations against the bill. Senator Bulow (D-SD) opined, "I am not so sure but what a so-called senate filibuster, in continuing the debate upon this bill until Europe settles its own war, would be very beneficial. . . ." Senator Wheeler fought supporters' efforts to lengthen the daily sessions.

After an informal meeting Wednesday, however, 15 oppositionists agreed to wind up general debate during the week, though they considered further talks afterward when amendments were to be discussed.

LaFollette Sees War Power.

During much of the week many opponents were given a chance to deplore the bill.

Senator McCarran (D-Nev) asserted that if the bill passes the draftees who go to the army next month will "go for good."

His body vibrating with the vehemence of his words, normally-calm Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis.) said the bill gives FDR "power to create a state of war" and leave to congress "merely the Hitler-Reichstag power of saying 'Ja' after the act has been committed.

Senator Murray (D-Mont) answered with: "To my mind most of the attacks on this measure as taking us into war and setting up a dictatorship are mere oratorical outbursts." He said the bill related solely to America's defense.

When the president mentioned that he thought England's first job was to win the war, Senator Wheeler called the statement "shocking."

Administration leaders indicated they might accept further amendments. But they were chary toward the Ellender amendment which stipulated that the bill gives FDR no additional powers to send American troops outside the Western Hemisphere, except to U. S. possessions.

Germans apparently entered the argument when Dienst Aus Deutschland declared that the German naval forces had sunk in two days more shipping tonnage than the U. S. produced in 1939.

At Home

America Arms.

Within two months after the president sent his budget message to congress, he put through a rush request for $3,812,000,000. It was to take care of "contingencies."

About half of this sum, however, represented no increase but simply money wanted in a hurry to start work which originally wasn't scheduled until the next fiscal year. The other half represents an actual expansion, with the bulk of it to go to the air corps.

Secretary of War Stimson told a senate committee that the army air corps now has about 4,000 planes.

Peanuts, Said Batt.

For Americans who think we have Adolf Hitler frightened by our present clip in sending supplies to Britain, William L. Batt, executive of the Office of Production Management, had these blunt words:

"Since last summer this country has provided Britain with far less than Hitler has been able to extort from France alone. . . . Let us not forget that the aircraft factories of the occupied countries alone can more than match our shipments."

To tip the scales of armamant in favor of Great Britain, Batt said, "We must multiply by three, four, five and even 10 times our present rate of shipments to Britain."

* * *

On False Passports.

Communist Earl Browder prepared to begin a four-year prison term for using a fradulent passport. Monday night at a rally he offered a final blast: "If my kind of crime rates four years in prison what should be the punishment of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who got a third term on a false passport—a promise to keep America out of war, and he violated it."

* * *

For Cleaner Politics.

Political experts have said that the Hatch "clean politics" act bogged down in its first big national test last fall. They said its vagueness permitted wholesale evasion.

A grand jury in Washington, D. C., reviewed charges and reported on Tuesday that although "excessive sums" had been spent it found no evidence that federal laws actually had been violated.

Abroad

Hungry Europeans.

"Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium and France would actually be able to feed their people, despite the British blockade, if Germany were not adjusting their agricultural economies to her own food needs. . . ." Thus stated Dr. Frederick Strauss, U. S. Agriculture Department economist.

He said that Germany was "disregarding the food needs of the population in these countries" in extracting all the food she needs to overcome critical shortages at home, especially in meats, fats, vitamins and minerals.

* * *

Nipponese Flip-Flop.

Japanese diplomatic maneuvers in the far eastern crisis underwent a sudden about-face. Instead of crying that Britain and the U. S. were trying to encircle Japan, Tokyo cabinet ministers professed amazement at British-American uneasiness.

"For the past two weeks," said Foreign Minister Matsuoka, "Britain and others have been playing up stories in the press as if afraid of some positive action by Japan, despite the fact that, at least of late, Japan has not taken any positive action whatsoever in the South. I can hardly understand it."

* * *

Hitler's Warning.

A neutral naval observer in London predicted that Germany would loose 600 submarines, attacking in schools, against Britain's sea commerce in a Spring sub-offensive.

Adolf Hitler followed this up three days later by warning that he was preparing for a tremendous U-boat assault and said that in the past two days his subs and planes had destroyed 215,000 tons of British shipping. (The average for the war has been about 62,000 a week.) A British source denied the claim.

Il Duce said that from now on Italy "will march to the end side by side with Germany."

Labor

CIO: Two Big Objectives.

So strongly did the newly-born CIO feel its oats in 1937 that its auto workers won a contract from the largest employer in their field, General Motors, and steel workers signed with their biggest employer, U. S. Steel.

But four years of huffing and puffing have failed to blow in the doors of the next largest steel company, Bethlehem, and the third largest auto company, Ford. During the past week CIO's redoubled efforts to force these companies with large defense contracts to sign made news.

Ford—After weeks of flare-ups, the CIO auto workers' union notified the state labor board that it intended to strike at the Rouge, Highland Park and Lincoln plants in the Detroit area. The board requires a 30-day notice of intent to strike in an industry engaged in defense production. Officials said these plants employ 95,000 men.

Out in the Richmond, Calif., plant, the management was ordeerd by NLRB to rehire with back pay 142 CIO workers who had not been rehired after a brief shutdown in 1937. The company also was ordered to bargain collectively with CIO.

Bethlehem—At its Lackawanna, N. Y., plant CIO workers called a strike Wednesday to force the company to (1) rehire all employes who have been "indefinitely suspended," (2) raise wages 25% and (3) hold a labor board election. A spokesman said the union was now strong enough to "close every plant Bethlehem has.". Bethlehem has $1,500,000,000 in defense orders.

In Short

Indicted: Seventy-one persons by a Pittsburgh federal grand jury on charges of violating postal laws by operatingg a vast lottery based on treasury balances and sports results.

Crashed: An Eastern Airlines plane trying to land near Atlanta. The seven killed instantly included Rep. Byron (D.-Md.), Eddie Rickenbacker, company president, was among the injured.

Killed: In a plane crash over Newfoundland, Canada's Dr. Sir Frederick Grant Banting, whose co-discovery of insulin gave life to diabetics the world over and won him a knighthood and the Nobel prize. He was on a war mission.

Several Clubs Meet, Hear Varied Talks

PIETER DE HOOCH, the Dutch artist, was the subject of the paper presented by Mrs. Kenneth E. Buhr yesterday when members of the Art Study club met in the library of the First Congregational church. She told the history of his times, and compared them with present day events.

She pointed out that De Hooch lived in the period following the Spanish conquest of Holland, which is comparable to the present German conquest. She illustrated with prints, and described the pictures explaining that landscapes and Dutch life were the subjects of his art.

Hostesses were Mrs. C. K. Smaltz, Mrs. Carl Spangler, and Mrs. M. Vale Scouten. Mrs. P. B. Dietrichson, a guest, and Mrs. Robert Morris were at the table which was centered with an arrangement of calendulas.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Morris, Wellington avenue, March 14.

* * *

Mrs. Lewis Eiler, 158 West Fourth street, opened her home to members of the Mansfield Poetry guild yesterday for a regular session during which Mary Ellen Bechtel gave a paper on "Washington, Our National Capital." Mrs. H. R. Linham then read an original poem, "February."

She followed with "A Manchild Was Born" by Edgar Lee Masters; Miss Maude Miller then read two original selections, and Miss Bechtel gave three. Refreshments were served. Verda Barr, South Main street, will entertain March 21.

* * *

There were 11 members of the Timely Topics club present at the meeting which was held with Mrs. John Kunz, West Third street, yesterday. Mrs. Fred Walter gave the history of the Passion Play, and Mrs. Blake Shafer, Bellville, who has seen the original play, also spoke briefly. The next meeting will be held March 21 with Mrs. John Massa.

* * *

HAVE SESSION.

Members of the Bethany class of the Mansfield Gospel Center were the guests of Mrs. Clyde Swank, Johns avenue, yesterday. Following the business meeting, contests were held and Miss Dorothy Stambaugh was among the winners. A buffet luncheon was served. The next meeting will be held March 21 with Mrs. Curtis Glenn, Lincoln Heights.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, March 2.

SUNDAY'S horoscope should be particularly auspicious for the orthodox vocations and avocations of the Sabbath. All relating to the interests of the clergy, church and state, as well as literary, artistic and social activities are under highly propitious auguries. There may be unusually felicitious social activities, with much pleasure and foregathering. Elders are under very pleasing aspects.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of a year of great progress and prosperity, with increase of the fortunes, success in all professional as well as business interests, and with a decided enhancement of personal prestige and popularity. It is a time for reaching for advanced goals with the higher forces and faculties under exceptional stimulus.

A child born on this day should have great versatility and efficiency, fitting it for any number of the high places in life, with distinction and grace.

For Monday, March 3.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day of extreme activity, with fresh propositions as well as old established interests reaching high goals of initiative, expansion and fulfillment. In almost any direction the high water mark may be achieved, with brilliance and stability, although there may be a few subtle, intriguing or perplexing situations to successfully maneuver. Elders, superiors, property and industrial expansion may come to happy culminations.

Those whose birthday it is may be at the threshold of a year of high attainment and fulfilled ambitions, with all matters combining under an impetus to growth and expansion. Business, finance, property, travel, law, employment as well as social and domestic progress and pleasures are expected, although there may be intriguing circumstances calling for discretion.

A child born on this day should have an abundance of talents and capacities equipping it for exceptional success, prosperity and public preferment in life.

Mansfield Pair Wed

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT BROOK

Couple Give Vows Before Church Altar

MEMBERS of the immediate families only were present yesterday afternoon for the marriage of Miss Jane Weuthrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Weuthrick, 352 Harker street, to Robert Brook, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Brook, Upper Lucas road. The ceremony was performed at 5:45 p. m. by Rev. Herman L. Gilbert before the altar of the St. Paul Lutheran church.

Miss Louise Seybold, organist, and close friend of the bride's, played "Sweet Dreams" by Wagner, "Elegy" by Massenet, "Ava Maria" by Schubert, and "Because" by D'Hardelot preceding the ceremony. In addition to the traditional wedding marches she played 'I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond during the ceremony.

The altar was decorated with palms, ferns, two beauty vases of cut flowers, and two seven-branch candelabra. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

For the ceremony she was attired in a powder blue frock with a wide belt of chocolate brown and chartreuse. Her accessories were in powder blue, and she carried a white Bible to which two gardenias were fastened.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Norman Cheape, who was attired in a rose colored crepe with black accessories. Clark Brook, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A buffet supper followed at the bride's home. The table was centered with a cake and lighted by two branched candelabra. Following a short trip, the couple will return to Mansfield. No arrangements have been made as yet for their future home.

The bride, a well-known vocalist in Mansfield, was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school, and has been employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. She is a pledge of Chi Sigma sorority, and has studied voice both here and in Cleveland. Mr. Brook is also employed at the Westinghouse.

The United States has about 3,500 furniture manufacturing establishments.

Prune Cream Unusual Flavor

By BETSY NEWMAN

Have you made any ice cream lately, or do you make it only in the hot weather? Everyone considers it a treat and it is just as good during the winter months as it is in summer. Try a prune ice cream, which is delicious and good for old and young.

* * *

Today's Menu.

Broiled Pork Chops Applesauce
Scalloped Potatoes
Celery, Endive and Green Pepper Salad
Prune Ice Cream Coffee or Tea

* * *

Celery, Endive and Green Pepper Salad

1 stalk celery
Endive
½ green pepper

Wash endive well and cut leaves into small pieces, mix with diced celery and chopped green pepper. Moisten with mayonnaise or French dressing, and serve.

* * *

Prune Ice Cream.

2 cups uncooked, tender prunes
1 cup milk
½ cup granulated sugar
1 tsp. granulated gelatin
1 Tbsp. cold water
4 eggs, beaten
1 Tbsp. vanilla
¼ tsp. salt
½ pt. whipping cream

Wash prunes in hot water, cut from pits and put through food chopper, using fine knife. Combine milk and sugar and heat to boiling. Moisten gelatin in cold water, add to milk and stir until dissolved. Pour hot mixture over well beaten eggs, stirring to prevent curdling; add vanilla, salt, cream, prunes and beat until well blended. Freeze in refrigerator tray or pack in rock salt and finely crushed ice. Requires 5 to 6 hours, or may stand over night and will not become icy. Serves 6.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

HELENA BRIXTON bent her tall graceful figure over her daughter.

"Come, darling," she coaxed. "Come with Mother!"

She put her arm around the girl and led her toward the house, her husband fairly hovering over both of them. Dicky and I, following them into the house, as they evidently expected us to do, could not hear what Helena was murmuring to the girl, but Carolyn's answering shrill protest interpreted it.

"Oh! no! I don't need a doctor. I won't have one. If you get one here, I'll jump out of the window. All I want is a headache powder, and to be let alone so I can get some sleep. When I wake up, you can get in twenty doctors if you like, but leave me alone now. Dad!"

The last word was a trumpet call for the aid he had promised her, and Samuel Brixton responded valiantly.

"Let the poor kid alone, Helena," he said a bit militantly. "Madge has been right with her all the time, and she says all Carol needs is rest and sleep."

Helena turned her still beautiful eyes upon me, and I saw in them a flash of the intuitive maternal resentment at the dictum of any other woman disputing her own decision concerning the needs of her child. But another moaning appeal from Carolyn riveted her eyes again upon her daughter's face.

"Please Mums! Listen to Auntie Madge!" she pleaded. "And let me lie down!"

The struggle between maternal jealousy and common sense lasted but the fraction of a second. Then Helena turned to me.

"What is all this, Madge?" she asked.

I repeated quickly what I had told her husband, and when I had finished she nodded her comprehension and her acquiescense.

"All right, darling," she told her daughter. "We'll try your scheme. But if you're not better when you awaken, a doctor will be here inside of fifteen minutes."

"That's all right," Carolyn said dully, "but let's hurry upstairs."

"Right this second," her mother assured her, and the little procession passed from our sight.

"Well! you put that over, okay," Dicky said approvingly, when they had gone, but instead of answering, I gave him a silence signal, for I had seen a maid in cap and apron coming toward us, Helena being a woman who would invest her servants in uniforms, if she only had the fraction known as "part time workers."

She ushered us into a big twin bed guest room which I well remembered. It had the exquisite orderliness characteristic of Helena Brixton's entire household while every conceivable aid to a guest's comfort and enjoyment were visible on bureau, tables, and in the bathroom adjoining.

"Is there anything you would like me to bring you?" the maid asked.

"Nothing, thank you," I told her, and when she had closed the door shutting us in, Dicky looked quizzically at me.

"One question's settled anyway," he said. "We don't have to worry about being asked to stay overnight."

"No, she evidently expects we're going to be here that long anyway," I returned, sitting down in the nearest chair with the feeling of "let-down" which generally comes with the completion of a long journey.

"Pretty much all in, aren't you?" my husband asked solicitously. "Don't you think you'd better follow Carolyn's example and tuck yourself in for a nap? I'll make your excuse to Helena."

Fugitive on a Dude Ranch + +

CHAPTER XXIII

Approximately two minutes later, Cinders, laden with firewood, approached Cabin No. 1 and stopper outside the door. Heck! Bobbie must have company in there. Odd when he had seen no one except the girl go to this cabin. He'd wanted to talk with her. Embarrassed though he felt about bringing up unpleasant subjects, he had nevertheless decided that the suspicion which lay starkly and unpleasantly between him and Bobbie, the most adorable girl in the world, must be cleared away. If she could and would explain he'd believe her. He'd believe anything she chose to tell him—almost.

A low voice, which was slightly mocking and had also a metallic quality, came to Cinder's ears. "So you think I'm a dick? I might as well come clean. Your guess is correct, Miss Roberta Rowland."

Cinders started violently. In advertently he had overheard something last night which had shocked and numbed him. His seemed to be the role of eavesdropper again this morning and the correst thing to do was to fade away as silently as he had come. But curiosity overcame the prick of conscience. He had recognized the voice of Roger J. Barclay.

"Then I was right," said Nancy. "I've been wondering how soon you'd show your hand. I suppose the fellow hiding out in the woods is another—"

"Wrong," Barclay cut in. "I know nothing whatever about that tramp. But as you can see for yourself, I've uncovered your trail, and ——"

"Get down to brass tacks, Mister Gumshoe Detective. You've found me and now the point is, what are you going to do about it?"

"Miss Rowland, I knew all about you yesterday, the moment I laid eyes on you. But I did not send a wire to my—er—employer last night."

"I supposed that was why you went to Dagger Wash."

Cinder's left arm was numb from the heavy load of wood. Beads of sweat had started on his forehead.

"And I might have had you arrested for stealing my car," Barclay remarked cynically. "Or was that stealing?"

"Call it whatever you please." Nancy's voice was warming with vexation and anger. "Why didn't you wire——?"

"Hold that temper, girl. Does it occur to you that even a detective might be bought off?"

"Bought off?" Nancy repeated blankly. "I hadn't thought of that."

"Well, consider the idea, Miss—"

"I'm Bobbie on this ranch. Don't forget it."

"Okay by me. I won't forget it, if you keep things under your hat, Bobbie. . . . Why not wire the old man for ten grand? Slip the dough to Roger J. Barclay, ranch buyer, and he drives off, no one except you ever suspecting his real purpose in visiting this dude ranch and nobody ised up as to where Miss—uh—Miss Bobbie Rowland is hiding."

"Ten grand?" said Nancy as if considering the idea. "For that much you'll——"

"Think it over. I'll ask for your answer later. Good-bye."

* * *

Moved at last to action, Cinders went on to the next cabin and darted through its open door. A mirror on one wall showed Cinders a man's stricken face and for a minute he could not believe that face was his own.

Bobbie a crook! Hiding under an assumed name! Who was the "old man" she might wire for "ten grand?" Probably the boss of some notorious gang of thieves and killers.

"That gimlet-eyed dick's a crook, too. At least he was eager to have her buy him off. The louse!" Cinders exploded, and then sat on the woodbox in Cabin No. 2 and fanned his hot face with his hat.

He thought of something else. This girl had warned him not to mention his own name, Don Sturgis. Why had she done that? Work, he had heard, keeps men from going crazy when tragedy and disaster strike their wickedest blows. Therefore he went doggedly to work. Carrying wood to Kirk Maxwell's cabin, he found the door locked.

Maxwell opened it, saying crossly, "Don't bother me again. I'm writing a knockout article for my paper. I've pictures to develop and print, too."

"Sorry to have interrupted," said Cinders mechanically, and went away, his mind whirling off on another track. Desolated though he was, he must carry on for good old Bill. That damned article of Maxwell's must never reach the post office at Jimtown!

How stop it? A sudden inspiration. Tonight, Cinders would ask Bobbie to help him steal the manuscript and the picture. If she refused he would continue to believe in her in spite of Tony; in spite of the sneaking detective, too. If she consented—Cinders fetched a sigh all the way from his heels and strode to the cookhouse.

Continuing his "inspection" of the ranch, Smoothie Dick visited the bunkhouse. Underneath the pillow on the bunk used by Cinders Malloy, Smoothie placed a billfold of fine tooled leather stamped with the initials "J. W. S."

He was leaving when a soiled and grease-stained flannel shirt thrown carelessly on the bunk arrested his sharp eyes. Struck with an idea, Smoothie Dick tucked this under his coat and paid a visit to his car before resuming his tour.

Presently he was crossing Jim Creek. Not by the bridge where he was sure to be seen, but on up the valley above the buildings, where there was no bridge. Concealed by the tall pines on the hillside south of the stream he was walking up a narrow, little-used road when the voice of his pal hailed him.

"Where you been that you ain't showed up afore?" demanded Heavy. "Hell of a night I had!"

"Why, boy scout?" and Smoothie laughed. "Nothing wrong with the night. I drove to Dagger Wash and found this mountain air all that it's cracked up to be."

"Yah, smart guy. You chase off to town and guzzle liquor while I eat canned pork and beans. All the grub you gave me was them damned beans!"

* * *

The two crooks moved back into the woods, Smoothie remarking that beans were considered nourishing and Heavy should appreciate having them all ready and prepared in cans so no cooking was necessary.

But Heavy was not thus easily soothed. For a usually non-communicative fellow he had a great deal to say and he let himself go. Last evening cowpunchers had chased him and only the coming of darkness had saved him. And he had not dared to light a fire. He had lacked even the comfort of a cup-a-java.

Partly with cold, partly with fear, his teeth had chattered and his knees had knocked all night long. Wild animals prowled the woods. He had seen shining yellow eyes glaring at him. And to complete his misery the night had been made horrible by the blood-curdling yapping and howling of wolves or mountain lions or Indians, or all three.

"Coyotes," said Smoothie contemptuously. "I told you about 'em. You're better off here than if you were in stir eating bread and water."

"Lot of sympathy you got for me. S'pose you're going to bawl me out for letting myself be seen? I never meant to."

"Since you weren't nabbed, that'll work out okay. For when the robbery's discovered everybody on the dude ranch'll remember about the wild man up here in the woods, and no one on the rach itself'll be suspected."

"I ain't going to be here. Not another night."

"Yes, you are, Heavy. Till midnight, when we'll pull off the job. About 11 you sneak across the bridge and park yourself on the farther side of that first building you come to. They call it the cook-shack. Wait in the darkest spot you can find till I slip you the swag. No noise, because the old cook sleeps there."

"Now I'm going to wrap that stuff in an old rag, Heavy," Smoothie resumed, "and you leave it wrapped until you hand it over to me in Seattle. Remember, I'll hand it to you in the dark on the farther side of the cookhouse."

"But, Smoothie, I ain't got a nickel to eat on after I hop the rattler and take it on the lam for Seattle. Gimme some dough if you got any."

Smoothie Dick indulged in a reminiscent chuckle. Tony Perriwell, the poker player, has no doubt found that he is strapped once again. But he'll never suspect his drinking pal of having tapped him . . . "Here you are, Heavy," drawing from his right-hand trousers pocket a pair of pliers and two wrinkled five-dollar bills.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

ODDS IN SLAM DOUBLES

DID YOU ever calculate the odds against you if you double the opponents' slam contract? Leave out the question of whether your double helps the declarer make his contract, and simply reckon how many extra points your double gets you if you set him one trick, as against how many he gets from it if you don't set him. Take the not vulnerable situation first, with a major suit small slam. If he makes it, you double the value of his tricks, which is 180, giving him that many extra. If you set him one, you double your score of 50, giving you an extra 50. So are you willing to wager 180 to 50, or nearly 4 to 1, you will beat him? If not, don't double.

That bidding occurred in a rubber game in the Grand Bridge club conducted by the former world's three-cushion billiard champion in Pittsburgh, Charles Ellis, where Emil Ahlert, Arthur Shelgren, Robert Johnson, E. C. Donaghy and other fine players foregather. In the South was a brilliant newspaperman who wants to be anonymous, with Mr. Donaghy in the North. The most surprising thing about the deal was the fine restraint by Mr. Ahlert in the West, in refusing to double—real expert bridge. He reckoned that his cards were badly placed, the distribution freakish and a declarer on the job who was likely to get the most out of the hand, and he was right on all counts.

The diamond 3 was led and two plans unfolded themselves. One required an even split of both hearts and clubs, with East holding the heart J and West the club K. The other needed only an even break in hearts, a four-three in diamonds and the club K with West, so that is what the declarer sought. He ruffed the opener, sent the club Q to the K and A, tossed the spade 3 on the diamond A, ruffed a diamond, scored the three top trumps, led the club 6 to the 10 and then the diamond 5 to the K, discarding the spade 5. No matter what West returned, the last four tricks were declarer's, with the spade A, diamond 9 and 10 and club J.

Your Week-End Lesson.

In leading from a worthless doubleton, such as a 9-7, against a suit contract, why is it important to use the higher card rather than the lower one? Can you set up a hand on which it can mean the difference between the declarer making his contract, and your side beating him?

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 29

Deduction For Losses Other Than From Sale or Exchange of Capital Assets.

Deductions for losses are divided into four classes, and to be allowed must follow closely the wording of the income-tax law. Losses are deductible if incurred (1) in the taxpayer's trade, business, or profession; (2) in any transaction entered into for profit; (3) from fires, storms, shipwreck, or other casualties, or from theft; and (4) from wagering transactions.

Business losses result, usually, from the purchase and sale of merchandise. Such losses usually are ascertained by means of inventories, which are required whenever in the opinion of the commissioner of internal revenue their use is necessary to determine the income of any taxpayer.

The term "transaction entered into for profit" means any kind of business proposition. For example, a taxpayer purchases an automobile to be used solely for business purposes, and which is sold at a loss. As this is a business proposition from start to finish, the loss is deductible, subject to the limitations of section 117 as amended. But if he had purchased the automobile to be used for pleasure or convenience, the deduction would not be allowed; it was not a transaction entered into for profit.

A loss sustained in the theft of an automobile purchased for pleasure or convenience is deductible, as it falls in class 3. If, because of faulty driving but not of "willful negligence," an automobile maintained for pleasure is damaged, the taxpayer may claim the loss sustained, as it comes within the meaning of the word "casualty." Where damages result from the faulty driving of an automobile with which the automobile of the taxpayer collides, the loss occasioned the taxpayer likewise is deductible.

Losses from wagering transactions, whether legal or illegal, are deductible only to the extent of gains from such transactions. The excess of such losses over the gains is not deductible.

All losses are deductible only to the extent to which they are not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

PRESENTS CONCERT

CRESTLINE—Pruth McFarlin, negro tenor, of the music department of Piney Woods school at Piney Woods, Miss., will present a concert of sacred music in the Methodist church Sunday at 4 p. m. His wife, Hazel McFarlin, will be his accompanist.

RITES MONDAY

ASHLAND—Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Denbow Bear funeral home for Guy S. Sears who died in Cleveland at the City hospital Friday morning. Dr. B. F. Martin will conduct the services and burial will be made in the Ashland cemetrey. The body is at the funeral home where friends may call.

Mr. Sears was born in Ashland county, Aug. 29, 1889 and resided in Ashland 46 years where he operated the Sears Printing company. Recently he had resided in Cleveland. He was a member of the Church of Christ and the Elks lodge.

Survivors include one son, Robert, and three grandchildren, of Ashland.

FAVORS DOUBLE GUARD SYSTEM

Administration Would Enlarge Patrol Form State Guard, Report Declares.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—The administration was reported reliably today to have given the green light to proposals both for creating an Ohio state guard and increasing the manpower and authority of the highway patrol.

Republican leaders in the legislature are studying plans for a combination that would embrace a new guard of 1,000 to 1,500 men and increasing the patrol from 200 men to 400.

This would represent a compromise between the forces seeking a 4,000-man militia and those who want the patrol expanded to 500 men to provide an agency which could pinch-hit for the national guard, now in the federal service.

The enlarged patrol would be given full police powers only in an emergency specified by the governor. Its jurisdiction now is limited to matters affecting the highways.

The guard-patrol proposition is designed to please rural legislators, who want a bigger patrol, and the American Legion and other organizations which advocate a new guard.

Several months would be required to train the new patrolmen, while 300 officers and 2500 former national guardsmen are available for establishing a state guard within a month, informed sources said.

The senate military affairs committee will begin hearings Tuesday morning on the highway patrol bill. Opposition from sheriffs and other local law enforcement officers was reported increasing.

MEETING SET

ASHLAND—Ashland will entertain highway employes and engineers from several counties in an all state road building conference March 25 to 27. Erie, Lorain, Huron, Medina, Wayne, Ashland, Richland, Crawford, Knox, Coshocton, Guernsey, Muskingum, Licking, Perry and Fairfield counties will convene at Ashland. Other meetings will be held at Cincinnati, March 4-6; Marietta, March 11-13; Lima March 18-20; Akron April 1-3.

Speakers from the central office at Columbus will participate.

REDUCE HOURS

MILLERSBURG — Maintenance workers of the Holmes county highway department will be placed on a part-time working basis, it has been decided by the Holmes county commissioners.

This curtailment was necessitated by a present lack of maintenance funds and the expectation in the reduction in the amount of license tag money which will be received by the county from the state, commissioners said.

HAND INJURED

GALION—Clessan E. Brown of 510 South Market street, suffered injury to the second and third fingers on his left hand Thursday night while working at the North Electric Manufacturing company. He was taken to City hospital where half of his middle finger was amputated.

ADDRESSES STUDENTS

ASHLAND — "Curious Questions" was the title of the message brought to the members of the Ashland college seminary Thursday by Wayne Swihart, a junior in the seminary.

LaVonne Strine, pre-seminary student, led the devotions for the morning.

ENLISTS IN AIR CORPS

BUCYRUS—A second member of the C. I. Saffell family here went into United States army service Thursday, when Jack Saffell, who recently passed examination, left for Randolph field, Tex., to enter the air service. His brother, Lee, is with the national guard at Camp Shelby.

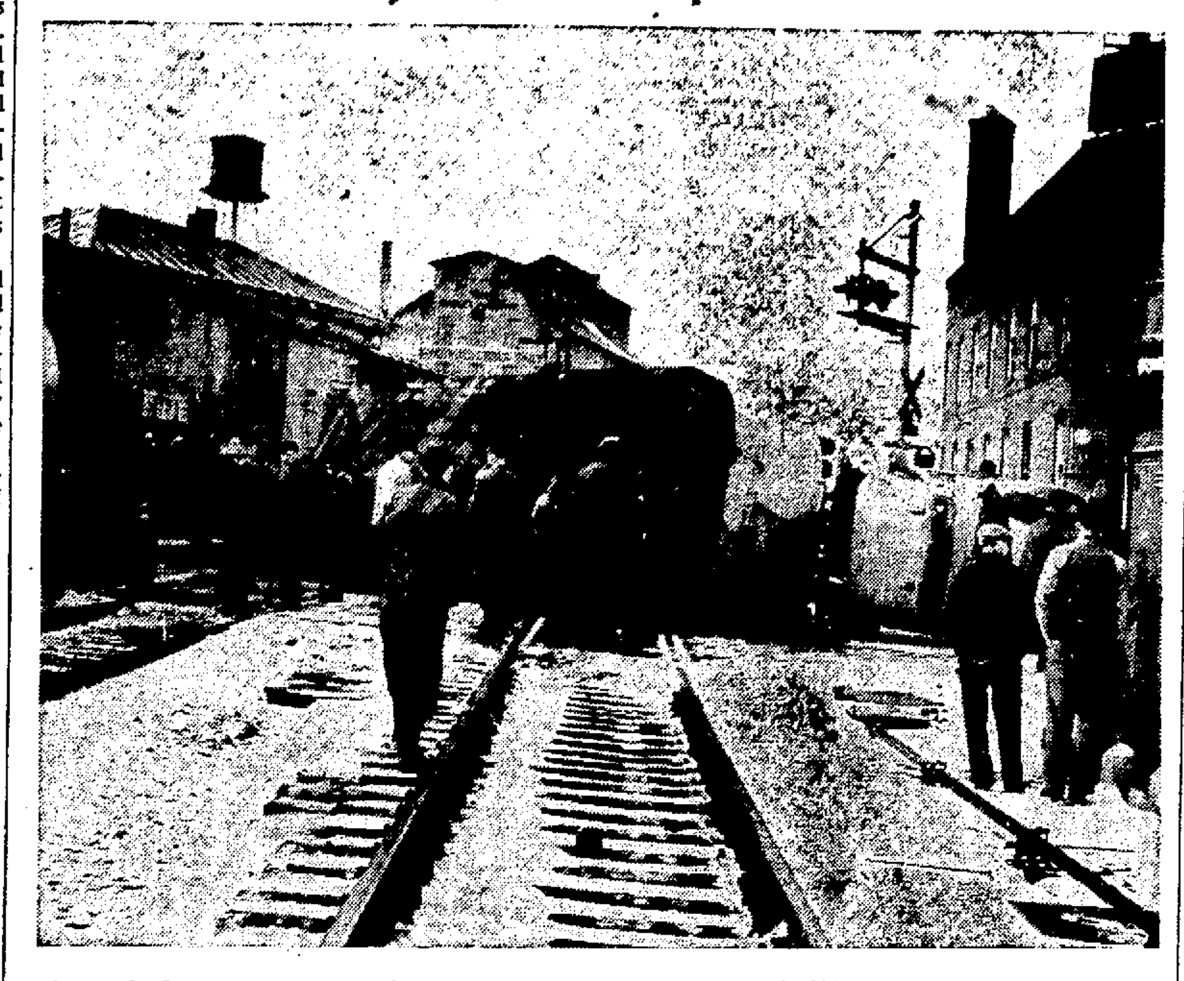
MASONS TO MEET

CRESTLINE—The Mark Master degree will be exemplified at the annual inspection of Crestline Chapter, R. A. M. at a regular meeting Tuesday evening. Clem A. Beal of Bucyrus, grand master of the third veil, will be the inspecting officer and R. V. Snyder, high priest, will preside.

INSPECTION HELD

GALION—Galion chapter, No. 142, R. A. M., held its annual inspection Friday night in Masonic temple. James A. Gorham of Bellevue, grand royal arch captain of the Grand Chapter of Ohio, was the inspecting officer.

As Truck Upset, Tied Up Railroad Traffic



A truck loaded with sheet steel held up traffic on the Erie railroad for more than an hour yesterday after the heavy vehicle upset on the North Main street crossing. The trailer is shown here as it lay across both main line tracks. M. Gideon, Chicago, the truck driver, told police the load shifted as he drove onto the tracks, causing the trailer to topple over. No one was injured.

GETTING READY

Twenty-Six More Selectees Will Leave Bucyrus.

BUCYRUS — With 10 more Crawford county youths on their way to Camp Shelby, Miss., 26 others are making preparations to leave on March 12 for an undisclosed destination which may not be the Mississippi camp.

The 10 latest to go are Wilbur E. Gehrisch, Crestline, R. D. Hill, Marion L. Kimmamon, both of Galion, all volunteers who left a few hours before seven draftees boarded a bus here Thursday.

Draftees to go were: Ivan Nesbitt Keeran, Joseph Eggelston, both of Bucyrus, and Howard W. Harer, Robert Rufus Peterman, Barnard E. Niebes, Robert J. Greenich and Harold F. Finical, all from the county board. The next group will leave March 5. Only six will be in this call.

PLAN FUNERAL FOR MRS. HART

BUCYRUS—Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Cora Hart, 71, a widow, who died at her Spring street home Friday were to be made today upon the arrival of Kenton relatives. Heart trouble caused her death. She had been ill for three weeks.

Two sons, Verne Hart at home and Robert Hart of Kenton and a brother, Charles Dinkle of Upper Sandusky, survive. A daughter, Hazel, died in 1928.

The body is at the Wise funeral home.

CLUB ELECTS

GALION—New officers elected this week by the Galion Study club are: president, Helen Britton; vice president, Richard Horn; secretary, Mrs. Daniel W. Postance; treasurer, Muriel Ricker.

Out-going officers were: president, Josephine Tracht; vice president, Mary Findley; secretary, Mrs. Robert Findley; treasurer, D. W. Postance.

CIRCLE MEETS

GALION—The Pythian Sisters Sewing circle met this week at the home of Mrs. Carl Erfurt who was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. George Mason and Mrs. A. W. Schaefer. Contests and card games played during the evening were won by Mrs. Howard Neal, Mrs. D. D. Hayes, and Mrs. Howard Schreck.

GALION MAN, 36, DIES NEAR CITY

Theodore H. Boyd, 36, Official At Iron Works, Killed on Way Home From Mansfield.

Boyd had been in the sales department of the Galion Iron works since 1927. His father, D. C. Boyd, was founder of the company and the family has been active in management of the firm for a number of years.

Boyd was a native of Orrville, but had lived in Galion most of his life. He was a graduate of Culver Military academy and attended the University school at Cleveland and Ohio State university. He was a member of the First Methodist church in Galion, the Elks and Moose lodges and the Galion Country club.

The body will be at the Snyder funeral home in Galion where friends may call until 4 p. m. Sunday. Private funeral services will be conducted at the residence, but the time had not been set today pending the return of three brothers from Florida.

Surviving are the wife, Mrs. Ilo Latham Boyd, two small daughters, Judith and Ilo; three brothers, John E., Findley and Ralph, and two sisters, Mrs. R. E. Stewart and Mrs. G. E. Stinson, all of Galion.

Seriously injured in an accident yesterday afternoon on route 30 three miles east of Mansfield, the 23-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Kerschke, Canton, showed slight improvement today at General hospital, attaches said. The child suffered a skull fracture.

The parents and Police Chief Meade K. Bates whose car figured in the crash received minor injuries. Bates was treated by a physician for a cut on his face and bruises and was back on the job today.

State patrolmen said the car driven by Kerschke apparently skidded on a curve and crashed into the side of Bates' car.

THEATERS

Cagney In High Button Shoes.

There are six kinds of blonds, all preferred by gentlemen, but the most dangerous of these is the strawberry blond, so "Strawberry Blonde" opening at the Ohio theater today will have you believe. The new picture stars James Cagney, Rita Hayworth, Olivia de Havilland and Alan Hale in a warm human story of the naughty nineties when high button shoes were worn—tandem bikes were all the fudge—and the boys took their dates for a picnic in the park or to a beer garden where they could dance the one-step or two-step.

* * *

Circus Comes to Town.

Tender romance, earthy humor, colorful people in a wandering tent show—that's the background for "Chad Hanna" which stars Henry Fonda, Dorothy Lamour and Linda Darnell and opens at the Madison theater today. Readers of the Saturday Evening Post may remember reading the story titled "Red Wheels Rolling" from which the movie was made. "Tall, Dark, and Handsome" stars, as you might suspect that dashing caballero, Cesar Romero only this time he's without his sombrero. With Virginia Gilmore, Milton Berle and Charlotte Greenwood he plays a zany gangster comedy for the other feature.

* * *

Coffee Keep You Awake?

"Christmas in July," showing at the Ritz for the last time today, is a rollicking comedy of a young chap, Dick Powell, waiting to win a national coffee slogan contest before marrying. He gets his hands on a check for $25,000—but not for long. His slogan "If you can't sleep at night—it isn't the coffee, it's the bunk," just isn't good enough. Ellen Drew is his leading lady. Gene Autrey in a cowboy and showboat romance pleases fans in "Ridin' on a Rainbow" for the second feature.

* * *

Family Life and Music.

That great American institution, the fond but fighting family, reaches a peak of both qualities in "A Little Bit of Heaven" now playing at the Park theater. Comedy, drama and romance are abundant in this story of an East Side girl rising to radio singing fame whose ensuing fortune causes 'high-hat' dissension in the once-happy family. Gloria Jean is billed with Robert Stack in the leading roles. A western replete with gun fights and Indians is "Wagon Train," also on the same program, with Tim Holt.

* * *

Jane Austen Novel.

Another famous romantic classic has been brought to the screen in "Pride and Prejudice" starring Greer Garson and Laurence Olivier, which comes to the Majestic theater tomorrow. It's a delightfully amusing story of the era in English history when family pride and position were considered all that mattered in life, with love being the greatest force in breaking down the barriers. With a family of five girls in search of husband and a mother's none-too-subtle help the picture entertains the family. Laurel and Hardy complete the bill in a Foreign Legion farce called "The Flying Deuces."

RECEIVE CAPS

ASHLAND — Miss Betty Ann Schneider and Miss Elizabeth Jean McPherson, graduates of Ashland high school were among the nurses to receive their caps at St. Thomas hospital in Akron this week, designating the successful conclusion of their six-month probation period.

The parents of the girls attended the capping and the tea which followed the ceremony.

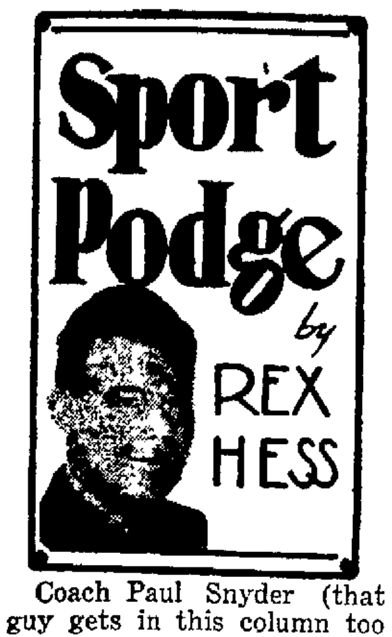
Fighting Tygers Edged By Canton McKinley Bulldogs



Coach Paul Snyder (that guy gets in this column too darn often but he's easy copy) of the Mansfield Tyger footballers has been officiating games in the Crawford county high school cage tournament, and doesn't care much for the "two-defeats-and -you're-out" system used in the joust.

Tiro defeated Holmes-Liberty in the opening round of the tourney, but Holmes-Liberty struck a winning streak and is still hanging tough in there with but one defeat.

Now Holmes-Liberty and Tiro meet again this afternoon in the semi-finals.

* * *

"It doesn't make much sense to me," says Snyder. "But if the Tiros can take it, and the Holmes-Liberties can take it, and the fans can take it, I guess I can take it.

"It's one more game for me to officiate, and, in fact, the system gives me a lot more games to officiate. And that ain't hay, brother!

* * *

"But it does seem the tournament motto should be:

"Beat me, daddy, again and again."

* * *

Paul Carbetta (that lad is column copy too) may meet the defending flyweight champion when he returns to the mid-west Golden Gloves wars at Chicago March 7.

The champ is one of the four tiny fellows remaining for the semi-finals, and Paul won't know whom he's going to fight until he goes back to the Windy City and the drawings are made.

Champ or no champ, this town's pulling for you, Paul. You'd know that if you had to answer the phone at the News-Journal or Friendly House after your fights.

* * *

Bright spot of the alley wars at Meder's tomorrow afternoon should be the special match which pits Bissman's Birdie Brands against the Harris Paints of Wooster.

Shelley and Smith of the Paints rolled in the first ten of the A. B. C. doubles at Cleveland a couple years ago, and Edwards has had a pair of 300 games this season.

* * *

Let those Birdie Brands be as hot as they were in that 3,243 match Wednesday night, and the fire department will have a call for the sure. Just plain canned heat they were, and name your own brand.

Evashevski Gets Coaching Berth

CLINTON, N. Y.—(INS)—Forest Evashevski, Michigan's 1940 football captain who did the blocking for All-American Tommy Harmon, today was assured of continued connection with the gridiron game while Harmon had turned his efforts to other pursuits.

* * *

Evashevski signed a three-year contract as head football coach at Hamilton college where he will succeed Arthur H. Winters. Harmon, however, announced recently that he would seek his future in the fields of radio and moving pictures.

Evashevski, whose career began on the football field of Detroit's Northwestern high school, will assist in coaching other sports and have the additional title of assistant physical education professor.

BUCYRUS CLINCHES TIE FOR N. C. O. CROWN

Ashland high cagers trounced the Galion quint 67 to 26 to close its home season, and Bucyrus high clinched at least a tie for the N. C. O. championship by defeating Shelby 35 to 31. Marion edged Mount Vernon 32 to 30 which still gives them a chance for part of the North Central Ohio League title.

NEED TO BEAT MUSKIES, KENYON FOR TITLE

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The basketball firm of Gernert, Hole & Grenert, Inc., today had only two more hardwood "deals" to close before handing Wooster college its third successive Ohio conference cage championship.

* * *

The three seniors made their final home stand last night as Wooster turned back Wittenberg with surprising ease, 51 to 28. Wittenberg, victor in eight straight league games, was supposed to give Wooster trouble but the champions unloosed an unbeatable combination—a high-powered offense and a tight defense.

* * *

Frank Gernert tipped in 18 points, Pudge Hole, 13 points, and Karl Kate, junior member of the firm, nine points to pace the offensive bulwark. Cliff Heskett collected 14 points for the losers.

It was the 10th victory in 11 conference tilts for Wooster which plays weak Kenyon tonight and more troublesome Muskingum next Tuesday to end the season. Wooster must win both contests to grab the mythical league title for the third year in a row.

Baldwin-wallace won its fourth victory in the final game of the season by defeating Case, 37 to 30. Sophomore Hewtman Mortz scored 14 points to spark the B.-W. attack while Bill Heckman caged 10 for Case.

Tiffin university upset Indiana Tech, 46 to 35, led by Bob Williams who tallied 17 points.

* * *

Tonight is the last for heavy firing in the Ohio college basketball campaign. Seven games are carded tonight and after that there are only 11 contests on the schedule windup March 15.

* * *

Ohio State entertains Michigan in the fairgrounds coliseum at Columbus with nothing much at stake for either team. The Buckeyes currently are in fourth place in the Big Ten conference with six wins and five losses while Michigan is in seventh with five wins and six losses. It is the final game of the year for both schools.

Slammin' Sammy Wins Tournament

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(INS)—The veteran Sammy Snead of Hot Springs, Ark., today again wore the St. Pettersburg open golf crown. Snead's 5-under-par 279 for 72 holes won him the $1,200 first money by two strokes late yesterday.

* * *

Just behind him came Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., Chick Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich., Jug McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., and Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y. each with a card of 281. It figured out that the four tied for second place each got $525.

* * *

Snead won the title in 1939 with a playoff victory over Henry Picard of Hershey. Winds sweeping the St. Petersburg course yesterday tended to handicap the golfers, but Snead kept to his pace with a 68 and 72 for two rounds.

PASSEAU LOST

AVALON, Cal.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs are about ready to send out a searching party for Pitcher Claude Passeau, who hasn't been heard from in many days although he signed his contract long ago. Club officials voiced the belief holdout Hank Leiber is delaying signing simply to avoid training routine on Catalina Island. He came to terms last spring just as the Cubs left their base here.

Tyger Reserves Drop Finale

Tots Too Tiny For Bigger Canton Opponents.

Tyger Tots were too tiny and dropped a 26-42 decision to Canton McKinley reserves in their final cage game of the season last night in the preliminary to Bulldog-Mansfield bucket battle at the high school gym.

* * *

Mansfield reserves dropped steadily behind as Canton took a 6-4 lead at the quarter, boosted it to 16-10 at the half, and jumped it to 31-17 at the third quarter.

* * *

Harry Mehock's little fellows, most of them sophomores, played on even terms with their bigger opponents on the floor, but couldn't keep them from controlling rebounds.

Bucks Favored To Beat Wolves

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Ohio State and Michigan close their Big Ten basketball schedule tonight in a traditional clash on the fairground coliseum court.

In perfect condition for the first time since early season, the Bucks are a slight favorite to win. The Staters hold an earlier victory over Michigan at Ann Arbor, 49-39.

The Scarlet and Gray is now tied with Illinois in fourth place in the conference with a record of six wins and five defeats while the Wolverines are in seventh position with five wins and six losses.

Other games on the conference card tonight are Minnesota at Wisconsin; Purdue at Indiana; Northwestern at Iowa, and Chicago at Illinois. Wisconsin can clinch the undisputed loop title by drubbing the Minnesota five.

LOUDONVILLE RED BIRDS WIN AGAIN

Loudonville cagers defeated the Orrville quintet 31 to 22 in a bucketball contest at Orrville last night. Darling of Loudonville was high scorer with a total of 8. Orrville's reserve team won over the Loudonville reserves 25 to 19.

Tribesmen Prep for First Tilt

Indians Divided For Intra-Squad Combat.

FORT MYERS, Fla.—(U.P.)—Competition is the spice of trade and the Indians today were looking forward to their first competition of 1941.

* * *

After 11 days of routine training maneuvers under the hot Florida sun, (tempered by chill winds) the Tribe will be divided into two group tomorrow for the first intra-squad game.

* * *

Manager Roger Peckinpaugh isn't completely decided on how the boys will line up but it is almost certain to be a case of the first stringers against the second.

Jeff Heath, Gerald Walker and Beau Bell are expected to compose the No. 1 outfield with Paul O'Dea, Charly Workman and Murray Howell forming the No. 2.

Ken Keltner, Lou Boudreau,, Ray Mack and Hal Trosky will guard the infield sacks for the regulars, while Russ Peters, Oscar Grimes, Jack Conway and Vern Freiburger will do the same for the second Rollie Hemsley, Gene Desautels and Jim Hegan will do the catching.

None of the regular pitchers are expected to throw in this contest. They probably won't see competition until the Brooklyn Dodgers are met next week in Havana.

* * *

Joe Krakauskas, obtained from Washington, is confident that he is going to find himself this season and if he does the Indians should have a double boon.

* * *

Krakauskas usually is at his best against the New York Yankees and was a constant headache to the Indians. He says he has won eight games from the Yankees in three seasons.

Ambers Signs New Contract To End Long Ring Career

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— The heroic saga of Lou Ambers, one of the grandest little warriors the ring ever knew, comes to an official end today when the former lightweight king signs a "hearts-and-flowers" contract biding him to permanent retirement.

* * *

The 10-year contract between Lou and his manager, Al Weill, is a direct aftermath of the "kid's last fight"—Ambers' second technical knockout by lightweight champion Lou Jenkins before 15,402 warmly partisan fans last night in Madison Square Garden.

* * *

The document is one of the most unusual ever drawn in tough cauliflower canyon because of the honest affection that inspired it. It is the absolute antithesis of what one would expect in the brutal fight game where money-hungry managers are supposed to let their boys fight on and on until they get their brains beat out.

Weill, a chubby, bespectacled man who was a ballroom dancer in his slender days, announced that Ambers had retired, immediately after last night's battle in which Referee Arthur Donovan intervened at 2:26 of the seventh round. Donovan stopped the bout while the game little Italian from Herkimer, N. Y., was on the floor for the third time in that session.

But, because Ambers was actually winning the fight—going into the seventh, Lou was reluctant to admit that he was through—that he was ready to hang up his gloves for keeps.

Weill explained to reporters, "although Lou was stopped for the second time, most of his friends thought he looked good, considering his 10-months' layoff. Many of them want him to continue fighting. But I simply won't permit that. I know Lou better than any man in the world —better than he knows himself. His legs are gone, completely gone. He's too nice a boy to continue fighting—and get punched slap-happy. If he was able to keep on fighting, I'd naturally be in favor of it, because I'd make money out of it. Look at this gate, $46,443 in a snowstorm. But he's through — definitely. He'll never fight again. We'll sign a contract to make that absolutely certain."

* * *

Weill's current contract with Ambers expires June 1, and he fears that some unethical pilot might lure the "Hurricane" back to the ring when that document runs out. Hence, today they sign a new 10-year paper, which—in effect—will retire Lou permanently.

* * *

Ambers is comfortably fixed—worth about $100,000, according to Weill. He owns his own home and a laundry in Herkimer. He and his mother have annuities.

Drop 4-Point Cage Verdict To Visitors

Hoffman Hoopsters Take Battle to Famous Foe; Record Crowd for Season Sees Exciting Tilt

By REX HESS, News-Journal Sports Editor.

MANSFIELD'S TYGERS fought their hearts out last night and fought their way into the hearts of the biggest crowd of the high school hoop season while losing a nip-and-tuck bucketball decision to Canton McKinley's high-flying Bulldogs by a four-point margin, 33-37.

Refusing to be awed by the reputation of the Bulldogs who have lost but one game this season, Coach Vern Hoffman's Tygers carried the fight to the sharp-shooting visitors from the opening whistle, and before the surprised Bulldogs could get their bearings they were trailing 3-10.

But when Garver and Carnes and Hooper of the Bulldogs got the range, and a long, long range it was, that was another story although still a spectacular one.

* * *

Mansfield took a 10-7 lead in the first quarter and Canton reversed that scoring in the second period to knot the count at 17-17 at the half.

* * *

The Tygers lost the game in the third period when the Bulldogs outscored them 13-8 for a 30-25 margin at the canto's close.

But those tenacious Tygers weren't through. Midway in the final stanza they cut the edge to two points at 28-30, and they were in the ball game right up to the final horn.

Garver, with seven buckets, most of them scored on long shots from the side, led the parade with 14 points and "Windy" Winbigler paced the Tygers with five buckets chalked up on shots from the circle edge

Jack Shiplet dribbled rings around the famous Bulldogs and Joe Romano covered a lot of floor on defense. Burkholder was well covered up for floor shots, but gained 11 free tosses in the argument, sinking seven of them.

McKinley jumped away to a 3-0 lead on a free toss by Gensley and an under-bucket toss by Inman, but then the Tygers got going. Romano tallied under the hoop, Burkholder got a pair of free points, Winbigler hooped a one-hander from the circle on a fast break and then, after Canton took time out, Windy and McGinty found the ring on follow-shots to make it 10-3. Carnes looped a long shot from the side and Garver tallied under the basket to make it 10-7 at the quarter.

Hooper scored under the hoop for Canton and Carnes put the Bulldogs ahead 11-10 when he battered in a follow-shot. Dietzel tied it up with a free toss, and Shiplet regained the lead for Mansfield with another free point.

Garver broke under the ring for a sucker shot and Hooper scored from the side. Shiplet dribbled in for a bucket. Inman got a free point. Romano tied the score at 16-16 with a sucker shot on a perfect block play. Burkholder and Inman kept it tied up with a free point each as the half ended.

* * *

Garver canned a long shot from the side, and Winbigler counted from the circle. Garver also scored from the circle. McGinty got a free point and so did Inman, and Shiplet. Burkholder put the Tygers ahead for the last time at 23-22 with a twisting shot under the hoop.

* * *

Canton rallied on a follow shot by Inman, a long shot by Carnes, and a long shot from the side by Garver and Mansfield took time out with the score 28-23. Hooper hooped a long side-shot and Burkholder caged a pair of free tosses to make it 25-30 at the period's end.

Romano got a follow shot and Burkholder a free point. Carnes also got a free point and Gensley a follow shot. Burkholder made good on a charity toss. Garver dunked a pair of follow-shots to end McKinley's scoring at 37-29 and Winbigler wound up Mansfield's attack with two shots from the circle.

Columbian Wins League Title

Tiffin Columbian high school last night won the Buckeye High School league title by trouncing Fostoria high cagers 40 to 19.

Columbian will be the first team Mansfield will play in the Sandusky tournament next Saturday at 9:45 p. m.

Tiffin's victory last night also gave Columbian the Seneca county title.

"Woods and Waters"

Airplanes, during daylight raids, are often mistaken for hawks. The birds cower down out of sight. Rooks sometimes fly wildly about . . . jays and magpies get very agitated. For some unexplained reason swallows and robins are exceptions, paying no attention.

* * *

Icebergs in the north Atlantic may be as few as ten during an entire summer, or more than a thousand, depending on Greenland's weather.

* * *

The duckbill of Australia is sometimes referred to as the strangest of all animals. It has a beak and weblike feet like a duck, but is covered with hair and feeds its young on milk. The male duckbill is the only poisonous mammal in the world.

* * *

The biggest fresh-water fish ever captured was a giant Beluga sturgeon from the Volga River. It was 14 feet, 2 inches long and weighed 2250 pounds.

* * *

Speaking of fishing, Yuncker's stock for spring is now ready. Drop in next time you're down this way and look over this extensive display. Why not start selecting the things you are going to need this season, while our stocks are unusually complete?

* * *

Trumpeter swans are apparently firmly monogamous. A scientific case is on record in which an injured female was captured on a frozen lake and penned up with another swan. In the spring a male swan, apparently the mate of the captured female, appeared at the pen and immediately the captured female began attacking her fellow captive and trying desperately to get out. When released, she and her mate flew off together.

* * *

Scientists believe the tarpon may be undergoing a strange evolution. An examination of their air bladders has shown a large amount of lung tissue, proving that the fish are not entirely dependent upon their gills for oxygen. This may be the reason why they can change from salt to fresh water, and vice versa. The tarpon is the only fish that is known to have passed through the Canal, forty miles of which is fresh water.

Bowling Scores Rolled Last Night

Jim France paced the Ohio Brass bowling league last night with a string of 169-196-205—570, but Fred McKinley crashed through with high game of 222.

Brass Finishing chalked up high game of 926 and high total on 797-925-818—2,541.

* * *

In the Humphreyes league Winnie Cleckner turned in high total on 184-166-203—553, and Dale Cleckner had high game of 213.

* * *

Foremen rolled high team total on 705-762-802—2,369, and the final game was high for the night.

W. Hastings scored high total in the Westinghouse D league with 186-210-194—590, and R. Pearce rolled high game of 223. Team 1420-B turned in high total of 2,443 on games of 790-830-823, and the middle game was also high.

In a special match at Meder alleys, Orange Street Cafe defeated Shelby Esquires by 219 pins. Babe Meder copped high total and game honors with 191-192-225—608, and Walt Fensch had 203-204-198—605.

HOW COULD YOU PROVE ANYTHING AGAINST THIS MAN IF YOU DID APPREHEND HIM?
WELL, FOR ONE THING, THERE WERE PERFECT FINGERPRINTS IN THE D.A.'S OFFICE
--NONE OF WHICH WERE GORDON'S, BY THE WAY!
3-1
---IF THIS MAN'S PRINTS WERE THERE, THAT WOULD CLINCH IT! -ANOTHER THING, WE COULD PRODUCE THIS MAN IN COURT,
---WITNESSES AGAINST GORDON WOULD NOT BE ABLE TO SWEAR, PERHAPS, THAT IT WAS NOT THIS MAN THEY SAW, INSTEAD OF GORDON
ZOWIE! HERE COMES BRYAN, AND HE SURE LOOKS ALL STEAMED UP ABOUT SOMETHING!

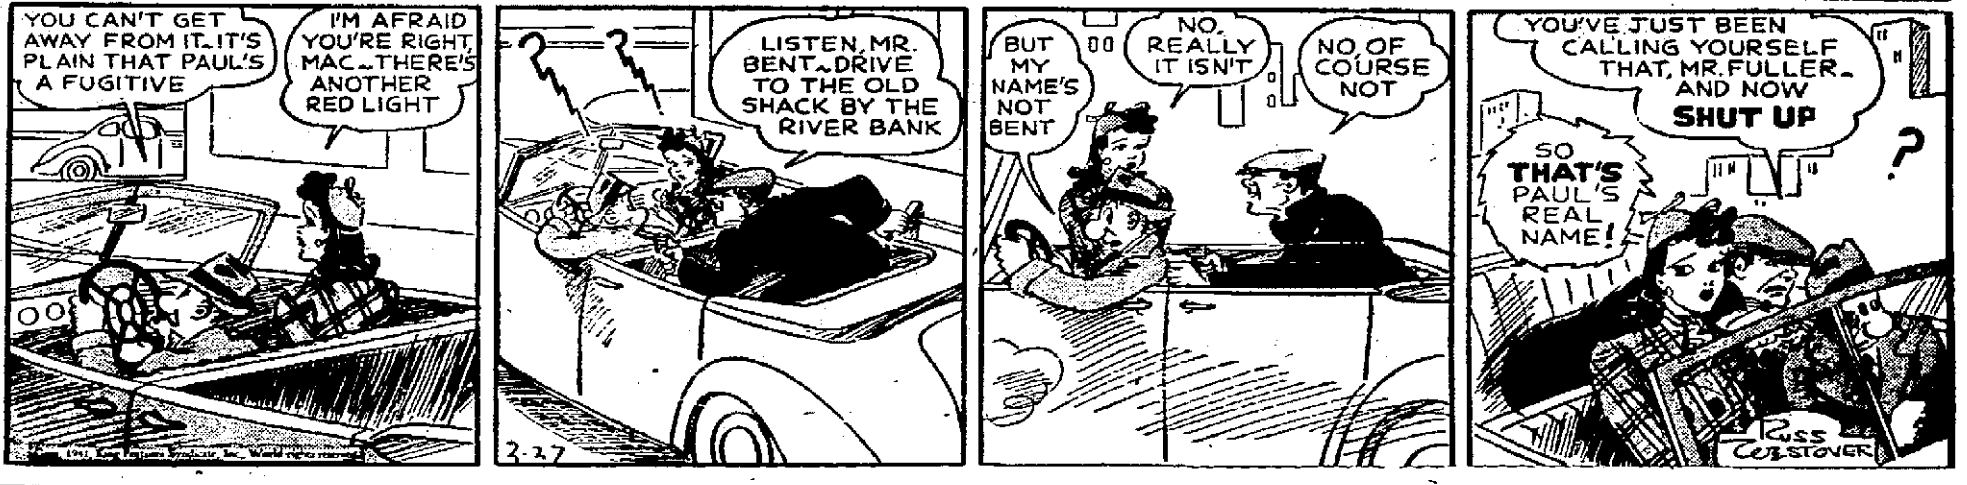
NO, BUT BABY FACE NELSON DIDN'T, EITHER
Russ Westover



YOU CAN'T GET AWAY FROM IT–IT'S PLAIN THAT PAUL'S A FUGITIVE
I'M AFRAID YOU'RE RIGHT, MAC–THERE'S ANOTHER RED LIGHT

LISTEN, MR. BENT–DRIVE TO THE OLD SHACK BY THE RIVER BANK
2-27
BUT MY NAME'S NOT BENT
NO, REALLY IT ISN'T
NO, OF COURSE NOT
YOU'VE JUST BEEN CALLING YOURSELF THAT, MR. FULLER–AND NOW SHUT UP
SO THAT'S PAUL'S REAL NAME!
Russ Westover

SO PAUL'S NAME IS FULLER, BUT WHAT DOES THIS GUY WANT OF HIM?
SAY, IF YOU'RE AN OFFICER, LET'S SEE YOUR BADGE
NEVER MIND THE BADGE
OKAY, FULLER, GET OUT AND SHOW US WHERE YOU'VE HIDDEN THOSE BLUEPRINTS BLUEPRINTS?

WHY, YOU LITTLE RUNT–YOU AREN'T FULLER, AFTER ALL
I TRIED TO TELL YOU, DIDN'T I?
2-28
WELL, I CAN'T LET YOU GO OR YOU'D TALK AND FULLER MIGHT BE WARNED–IN THE SHACK, BOTH OF YOU
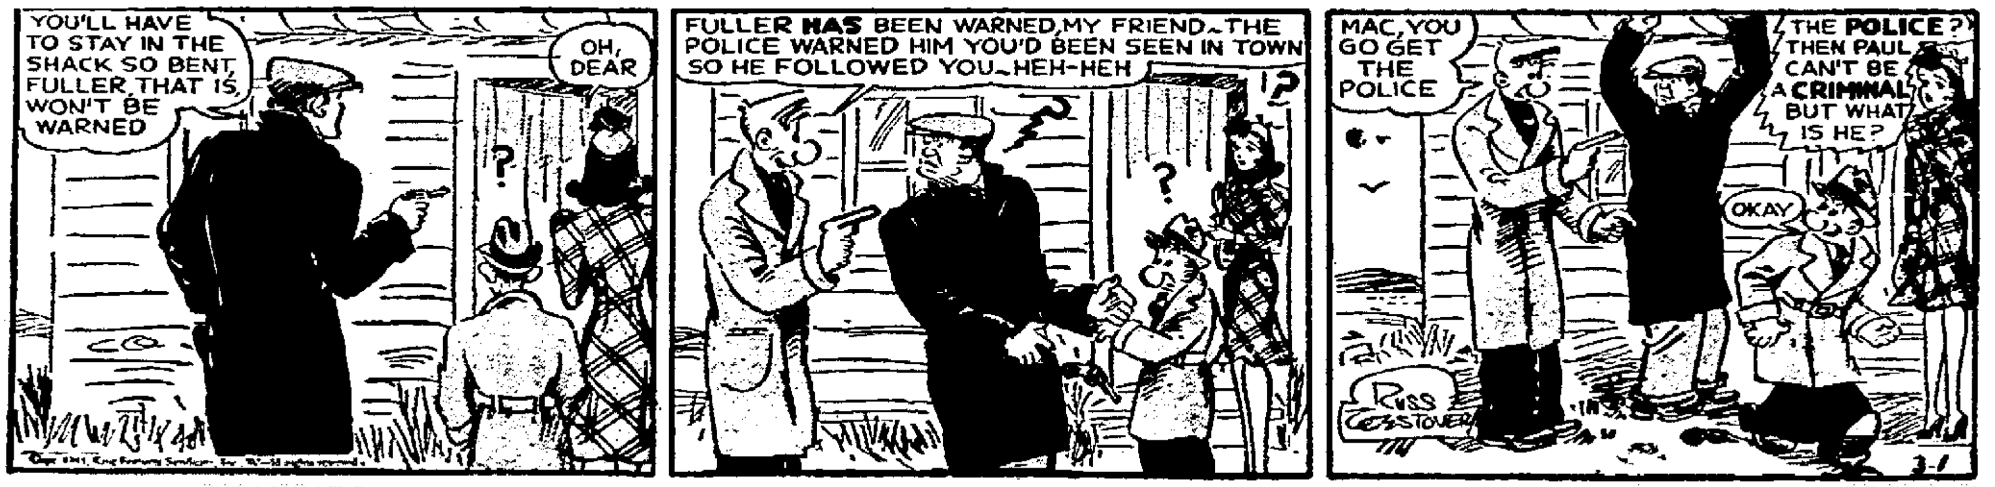
Russ Westover



YOU'LL HAVE TO STAY IN THE SHACK SO BENT, FULLER, THAT IS, WON'T BE WARNED
OH, DEAR

FULLER HAS BEEN WARNED, MY FRIEND–THE POLICE WARNED HIM YOU'D BEEN SEEN IN TOWN SO HE FOLLOWED YOU–HEH-HEH
!?
MAC, YOU GO GET THE POLICE
THE POLICE? THEN PAUL CAN'T BE A CRIMINAL BUT WHAT IS HE?
OKAY
